Introduction

The MPS Comprehensive Literacy Plan was developed in response to the 2008 External Literacy Review report, the work of the Literacy Self-Study Committee and the MPS Strategic Plan reading goal to design a plan of action to increase Pre-K-Grade 12 reading achievement. As a key component of literacy reform in MPS, this blueprint has been designed to guide the development of consistent quality Pre-K-Grade 12 literacy instruction, assessment and professional development across the district. This new grade specific and cross-department document represents the work of school and district-level staff and community and university partners.

To provide clarity regarding what constitutes effective literacy instruction, the MPS Comprehensive Literacy Plan identifies what is recommended in daily practice for reading and writing instruction at each grade level. Aligned with the MPS Comprehensive Literacy Framework, state standards and research-based best-practices, the plan employs explicit, intentional and differentiated instruction centered on the needs of all students. Its main purpose is to address rigor in curriculum content and the manner in which the content is delivered. Moving from a celebrated history of decentralization to the current curricular coherence demands an articulation of detailed practices that must be implemented in grade levels and classrooms across the district.

Acknowledgement of the developmental nature of literacy is the key premise of the MPS Comprehensive Literacy Plan. An effective district-wide comprehensive literacy program is a powerful vehicle that enables students to become successful, independent readers and writers. Exemplary teachers provide a comprehensive program by providing meaningful instruction in reading, writing, listening, speaking, language, viewing and literature. As they model good reading and writing, they connect skills and strategy development across the literacy continuum. The structure of the MPS Comprehensive Literacy Plan is based on three main elements. Lessons begin with whole group instruction designed to introduce grade-level skills and concepts to all students. The majority of time in the literacy block is dedicated to differentiated small group instruction configured to provide students with meaningful learning experiences designed to meet specific learning needs. Finally, all students reconnect during the whole group instruction to conclude the reading or writing portion of the literacy block. This three-element design is based on best practice in instructional design. Differentiated instruction theory purports that learners respond most readily to lessons tailored to meet their particular instructional needs. All teachers should be able to regularly assess student reading difficulties and strengths in order to provide appropriate differentiated instruction to meet individual needs. Literacy must be viewed as the ability of individuals to communicate effectively for the real world. This must involve teaching the abilities to listen, read, write, speak and view things with thinking being an integral part of each of these processes.

MPS educators are expected to utilize the MPS Comprehensive Literacy Plan for purposes of planning, discussing, and informing when working individually and with colleagues, families, and the community. The plan is based on the Response to Intervention (RtI)

3-tier model. Each grade level consists of three integral components: RtI Tier 1 focuses on the Core Curriculum. In this tier, literacy programs and resources, assessments, literacy block structure and instructional methods are identified along with student performance goals, best practices, and universal strategies. Information on access to the core curriculum for English language learners and students with disabilities and home/community connections is also included. For RtI Tier 2 (Early Intervening Services/supplemental intervention) and Tier 3 (intensive intervention), reading programs and supports, entrance/exit criteria, and progress monitoring information are provided for each identified targeted student population. Expectations for classroom environment and a plan for literacy professional development are also incorporated into the document.

The Comprehensive Literacy Plan is research and evidenced base and aligned to the K-Grade 12 Common Core Standards for English Language Arts and Literacy in History/Social Studies & Science. It is centered around the work and findings of the International Reading Association and the National Council of Teachers of English (IRA/NCTE Standards for English Language Arts), Robert Marzano (Building Background Knowledge for Academic Achievement and Classroom Instruction That Works), the National Reading Panel, the National Institute for Literacy, the Partnership for 21st Century Skills, Reading Next, Writing Next, and the National Center for Education Evaluation and Regional Assistance: Institute of Education Sciences.

Support for the implementation of the Comprehensive Literacy Plan provided. MPS educators will have ongoing professional development focused on the key components of the Comprehensive Literacy Plan through district sessions and job-embedded, school-based opportunities. Cross-department collaboration between Central Services staff will also ensure consistency, coherence and alignment in messages, expectations and professional development for literacy. Families are also a crucial component of student success, therefore, MPS will also provide literacy sessions and supports for families that are aligned, targeted and focused. Furthermore, MPS has numerous community connections and partnerships which provide additional resources.

The Comprehensive Literacy Plan is a living document which will continue to be enhanced. Future work includes:
- Aligning the English and Spanish reading programs and resources to the standards to make connections and determine any gaps.
- Conducting a cross-walk between current state standards, the Common Core Standards, NAEP standards, the WKCE and the Discovery Education Assessments.
- Annotating resources.
- Adding additional resource items through hot-links.
- Identifying additional tier 2 and tier 3 reading programs and supports for struggling and advanced/gifted learners (including ELL and students with disabilities).

How to Use This Document

The MPS Comprehensive Literacy Plan provides the products, tools and supports for literacy success. This document can be used in a variety of ways. Some ideas for use include, for supporting and enhancing discussions and planning during grade level/content area meetings, Learning Team meetings, when coaching, when determining professional development needs and as a focus during monitoring conferences.

Some suggestions for previewing and utilizing the document are as follows:

1. Read the visions of reading and writing.
2. Read the descriptions of reading and writing intensive classrooms.
3. Note the instructional time requirements specified for the grade levels.
4. Identify the literacy supports available in your school.
5. Review the expected format for teaching in the literacy block (and if applicable, refer to the bilingual scheduling guidelines).
6. Locate your specific grade level(s) and review the:
   - Universal expectations (PreK and K5 also include rest guidelines)
   - RtI Tier 1 (Core)
     1. Literacy programs and resources and assessments
     2. Standards with research-based strategies and formative assessments (PreK = WMELS; K5-Gr. 12 = Common Core Standards)
     3. Daily literacy instructional blocks with foci, instructional groups (whole/small/whole), allocated times, instructional best practices and research, resources, summary of assessments, accommodations and modifications for ELL and students with disabilities
   - RtI Tier 2 (Supplemental Interventions/Early Intervening Services)
   - RtI Tier 3 (Intensive Interventions)
7. If you teacher social studies/history and/or science in grades 6-12, refer to the Content Area/Disciplinary Literacy section and review the standards, research-based strategies and formative assessments for reading and writing in the content area.
8. Review the professional development section and determine professional development needs.
9. See additional sections for more details and background about district-level departments that support literacy, research/resources, and the appendices (which includes an implementation integrity tool, more specific information on assistive technology tools, home/community connections and a glossary).

NOTE: Hotlinks will be added to provide additional resources and clarity.

Definition of Comprehensive Literacy

Literacy has always been a collection of cultural and communicative practices shared among members of particular groups. As society and technology change, so does literacy. Because technology has increased the intensity and complexity of literate environments, the twenty-first century demands that a literate person possess a wide range of abilities and competencies, many literacies. These literacies - from reading online newspapers to participating in virtual classrooms - are multiple, dynamic, and malleable. As in the past, they are inextricably linked with particular histories, life possibilities and social trajectories and groups (National Council of Teachers of English, February 2008).

Comprehensive literacy is the ability to use reading, writing, speaking, listening, viewing and technological skills and strategies to access and communicate information effectively inside and outside of the classroom and across content areas. (Literacy for the 21st Century, Tompkins, 2010; State Superintendent's Adolescent Literacy Plan, Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction, 2008; What Content Area Teachers Should Know About Adolescent Literacy, National Institute for Literacy, 2007)

MPS Comprehensive Literacy Framework

The Comprehensive Literacy Framework is a conceptual framework utilized for the development of instructional design that integrates reading, writing, listening, speaking, using language, employing technology, and researching across all content areas to promote high levels of critical thinking, learning, and student achievement.

Mission, Vision, and Core Beliefs

In response to a Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction directive that MPS develop a district-wide plan for literacy that utilizes a limited number of programs, the district's current literacy programs were reviewed. The review began with a district self-study committee which was made up of representatives from the Milwaukee Teachers Education Association (MTEA), Administrators and Supervisors Council (ASC), literacy specialists, special education, bilingual education, DIFI supervisors, the Division of Teaching and Learning, Division of Early Childhood Services and Research and Assessment. The committee identified strengths and weaknesses, posed numerous questions and created the mission, vision and core belief statements for literacy that follow. This self-study preceded a December 2008 external literacy review that was completed by outside, independent literacy experts.

Literacy Self-Study Committee
July 25, 2008

Mission Statement
The mission of the MPS Comprehensive Literacy Plan is to educate all students to proficiency and beyond in order to prepare them for success in higher education, careers, and responsible citizenship through the following goals:
- Rigorous, relevant, and aligned curriculum
- Research-based instructional practices
- A common, high-quality, balanced assessment system
- A tiered system of support for all students

Vision
The MPS Comprehensive Literacy Plan guarantees high quality literacy learning in every classroom, every day, for every student.

Core Beliefs
Core Belief #1: Children come first.
- MPS' Comprehensive Literacy Plan addresses individual differences, demands/requires high expectations, is culturally responsive and exhibits respect for each child.

Core Belief #2: The classroom is the most important place in the district.

- MPS' Comprehensive Literacy Plan ensures that training and support are made available to teachers so they provide students with engaging, relevant learning experiences resulting in high levels of achievement.

Core Belief #3: Leadership and accountability are keys to our success.
- MPS' Comprehensive Literacy Plan requires that those in leadership roles have the knowledge, skills and dispositions necessary to bring all children to proficiency and beyond in literacy and to be held accountable for their success.

Core Belief #4: Central Services supports student achievement.
- MPS' Comprehensive Literacy Plan supports student achievement by ensuring that Central Services provides a clear message and a systemic structure for aligning and delivering the district's literacy curriculum, assessment tools, professional development, and technology, and holds all stake holders accountable for all students' academic proficiency.

Core Belief #5: Families are valuable partners.
- MPS' Comprehensive Literacy Plan values families and therefore is committed to involving them in impactful literacy discussions, resourceful professional development, and purposeful volunteer opportunities at the district and school level.

Core Belief #6: Community partnerships add value.
- MPS' comprehensive literacy plan and goals will be communicated to and aligned with community partnerships in order to provide a coherent continuum of services for students and their families.

5 Key Areas of Focus
1. Curriculum = Implement a rigorous, relevant, standards-based curriculum.
2. Instruction = Employ engaging, research-based instructional practices; this includes attention to classroom environment.
3. Assessment = Utilize a common, high quality, balanced assessment system while ensuring assessment literacy.
   - Diagnostic
   - Formative
   - Progress-monitoring
   - Benchmark
   - Summative (Assessment _of_ Learning)
4. Professional Development = Deepen research-based instructional knowledge and practice aligned the strategic plan and DIFI plan.
5. Intervention = Provide a tiered system of support for all students.

A Vision of Reading in MPS

I. Commitment to the importance of reading throughout the general curriculum
    A. Every student must have strong literacy skills for school and life.
    B. Current reading programs, approaches and resources must be comprehensive and effectively directed, coordinated and combined to meet the needs of all students.
    C. An extended time, dedicated specifically to literacy development, is provided so that students receive instruction during reading, English language arts and/or content area classes.
    D. Principals/school leaders and teachers must have a firm understanding of stages of reading development, the five areas of reading instruction (phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary and text comprehension) and understand how to teach reading to a wide range of students.

II. Effective reading classrooms
    A. Teachers use research-based teaching methods to provide direct, explicit instruction for reading skills and strategies and develop students' critical thinking skills.
    B. Teachers create a literacy-rich supportive classroom environment.
    C. Teachers help struggling readers.
    D. Students read and respond to readings in all subjects.
    E. Students are motivated to read and learn and have opportunities and supports for independent, self-directed learning.
    F. Students collaborate with each other in pairs of small groups around a variety of texts.
    G. Students engage in reading authentic diverse texts, which vary in difficulty and topic, to create fluent and proficient readers.
    H. Students respond to text in a variety of manners (such as orally or in writing in response to reading).
    I. Teachers provide learning experiences that involve the use of technology as a tool for instructional purposes. They teach students to effectively navigate using 21st Century literacy tools.
    J. Informal formative assessments are used on a daily basis to make instructional decisions.
    K. Teachers express confidence in meeting the instructional needs of students with diverse abilities and backgrounds.
    L. Classrooms have well-stocked classroom libraries that offer a representation of a wide range of cultural, linguistic and diverse groups.
    M. Reading skills and strategies are learned in school and practiced both in and out of school.
    N. Teachers have common expectations for good reading.
    O. Teachers are experts in recognizing and analyzing a variety of reading difficulties and in addressing both process and skills — applying what research has learned about how good readers read
    P. Reading is an ongoing, daily practice using reading process strategies.
    Q. Teachers model fluent reading, good reader behaviors and the use of effective strategies and skills.
    R. Teachers differentiate instruction based on students' needs.
    S. Teachers use teaching aides and devices to help students understand and remember content.
    T. Teachers use flexible grouping as a tool and an aid to instruction to help all students achieve.
    U. Teachers and others enjoy reading and share their joy with students.

III. Reading across disciplines
   A.   There is a strong literacy focus in content-area classes.
   B.   Literacy is embedded in content area classroom instruction.
   C.   Content area teachers provide instruction and reinforce literacy skills and strategies that are effective for their subject areas to have students read like subject-area experts.
   D.   Content teachers use teaching aides and devices to help students understand and remember content.

IV. Professional development
   A.   Professional development models and activities must promote lasting change and offer research-based strategies and demonstrations of best practice.
   B.   There is a team-oriented approach that includes classroom teachers, literacy coaches/leaders, administrators and other literacy support staff for sustained learning (learning communities/teams to sustain participants in their efforts to reflect, examine, experiment, and change—shared expertise and collegiality).
   C.   Teams meet regularly to discuss student progress and to align instruction.
   D.   There is time, resources and common focus on reading.
   E.   Professional development honors the principles of adult learning.
   F.   There are consistent, long-term on-going opportunities for learning and professional growth.
   G.   Professional development is connected and job-embedded.

V. School-wide reading reforms
   A.   The principal/school leader has a clear commitment and enthusiasm for reading and has an essential role in making decisions to ensure optimal programming and use of resources for student learning.
   B.   The principal/school leader provides leadership for sustaining a vision of shared expectations for high quality learning.
   C.   The principal supports the literacy coach/leader.
   D.   Teacher leaders are enlisted as advocates for improving the teaching of reading in all classrooms.
   E.   A comprehensive and coordinated literacy program is provided.
   F.   There are multi-tiered interventions based on students' needs.
   G.   Targeted interventions are provided for struggling readers.
   H.   Focused small group interventions in the core reading elements (phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary and comprehension) are provided.
   I.   Strategic tutoring is available to provide intense, individualized instruction when students learn strategies to become independent learners.
   J.   Students read in school every day.
   K.   There are long-term plans for reading that are communicated to the entire school community.
   L.   The rationale for why reading matters is clearly articulated to staff and parents.
   M.   Time and resources are provided for professional development, research materials and workshops for teachers to develop as readers and learn about research-proven classroom strategies.
   N.   Challenges such as scheduling, use of space and funding are navigated using innovative, student-centered solutions.
   O.   The status of reading and teaching is assessed and reviewed.

VI. Reading assessment
   A. Reading programs and interventions are evaluated and re-evaluated on an on-going basis.
   B. There are on-going assessments of students' strengths and needs.
   C. The purpose and intended use of the assessments are clearly defined and communicated.
   D. Assessments are built around clear standards.
   E. Formative assessment occurs on a frequent basis. Data are used to inform instruction and make adjustments in instruction to meet student needs.
   E.   Multiple assessments of reading are used to assess abilities and developmental levels.
   F. Students are actively engaged in the assessment process.
   G. Students are provided with skills, knowledge and confidence necessary to become independent readers.

Description of a Reading-Intensive Classroom

An effective reading intensive classroom is a print-rich environment that supports reading across the disciplines. It is full of a variety of purposeful and engaging literacy activities. All students are actively engaged in reading every day. Students utilize the reading process to read for a variety of purposes. They read a wide range of diverse literature and informational text. At all grade levels, students engage in reading high-quality texts. Teachers and other adults use reading to help students build or activate background knowledge, broaden experiences, make connections, expand their view of the world and think critically. Teachers model fluent reading and good reader behaviors and strategies. In reading classes the lessons focus on specific areas of reading and the reading process while lessons in content area classes focus on literacy skills and strategies that are effective for the subject areas. Students are constantly reading for a various purposes and applying reading skills and strategies to read fluently and comprehend a variety of texts. They use reading, writing, speaking and listening, language and technology to explore and communicate knowledge and understanding.

A Vision of Writing in MPS

I. Commitment to the importance of writing throughout the general curriculum
   A. The bar has been raised for what counts as literate writing, what good writing requires, and how many people need to be literate.
   B. The assumption that writing well is an innate talent must change to a belief that everyone can learn to write.

II. Effective writing classrooms
   A. Teachers are writers themselves.
   B. Students write in all subjects.
   C. Teachers express confidence in meeting the instructional needs of students with diverse abilities and backgrounds.
   D. Students engage in diverse writing tasks to develop competence.
   E. Writing is learned in school very much the same way that it is practiced out of school.
   F. Teachers have common expectations for good writing.
   G. Teachers are experts in recognizing and analyzing a variety of writing difficulties and in addressing both process and product—applying what research has learned about how writers compose—getting beyond formulaic use of prewriting, drafting, and revision.
   H. Writing is an ongoing, daily practice using such writing process strategies as pair or group work, peer editing, completing multiple drafts, and conferencing.

III. Writing across disciplines
   A. Schools need to offer professional development in teaching writing to all staff.
   B. Substantive writing increases achievement on standardized tests.
   C. Writing is integrated with reading and other components of the MPS Comprehensive Literacy Framework.
   D. Writing supports retention of content. Expressive writing can be a means of thinking through a problem in a class such as biology.
   E. All teachers can use writing to help students reflect and think critically about content.

IV. Professional development
   A. Research shows that teacher expertise is the most significant factor in student success. Teacher quality is more powerful than a student's socioeconomic background.
   B. A changing and diverse student population is one reason why teachers need to keep learning new techniques and strategies.
   C. Professional development models and activities must promote lasting change and offer research-based strategies and demonstrations of best practice.
   D. There must be a context for sustained learning (learning communities/teams to sustain participants in their efforts to reflect, examine, experiment, and change—shared expertise and collegiality).
   E. There must be time, resources, and common focus.

V. School-wide writing reforms
  A. The principal has an essential role in providing resources and leadership for sustaining a vision of shared expectations for high learning.
  B. A high standard of quality in classroom application is maintained.
  C. Students write in school every day.
  D. There are long-term plans that are communicated to the entire school community.
  E. The rationale for why writing matters is clearly articulated to staff and parents.
  F. The status of writing and of teaching is assessed.
  G. Teacher leaders are enlisted as advocates for improving the teaching of writing in all classrooms.
  H. Time and resources are provided for professional development, research materials, and workshops for teachers to develop as writers and learn about research-proven classroom strategies.
  I. Practical solutions to such problems as scheduling and funding are found.

VI. Writing assessment
  A. The purpose and intended use of the assessment is clearly defined and communicated.
  B. Assessments are built around clear targets.
  C. Valid rubrics have been developed and shared with students in terms they can understand.
  D. Assessments guard against bias.
  E. Multiple samples of writing are used to assess abilities and developmental levels.
  F. Students are actively engaged in the assessment process.
  G. Performance is integrated with instruction.
  H. Students are provided with skills, knowledge, and confidence necessary to become independent thinkers and writers.
  I. Students have the opportunity and ability to articulate their own awareness of their progress in learning to write.

Adapted from Because Writing Matters: Improving Student Writing in Our Schools (National Writing Project & Carl Nagin)

Description of a Writing-Intensive Classroom

An effective classroom in a writing-intensive district is a stimulating environment, rich with a variety of literacy activities. All students are actively engaged in writing every day. Students employ a recursive writing process to create authentic works for a variety of audiences and purposes. Writers compose emails to pen pals and poems for class books. At all grade levels, students read aloud stories and essays, using the language of writing to critique their own and others' works. Published samples from students' writing portfolios display evidence of writing across all disciplines, from learning logs in science and math to reflective journals and letters in social studies, and creative illustrations with captions in art and music. Teachers and other adults use writing to help students reflect and think critically about content. Teachers in the writing classroom model lessons by sharing their writing with students. Lessons provide students with focused work in specific areas of the components of writing. They are experts in recognizing, analyzing, and addressing a variety of writing obstacles—attending to both process and product. Learners are constantly learning and applying what research has learned about how effective writers write.

Program and Instructional Time Requirements

"Alignment is more powerful than race, socio-economic status, gender, school size or teacher bias for predicting results on standardized tests."

Felicia Moss Mitchell (1998)

"Attempts at building knowledge and skills of students who experience multiple instructional programs are easily frustrated in an incoherent system. It becomes difficult to make even incremental gains in student outcomes if students must learn the idiosyncrasies of each classroom when changing schools or even when changing grades within a school."

Ken Montgomery (2008)

It is for these reasons that our recommendation is for a single program approach in grade bands.

Requirements for All Schools
• PreK = 90 minutes literacy (reading, writing and oral language)
• K-Gr. 5 = 90 minutes of reading; 60 minutes of writing, speaking/listening and oral language
• Gr. 6-8 = 60 minutes of literacy; (optimal is 60 minutes of literacy and 60 minutes of writing, speaking /listening and language)
• Gr. 9-12 = equivalent of one ELA period a day
• Gr. K-12 = Reading interventions/courses

In order to request a waiver from the textbook/materials adoption, schools must be a non-SIFI school, a contracted/unique educational program (e.g. Montessori, I.B., language immersion, Gifted/Talented), and

- Have a mobility rate that is: Less than 10% in two of the last three years.

- Have performance data on WKCE-Reading that meets or exceeds the following: 74% of students proficient in applicable grade bands (3-5; 6-8; 10).

- Have value added: Tier rating of 3.0 or better in two of the last three (3) years.

- Submit an alternative plan to address components of the Comprehensive Literacy Plan, including vetted interventions.

- Provide approval from school governance council.

Contracted schools will be held accountable via their contract. Additionally, should they choose to opt out of the instructional materials/textbook adoptions, they must submit a plan detailing how they will achieve the Common Core Standards identified within the CLP. (Note: If contracted sites are identified as SIFI schools, this will not apply).

* Up to one-third of each day in the kindergarten schedule may be reserved for students' self-selected instructional activities. The allocated instructional time recommendations presented in column K apply only to the portion of the schedule planned for teacher-directed activities. The time allocations for kindergarten are expressed in percentages to facilitate planning for various kindergarten schedules.

 Instruction specifically designed to strengthen reading and writing abilities should be integrated into other subject areas, such as health, science, and social studies.

 Environmental education should be integrated into grades kindergarten through 12, with the greatest emphasis in health, science, and social studies. Computer literacy should be integrated into grades kindergarten through 12.

* An introduction to career education and planning, through a one semester course or the equivalent in instructional time and course content should be provided in grades 5 to 8.

Expected Formats for Teaching in the Literacy Block

Head Start 45 Minute Literacy Sample Schedule

Half-day Classrooms

(Repeat the schedule for the afternoon sessions using correct times.)

Time	Activity	Description
7:45	Arrival	Children select quiet activities: puzzles, books, etc
7:45 – 8:15	Breakfast	Children wash hands, set tables, and serve themselves. After eating, children brush their teeth.
8:15 - 8:30	Group Time	Children discuss day's activities, plan individual work, sing songs, etc.
8:30 – 9:00	Free Choice Literacy Block	Children choose activities from the Learning Centers. Learning Centers Literacy Activities
9:00 – 9:30	Planned Activity Literacy Block	Teaching teams lead small or large literacy group activities planned around curriculum educational goals and learning objectives.
9:30 – 9:45	Gross Motor	Indoor/outdoor active play
9:45 – 10:20	Story Time Literacy Block	Teaching team member reads books, leads songs, finger play, etc.
10:20 – 10:40	Lunch	Children wash hands, help set tables, and eat lunch Family – Style (with the teaching team-integrated nutrition activity)
10:40 – 10:45	Quiet Time	Children clean up after lunch, select a quiet activity and prepare for dismissal
10:45	Dismissal	Children are dismissed

Head Start 90 Minute Literacy Sample Schedule

Full-day Classrooms

Time	Activity
7:45 – 8:15	Breakfast, brushing teeth
8:15 – 8:45	Large Group (music, stories, calendar, daily plans, etc.)
8:45 – 9:45	Small Group Time, Learning Centers, Literacy Centers
9:45 – 10:00	Clean-up
10:00 – 10:30	Large Group Literacy Activities
10:30 – 10:45	Wash Hands/Prepare for Lunch
10:45 – 11:15	Lunch Family-Style (with teaching team-integrated nutrition activity
11:15 – 12:00	Bathroom and Outdoor Activity
12:00 – 12:15	Bathroom

12:15 – 1:00	Rest Time (independent activity at tables as children wake up)
1:00 – 2:00	Choice Time/Clean-up
2:00 – 2:15	Snack
2:20	Dismissal

Early Childhood/Pre-K: Expected Format

Whole Group (20 min.)
- Modeled Reading/Writing (such as daily message)
- Read Aloud with selected vocabulary OR Shared Big Book reading focusing on concepts of print

Differentiated Small Group Instruction (60 min.)
- Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction
- Active Learning in Literacy Centers: writers' notebooks, oral language activities, computers, library (retelling), vocabulary building experiences

Whole Group (10 min.)
- Sharing

*note that in Early Childhood/Pre-K, reading and writing are difficult to separate. For example, a modeled writing lesson will also include skills from reading such as phonics and phonemic awareness.

Bilingual Scheduling Guidelines for Teaching in the Literacy Block

ELL students in the Bilingual Program, who have transitioned to English, should participate in the Spanish and English Literacy Block. The schools must have an identified approach that equally alternates language of instruction to ensure implementation. This approach should be shaped according to the school's student body, functionality and needs. Given that, each literacy block approach will perform and look different in each building according to student's needs.

The following Literacy Block example approach was based on staffing, student's needs and teacher input guided and facilitated by the administration.

This Literacy Block example approach involves 2 bilingual classrooms per grade level. For example: while Room 224, a 3rd grade classroom has Spanish week, Room 140 another 3rd grade classroom has English week and then flip flop. The ESL teachers collaborated among each other and with classroom teachers in order to serve the student's needs accordingly.

Some school may have one bilingual classroom per grade level. In this case, I would suggest an approach where the 3rd grade would have Spanish week while 4th and 5th would have English week and then flip-flop. Maybe 3rd and 4th would have English week while 5th is having Spanish week and then flip-flop and so on.

Sample bilingual scheduling options Grade 2 (second semester) – Grade 8

- 2 days English + 2 days Spanish + Alternate Fridays
- Alternate weeks (e.g. Weeks 1 & 3 = English + Weeks 2 & 4 = Spanish)
- Bi-weekly (e.g. Weeks 1 & 2 = English + Weeks 3 & 4 = Spanish)
- Tri-weekly (e.g. Weeks 1-3 = English + Weeks 4-6 = Spanish)*

* The tri-weekly method is not recommended for Gr. 2-5.

The Literacy Block is an uninterrupted block of time, therefore, breaking this block of time in half, 45 minutes Spanish and 45 minutes English daily, is not an approach that is recommended. Additionally, research shows that ELL's need continuity of language, which this approach does not provide. In second language acquisition, best practices state that longer and sustained reading periods produce second language and reading skills acquisition.

90 Minute Literacy Block Sample

During the Literacy block, the ESL teachers provide support within the content area of reading. They also instruct 45 minutes of ESL within the content areas of Social Studies and Science to the whole class with classroom teacher support during English and Spanish week.

K-1 Grade = Always Spanish Literacy with ESL support on language development within the content areas Social Studies and Science.

2nd Grade =

English Week	Spanish Week
Students that have transitioned into English are pulled by the ESL teacher and are giving support in the content of English Reading. Pulled out = Refers to the teacher taking the students out of the classroom. Push in = Refers to the teacher going into the classroom.	Students that have not transitioned into English stay in the classroom with their teachers and continue Spanish Reading every week until they are proficient in Spanish in order to transition.

 Once another group of students transition into English, the teachers exchange groups. The ESL teacher takes the newly transition students while one of the SAGE classroom teachers take the first transitioned group and the other SAGE teacher continues with those students that are not ready yet. Once the whole class transition, each teacher has an English group.

3rd Grade

English Week	Spanish Week
Students are divided in groups according to their English Reading instructional levels. 4 Small groups 2 groups 40 minutes w/classroom teachers. One takes the lowest level and the other takes the highest level. ESL teacher: (Within the group, two small groups) 20 minutes independent reading 20 minutes on reading content area (word wall)	The teacher gives Spanish Reading. Core Literacy Curriculum: Pre-K

Universal Expectations for the MPS Pre-K Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Organized to provide access to literacy material for all
- Vocabulary picture wall is displayed at student eye level
- Materials are labeled and on open shelves within students' reach to encourage them to select, use and return materials independently
- Developmentally appropriate furniture arranged to facilitate instruction and interaction in
  1. Whole group activity for entire class
  2. Small group areas for 5-8 students
  3. A few individual work spaces for times when a student prefers to work alone

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at eye level and easily accessible to young learners
- Environmental print, including student work, documents the current instructional emphasis in the classroom and is used daily

Book Selection
- 10-15 books per student are available, half fiction and half non-fiction that are age appropriate and culturally represents the students
- There are a variety of materials related to literature and content area units/topics

Literacy Work Stations
- Literacy work stations are used during literacy instruction as well as student choice/free play time
- Literacy work stations or clearly defined functional interest areas for reading, writing, listening and dramatic play activities
- Smooth efficient transition between activities
- Appropriate print materials are easily available for students' use in every area in the classroom
- Posted directions (using pictures and words) for activities or use of equipment are displayed in every area in the classroom
- A variety of materials/tools for recording language are available in all areas of the classroom (e.g. pencils, crayons, markers, paper, charts, logs, writers' notebooks, books, computers, etc.

Rest Time in PreK-K5 Classrooms

The Division of Early Childhood Education is providing these guidelines for the implementation of rest or quiet time in Pre-K through K5 classrooms. Rest or quiet time may include relaxation, quiet reading with adequate lighting or other appropriate quiet activities. While periodically a child may come to school needing some additional sleep, this situation should be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. Allowing children to generally sleep or nap is not part of this recommendation.

Three-Year-Old Classrooms:
Half-Day Programs: No quiet time
Full-Day Programs: A maximum of one hour a day

Four-Year-Old Classrooms:
Half-Day Programs: No quiet time
Full-Day Programs: A maximum of 45 minutes a day in fall
A maximum of 30 minutes a day in spring

Five-Year-Old Classrooms:
Full-Day Programs: Up to 30 minutes a day in fall
To be phased out in *spring to prepare for first grade

* The spring date can be defined as:
   • The last school day preceding mid-semester break, or
   • The Thursday preceding spring recess

NOTE: Pre-K students are to receive literacy instruction for a minimum of 90 minutes daily in a full day program. However, this instruction is spread throughout the school day in manageable time chunks. Reading and writing are also integrated at the Pre-K level as these processes are closely linked for the youngest students who are just beginning to learn the relationship between print and oral language.

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for PreK

Read Aloud with Focus on Vocabulary and Comprehension

The teacher:

• Provides a read aloud several times throughout the day (during literacy instruction, and as appropriate, during content area instruction)
• Includes fiction and non-fiction text.
• Includes a variety of genres including poetry.
• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques such as choral reading, songs, chiming in, hand and body movements, use of props, etc.
• Reads and explicitly explains the use of strategies and vocabulary.
• Has students share their thinking.
• May infuse technology into the lesson. This reading is at instructional level and includes all students.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Focuses on skills or ideas in an active and playful manner.
• Includes a meaningful context for all students and/or ideas presented.
	Approaches (Vukelich, Christie and Enz, 2008)
	• Blended Literacy Approach*
	Modes (Tompkins, 2010; Cooper, 2003; Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000, Vukelich, Christie and Enz, 2008)

	• Modeled reading
	• Shared reading
	• Interactive reading
	• Independent reading
	• Read alouds
	Components/Strategies (Vukelich, Christie and Enz, 2008)
	• Oral language
	  1. Listening/Understanding
	  2. Speaking/Communicating
	• Vocabulary
	  1. Understanding of words
	  2. Understanding of word meaning
	  3. Use of appropriate vocabulary
	• Phonological Awareness
	  1. Rhyme
	  2. Alliteration
	  3. Word and syllable segment
	• Letter Knowledge and Early Word Recognition
	  1. Identify Alphabets

Modeling and Interactive Literacy Instruction	2. Letter/Sound Matching

Modeling and Interactive Literacy Instruction

The teacher:

- Uses modeling, explicitly explaining reasoning and mental processes involved in the reading/writing processes.
- Involves students in language acquisition activities daily, including frequent review of words learned.
- Frontloads the lesson with real hands-on experiences.
- Activates and assesses prior knowledge.
- Connects personal stories to engage learners in the central ideas of a text.
- Establishes the meaning of a text before attending to discrete skills.
- Provides frequent opportunities for oral language.
- Builds background knowledge and vocabulary
- Integrates reading and writing processes.
- Provides students with daily opportunities to demonstrate their understandings through age-appropriate writing (drawings, letters and oral language that is recorded).

*Blended Literacy Approach – a "value-added" approach to early literacy instruction, combining the best aspects of the emergent literacy and scientifically based reading research.

- 2. Letter/Sound Matching
- 3. Word Recognition
- Print and Book Awareness
  1. Purpose and Functions of Print
  2. Graphic Awareness
  3. Conventions of Print
- Comprehension
  1. Activate background knowledge
  2. Make connections to self, text, world
  3. Answer and generate questions
  4. Predict/Infer
- Written Expression

  2. Interactive Forms of Writing

Daily Pre-K Literacy and Language Block	90-Minute Instructional Block
Focus Literacy Readiness	Instructional Grouping: Small Group (60 minutes) Part 2: Small Group Reading and Literacy Work Stations

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for PreK

Small Group Literacy Lesson Activities

The teacher (including special education and ESL teachers):

• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Addresses students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonemic awareness, alphabetic principle, oral language development vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Provides specific and timely feedback.
• Provides instruction that takes place in meaningful, experiential contexts (For example, after reading Dr. Suess – Green Eggs and Ham, children may make green eggs and ham using a recipe.).
• Has students participate in child-focused, adult-supported literacy work stations.
• Designs theme-based centers (science, math, writing, art) to support domain knowledge and cognitive/language development.
• Embeds literacy in all literacy work station activities and includes construction and dramatic play centers.
• Has a classroom library for students to use for self-selected reading which enables students to engage in print resources.
• Works with students in small groups during center time promoting oral language, vocabulary and engagement with print.
• Provides hands-on, manipulative experiences.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983)

	• Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	   1. Reading process
	   2. Phonics
	   3. Fluency
	   4. Vocabulary
	   5. Comprehension
	• Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups
	• Developmental stages of reading
	   1. Pre-reading
	   2. Initial Reading
	   3. Re-reading
	   4. Re-telling
	• Differentiation
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to practice identified instructional reading goals based on students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)

1. Independent Reading with Classroom Library
2. Independent Writing for responding to reading
3. Media/Technology
4. Word Work/Phonics
5. Vocabulary

- Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
- Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

Modes (Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
- Explicit small group reading instruction
- Independent reading

Components/Strategies (Vukelich, Christie and Enz, 2008)

Core Literacy Curriculum:
K5

MILWAUKEE
PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Core Literacy Curriculum: K5
Universal Expectations for the MPS K5 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching picture/word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. student names and pictures on coat hooks)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at students' eye level and easily accessible
- Environmental print, with accompanying picture cues, documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, poetry/song charts, daily schedule, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. student names are displayed, a list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals and simple rubrics with exemplars when appropriate
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room
- Word wall includes:
  - High frequency words
  - Support for beginning sounds (e. g. picture cues such as "bear" for "B")
  - Vocabulary words with picture cues
  - Support for onset/rime groups (e. g. cat with "at" part highlighted)
- Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues
- Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- The following five stations are present at minimum:
    - Independent Reading with Classroom Library
        - Classroom Library
            - Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
            - Balance of fiction/nonfiction
            - Wide selection of multicultural literature
            - Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. family stories, friendship stories, animal facts, etc.)
            - Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
            - Leveled books for beginning readers
            - Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g.. yellow dot on books that go in a yellow bin)
            - Additional print materials (e. g. poetry cards, magazines, etc.)
        - Retelling Materials such as felt board characters, puppets, sequencing pictures, etc.)
        - Books on tape or CD
    - Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
        - Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper, envelopes, etc.) and resources
        - Picture/word cards, name cards and other familiar models for writing
        - Wipe-off boards, small chalk boards, etc.
    - Media/Technology
        - Student cards with pass codes
        - Display of program choices
    - Word Work/Phonics
        - Manipulative letters, words and/or word parts
        - Picture word cards
        - Phonemic awareness activities (e. g. rhyme, beginning sound, etc.)
        - Alphabet Activities
        - Access to the word wall
    - Vocabulary

- Oral language activities
- Category sorting pictures
- Sequencing pictures
- Review activities and games

- Free Choice Learning Centers
  - Centers include dramatic play, block, science, art, math, writing and library at minimum
  - Picture/word labels are used to support cognitive development (e. g. blocks are organized by their sizes) and application of learned skills (e. g. cereal boxes matched to labels with the first letter of each name – Cheerios to a C)
  - Materials that support literacy and the function of print are provided in each area (e. g. phone book and note pad/pen next to the phone in the dramatic play area, traffic and street signs in the block area, nonfiction animal books in the science area, etc.)

Rest Time in PreK-K5 Classrooms

The Division of Early Childhood Education is providing these guidelines for the implementation of rest or quiet time in Pre-K through K5 classrooms. Rest or quiet time may include relaxation, quiet reading with adequate lighting or other appropriate quiet activities. While periodically a child may come to school needing some additional sleep, this situation should be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. Allowing children to generally sleep or nap is not part of this recommendation.

Three-Year-Old Classrooms:
Half-Day Programs: No quiet time
Full-Day Programs: A maximum of one hour a day

Four-Year-Old Classrooms:
Half-Day Programs: No quiet time
Full-Day Programs: A maximum of 45 minutes a day in fall
A maximum of 30 minutes a day in spring

Five-Year-Old Classrooms:
Full-Day Programs: Up to 30 minutes a day in fall
To be phased out in *spring to prepare for first grade

* The spring date can be defined as:
   • The last school day preceding mid-semester break, or
   • The Thursday preceding spring recess

Grade K5 – Foundational Skills

Common Core Reading Standards The standards listed here focus on what is essential, but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Research-based Strategies *Not an exhaustive list	Formative Assessments *Not an exhaustive list
Print Concepts
Demonstrate understanding of the basic features of print. a. Identify the front cover, back cover, and title page of a book. b. Follow words from left to right, top to bottom, and page by page. c. Understand that words are separated by spaces in print. d. Recognize and name all upper- and lowercase letters of the alphabet.	Explicit instruction on parts of a book, directionality, word boundaries and sentences and letter recognition (Clay, 1985; 2000a) Language Experience Approach (Ashton-Warner, 1965)	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Student work Concepts About Print test Checklist CABS
Phonological Awareness
Demonstrate understanding of spoken words, syllables, and phonemes. a. Recite and produce rhyming words. b. Count, pronounce, blend, and segment syllables in spoken words. c. Count individual words in spoken phrases or simple sentences. d. Blend and segment consonants and rimes of spoken words (/g/ - /oat/, /bl/ - /ack/). e. Demonstrate phonemic awareness by isolating and pronouncing the initial, medial vowel, and final phonemes (sounds) in three-phoneme (CVC) words (e.g., /save/, /ham/). (This does not include CVCx ending with /l/, /r/, or /x/.) d. Add or substitute individual phonemes in simple, one-syllable words to make new words (e.g., /at/→/sat/→/mat/ → /map/).	Elkonin Boxes (Clay, 2005a) Sign songs, chant rhymes, read aloud word play books, activities and games for sound-matching, isolation, blending, addition, substitution and segmentation (Griffith & Olson, 1992; Yopp, 1992)	Yopp-Singer Test of Phoneme Segmentation Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Student work Checklist CABS
Phonics and Word Recognition

Know and apply grade-level phonics and word analysis skills in decoding words. a. Demonstrate basic knowledge of letter-sound correspondences by producing the primary or most frequent sound for each consonant. b. Associate the long and short sounds with the graphemes for the five major vowels. c. Read at least twenty-five very-high-frequency words by sight (e.g., the, of, to, you, she, my, is, are, do, does). d. Distinguish between similarly spelled words by identifying the sounds of the letters that differ (e.g., *b*at vs. *s*at, *c*at vs. *ca*n, *h*it vs. *ho*t).	Interactive Word Walls (Cunningham & Allington, 1999) Word/Object/Picture sorts (Bear, Invernizzzi, Templeton & Johnston, 2008) Making Words (Cunningham & Cunningham, 1992; Wagstaff, 1999; Cunningham, 2005; Lynch, 2005) Word Ladders (Rasinski, 2006) Dictation and Spelling (Core, 2000)	Running records The Tile Test Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Checklist Student work CABS
Fluency
Read with sufficient accuracy and fluency to support comprehension. a. Read emergent-reader texts with purpose and understanding.	Repeated Readings (Samuels, 1979; Dowhower, 1989) Chunking words into meaningful phrases/Prosody (Dowhower, 1989; Schreider, 1991) Choral Reading (Rasinski, 2003) Readers Theatre (Griffith & Rasinski, 2004; Martinez, Roser & Strecker, 1998/1999; Black & Stave, 2007) Independent reading (Allington, 2000 & Krashen, 2004) Reading While Listening/Tape assisted reading (Kuhn & Stahl, 2004)	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Reading record/ log Fluency checks/One minute reads Running records

Focus Learning to Read	Instructional Grouping: Whole Group (20 minutes) Part 1: Explicit Reading Instruction NOTE: Teachers are expected to adhere to this time allotment; however, professional judgment can be used to deviate at times based on student need and how familiar students are with a skill or strategy (e.g. Additional time may be necessary when introducing a new concept).
Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade K5

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Read Aloud

The teacher:

• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension.
• Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text.
• Builds vocabulary.
• Supports oral language.
• Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud.
• Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Includes all students.
• Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.
• May infuse technology into the lesson.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983)
	• Explicit reading instruction
	• Models of fluent reading such as interactive read alouds with Transactional Strategy Instruction (think aloud)
	• Mini lessons with direct explanation
	• Interactive reading
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Collaboration and discussion
	• Developmental stages of reading
	  1. Pre-reading
	  2. initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation

Shared/Whole Group Reading with Explicit Instruction

The teacher:

• Models the use of instructional and strategic reading strategies. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Uses grade level text.
• Includes all students with a balance of fiction and non-fiction text.
• Differentiates the lesson as needed.
	• Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
	• Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

	Modes (Tompkins, 2010; Cooper, 2003; Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
	• Modeled reading
	• Shared reading
	• Interactive reading
	• Explicit small group reading instruction
	• Independent reading

	Components/Strategies (Putting Reading First, 2006; Tompkins, 2010)
	• Phonemic Awareness
	    1. Identifying sounds in words
	    2. Categorizing sounds in words
	    3. Substituting sounds to make new words
	    4. Blending sounds to form words
	    5. Segmenting a word into sounds
	• Phonics/word recognition
	    1. Phonic analysis
	    2. Decoding by Analogy
	    3. Syllabic analysis
	    4. Morphemic analysis
	• Fluency
	    1. Repeated reading
	    2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
	    3. Listen to models of fluent reading
	• Vocabulary
	    1. Context clues
	    2. Word parts/affixes
	    3. Vocabulary graphic organizers
	    4. Vocabulary flash cards
	    5. Dictionaries and other reference aids
	• Comprehension
	    1. Activate background knowledge
	    2. Make connections to self, text, world
	    3. Answer and generate questions

	4. Predict/Infer
	5. Determine importance
	6. Summarize

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade K5

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonemic awareness, phonics/alphabetic principle, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations)

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
• Holds students accountable for the learning.
• Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983)

	• Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	  1. Reading process
	  2. Phonemic Awareness
	  3. Phonics
	  4. Fluency
	  5. Vocabulary
	  6. Comprehension
	• Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups
	• Developmental stages of reading

	  2. Initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to practice identified instructional reading goals based on students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)

1. Independent Reading with Classroom Library
2. Independent Writing for responding to reading
3. Media/Technology
4. Word Work/Phonics

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies for Grade K5
Sharing and Assessment The teacher: • Has the whole group meet to revisit the focus of the original skill lesson and share ideas and learning through oral discussion and presentation and/or through the use of technology. • Integrates listening, speaking, presentation and technology skills into the sharing session.	Approaches (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Collaboration and discussion • Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading • Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions Modes (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Interactive discussions/learning conversations Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010) • Whole group discussions • Paired or small group discussions

Writing Standards By the end of K5, students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose opinions in which they tell a reader the name of a book or the topic they are "writing" about and give an opinion about the topic (e.g., My favorite book is…). 2. Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to compose information and explanatory texts in which they name what they are "writing" about and share some information about it. 3. Use a combination of drawing, dictating, and writing to narrate a single event or several loosely linked events, tell about the events in the order that they occurred, and provide a reaction to what happened. Production and Distribution of Writing 4. (Begins in grade 4) 5. With guidance and support from adults, add details to strengthen writing as needed through revision. 6. (Begins in grade 2) Research to Build Knowledge 7. (Begins in grade 1) 8. Gather information from experiences or provided text sources to answer a specific question. 9. (Begins in grade 4) Range of Writing 10. Speaking and Listening Standards By the end of K5, students will: Comprehension and Collaboration: 1. Participate in conversations with peers and adults about kindergarten topics and texts being studied in class. a. Listen to others and take turns speaking. b. Continue a conversation through several exchanges. 2. Confirm understanding of information presented orally or through media by asking and answering questions about key details. 3. Ask questions to get information, seek help, or clarify something that is not understood. Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas 4. Describe familiar people, places, things, and events and with prompting and support, provide additional detail. 5. Begins in grade 4). 6. Begins in grade 1). Language Standards By the end of K5, students will: Conventions in Writing and Speaking 1. Observe conventions of grammar and usage. a. Print most upper and lowercase letters. b. Write a letter or letters for most consonant and short-vowel sounds (phonemes). c. Form regular plural nouns orally by adding /s/ or /es/ (e.g. dog, dogs,; wish, wishes) when speaking. d. Understand and use the most frequently occurring prepositions in English (e.g., to/from, in/out, on/off, for, of, by, with) when speaking. e. Produce and expand complete sentences in shared language and writing activities. f. Understand and use question words (e.g., who, what, where, when, why, how) in discussions. 2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling. a. Capitalize the first word in a sentence and the pronoun I. b. Name and identify end punctuation, including periods, question marks, and exclamation points. c. Spell simple words phonetically using knowledge of sound-letter relationships. b. Distinguish among related words that describe states of mind or degrees of certainty (e.g., *knew, believed, suspected, heard, wondere*d). 6. Use words that are common, conversational vocabulary as well as grade-appropriate academic vocabulary and domain-specific words (in English language arts, history/social studies, and science) taught directly and acquired through reading and responding to texts.	• Presentations • Multimedia exposure (not independent) • Traditional and online publishing in various forms - exposure than evidence (not independent) • Content in Writers' Notebooks • Contents of Portfolios (both process and showcase) • Progress logs • Student self-assessment • Student self-reflection • Student goals • Student's sharing in whole group work Speaking and Listening: • Oral presentations • Participation in class discussions • Summary of main discussion points MPS Oral Rubrics MPS Listening Rubrics MPS Discussion Rubrics Language: Accurate use of conventions in writing and speaking MPS Writing Rubrics – Conventions	Cluster diagram p. 30-31, 41, 112 Order Chart pp. 52-53, 183 Word Web pp. 30-31, 112 Journal Writing ("Writer's Notebook") pp. 23, 60-61 Directionality pp. 32-33 Guided observations pp. 24-25 Lists pp. 62-63, 122, 184-186 Listening pp. 22-23 Speaking p. 172 Body language pp. 88-89 Time to Share p. 180 Author's Chair pp. 38-39 Editing pp. 20-21, 36-37, 42, 56-57, 113, 178 Conventions (writing trait) pp. 48-49, 56-57, 100, 102, 120, 178 Spelling p. 6 Capital letters pp. 10-15, 36-37, 120, 168, 179 Checklist for editing pp. 36-37, 178 Asking sentence pp. 12-13 Making a sentence p. 164 Editing marks pp. 36-37, 42 End marks pp. 12-13, 36-37, 42, 56-57, 113, 178 Phonological awareness p. 16 Punctuation pp. 12-13 Word spacing pp. 8-9, 36-37 Sensory words pp. 54-55, 96-97, 119, 138 Rhyming words pp. 16-17 Adjectives pp. 35, 85 Vocabulary pp. 66, 70, 98-99

Introduction (5 minutes)
Goal = Connect

The teacher will:
- Establish, communicate, and maintain classroom routines to support student learning
- Use student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or communicate the purpose of the lesson.
- Record and post focus of lesson.

Whole Group, Explicit Instruction (15-20 minutes)
Goal = Build

The teacher will:

- Restate the focus of the lesson; use visuals to enhance understanding.
- Explain the goal and importance of the lesson (e.g., "Writers use details to make their story interesting." Some examples include: using strategies to make writing better, writing to describe, write to tell a story, using conventions in writing, and using vocabulary in writing and speaking.
- Share example(s) to illustrate aspect of focus lesson in use, including using own writing to help students better understand the strategy or aspect of craft in action.
- "Share the pen" by asking students to participate in interactive and shared writing activities.
- Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer; connect to environment print.
- Help students create a poster and/or record content of lesson in each student's writer's notebook.
- Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the lesson in their writing (think individually then discuss via whole group or partner share).
- Listen for evidence of understanding; clarify, redirect, restate, or provide additional examples as needed.
- Provide oral and written directions to explain focus of work during literacy work stations, including clear procedures to execute transitions between and among

Goal = Reach

The teacher will:

- Set up classroom to foster effective and efficient small group instruction.
- Design meaningful activities to assist students as they apply and practice the focus of whole group lessons in small and independent literacy work stations.
- Integrate other language arts, including speaking, listening, and language, into literacy work station activities.
- Regularly meet with small flexible groups of students who exhibit similar needs; spend more time with students who demonstrate the need for extra assistance.
- Employ guided instruction by reviewing the focus of the lesson and coaching as students work.
- Use interactive, shared, cooperative/collaborative writing; ask students to share the pencil" as they apply strategies modeled during whole group instruciton.
- Provide like-need students with effective, specific and timely feedback while rotating among groups.
- Explicitly connect aspects of student writing and speaking to use of the conventions of language and vocabulary development.
- Ask students to write for several smaller periods of time to practice the craft of writing and to apply the appropriate skills, strategies from modeled writing, mentor texts and/or lessons.
- Guide students as they write their own examples of a variety of types of writing, written for various purposes and audiences (e.g., lists, captions, labels, cards, messages, postcards, news)
- Integrate technology into independent practice time so students can practice their writing skills as they access, plan, draft, and/or publish writing.
- Monitor and record each student's progress.
- When meeting one-on-one with students, provide each student with with timely and appropriate feedback that supports their current stage of development and specific need (e.g., descriptive, effective, or motivational).

Six Traits of Effective Writing for Young Writers (Spandel, 2008)
● Ideas ● Organization
● Voice
● Word Choice
● Sentence Fluency and Variety
● Conventions
(For K-1 writers the focus is on recognizing elements of each trait when read aloud and understanding the concept of each trait)

Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Work Time

- Revising
- Editing
- Publishing
- Self assessment, goal setting, and use of portfolios (Stires, 1991)

Whole Group –Reflecting and Sharing (10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Gather the entire class to meet and revisit the focus of the original lesson.
- Provide opportunities for students to share samples of work, and reflections on learning through oral discussion and presentation (in pairs, small groups, or whole group).
- Integrate listening, speaking, language, and technology into the sharing session.

Core Literacy Curriculum:
Grade 1

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 1
Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 1 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. daily schedule with times next to a clock, student helper assignments posted, homework basket labeled, etc.)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at students' eye level and easily accessible
- Environmental print, with some use of accompanying picture cues, documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, poetry/song charts, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. student names are displayed, a list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals and simple rubrics with exemplars as appropriate
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room
- Visual cues for ELL support
- Word wall includes:
    - High frequency words
    - Support for beginning sounds (e. g. picture cues such as "bear" for "B")
    - Vocabulary words with picture cues for difficult words
    - Support for onset/rime groups with long and short vowels (e. g. cat with "at" highlighted, gate with "ate" highlighted)

- Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues
- Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- The following five stations are present at minimum:
  - Independent Reading with Classroom Library
    - Classroom Library
      - Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
      - Balance of fiction/nonfiction
      - Wide selection of multicultural literature
      - Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. family stories, friendship stories, nonfiction animals, nonfiction places, number books, etc.)
      - Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
      - Leveled book collection
      - Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g.. yellow dot on books that go in a yellow bin)
      - Additional print materials (e. g. poetry cards, readers' theater scripts, magazines, newspaper articles etc.)
    - Retelling Materials such as felt board characters, puppets, sequencing pictures, etc.)
    - Books on tape or CD
  - Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
    - Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper types) and resources
    - Variety of familiar graphic organizers
    - Picture/word cards, name cards and other familiar models for writing
    - Picture dictionaries and other word source books
    - Wipe-off boards, small chalk boards, etc.
  - Media/Technology
    - Student cards with pass codes
    - Display of program choices
    - Student recording/response sheets (e. g. write three facts after reading a nonfiction book on RAZ Kids)
  - Word Work/Phonics

- - Manipulative letters, words and/or word parts for word building
  - High frequency word activities
  - Phonemic awareness activities (e. g. short and long vowels, number of sounds or syllables in a word, sound substitutions, etc.)
  - Phonics activities (e. g. onset/rime, short and long vowels, consonant blends, etc.)
  - Access to the word wall
  o Vocabulary
  - Oral language activities
  - Word and sentence sorting activities
  - Sequencing sentences
  - Review activities and games

Grade 1 – Foundational Skills

Common Core Reading Standards The standards listed here focus on what is essential, but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Research-based Strategies *Not an exhaustive list	Formative Assessments *Not an exhaustive list
Phonological Awareness
Demonstrate understanding of spoken words, syllables, and phonemes. a. Aurally distinguish long from short vowel sounds in spoken single-syllable words (e.g., /tap/ vs. /tape/, /sock/ vs. /soak/, /sit/ vs. /sight/). b. Orally produce single-syllable words by blending phonemes, including consonant blends (e.g., /cats/, /black/, /blast /). c. Isolate and pronounce initial, medial vowel, and final phonemes (sounds) in spoken single-syllable words by blending (e.g., *fast, fast, fast). d. Segment spoken single-syllable words into their complete sequence of individual phonemes (e.g., lap: /l/-/a/-/p/ → /f/-/l/-/a/-/p/).	Elkonin Boxes (Clay, 2005a) Sign songs, chant rhymes, read aloud word play books, activities and games for sound-matching, isolation, blending, addition, substitution and segmentation (Griffith & Olson, 1992; Yopp, 1992)	Yopp-Singer Test of Phoneme Segmentation Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Student work Checklist CABS
Phonics and Word Recognition
Know and apply grade-level phonics and word analysis skills in decoding words. a. Know spelling-sound correspondences for common consonant digraphs (e.g., -ll, -ck, wr-, sh). b. Decode regularly spelled one-syllable words (e.g., lock, much, see, rain, slide, bake, bring). c. Know final -e (e.g., take, side) and common vowel team conventions (e.g., rain, day, week, seat, road, show). d. Use knowledge that every syllable must have a vowel sound to determine the number of syllables in a printed word. e. Decode two-syllable words following basic patterns (e.g., rabbit) by breaking the words into syllables.	Interactive Word Walls (Cunningham & Allington, 1999) Word/Object/Picture sorts (Bear, Invernizzzi, Templeton & Johnston, 2008) Making Words (Cunningham & Cunningham, 1992; Wagstaff, 1999; Cunningham, 2005; Lynch, 2005) Word Ladders (Rasinski, 2006) Dictation and Spelling	Running records The Tile Test Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Checklist Student work CABS

f. Read words with inflectional endings (e.g., -s, -es, -ed, -ing, -er, -est)). g. Recognize and read grade-appropriate irregularly spelled words (e.g., said, were, could, would, their, there, through, none, both).	(Core, 2000) Phonic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992) Decoding by Analogy (Cunningham, 2004) Syllabic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992) Morphemic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992)
Fluency
Read with sufficient accuracy and fluency to support comprehension. a. Read on-level text with purpose and understanding. b. Read on-level text orally with accuracy, appropriate rate, and expression on successive readings. c. Use context to confirm or self-correct word recognition and understanding, rereading as necessary.	Repeated Readings (Samuels, 1979; Dowhower, 1989) Chunking words into meaningful phrases/Prosody (Dowhower, 1989; Schreider, 1991) Context Clues (Putting Reading First, 2006) Choral Reading (Rasinski, 2003) Readers Theatre (Griffith & Rasinski, 2004; Martinez, Roser & Strecker, 1998/1999; Black & Stave, 2007) Independent reading (Allington, 2000 & Krashen, 2004) Reading While Listening/Tape assisted reading	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Reading record/log Fluency checks/One minute reads Running records Cloze passages

Focus Learning to Read	Instructional Grouping: Whole Group (20 minutes) Part 1: Explicit Reading Instruction NOTE: Teachers are expected to adhere to this time allotment; however, professional judgment can be used to deviate at times based on student need and how familiar students are with a skill or strategy (e.g. Additional time may be necessary when introducing a new concept).
Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 1

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Read Aloud

The teacher:

• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension.
• Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text.
• Builds vocabulary.
• Supports oral language.
• Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud.
• Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Includes all students.
• Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.
• May infuse technology into the lesson.

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 1

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonics, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations)

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
• Holds students accountable for the learning.
• Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983)

Foci: Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language ✏️ Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Writing Standards By the end of Grade 1, students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Write opinions in which they introduce the topic or the name of the book they are writing about, state an opinion, and provide a reason for their opinion. 2. Write informational and explanatory texts in which they name a topic, supply some facts relevant to the topic, and provide some sense of closure. 3. Write narratives in which they include at least two or more appropriately sequenced events, use time cue words to signal event order, and provide some details and a sense of closure Production and Distribution of Writing 4. (Begins in grade 4 5. With guidance and support from adults, add details to strengthen writing as needed through revision. 6. (Begins in grade 2) Research to Build Knowledge 7. Participate in shared research and writing projects (e.g., exploring a number of books on a given topic). 8. Gather information from experiences or provided text sources to answer a specific question. 9. (Begins in grade 4) Range of Writing 10. (Begins in grade 4) Speaking and Listening Standards By the end of Grade 1, students will: Comprehension and Collaboration: 1. Initiate and participate in conversations with peers and adults about grade 1 topics and texts being studied in class. a. Follow agreed-upon rules for discussions, such as listening to others, speaking at one time, and gaining the floor in respectful ways. b. Respond to the comments of others through multiple exchanges.	Writing: - Writing sample – Diagnostic - Descriptive writing - Narrative writing - Creative writing - Expository writing - Persuasive writing - Writing sample (fall and spring) - Writing about reading and/or media - Cards with messages - Reflective writing - Report writing - Speech writing MPS K-2 Writing Rubrics Other assessment evidence: - Student questions - Student comments - Illustrations and other visuals - Observations during whole group, small group, and conferences - Short-cycle assessments - Peer feedback - oral	- Models of writing from a variety of genres, including fiction and nonfiction - Writing tools (including electronic tools) - Equipment/tools for modeling and sharing writing - A Writing process - Writing strategies based on best practices in writing - Writing supplies - Word walls and other resources such as picture/word dictionaries - Rubrics - Technology - Visuals - Reading A-Z/RAZ Kids - Discovery Education Streaming - MPS Virtual Library Write Source (Teacher's edition) Writing Process pp. 12-41, 348, 12-27, 70-71, 92-93, 116-117, 135, 146, 154, 174, 192-195, 167 Traits of Writing pp. 28-35, 65, 87, 111, 313-316 Forms of Writing pp. 42-199 Descriptive Writing pp. 60-81

c. Ask questions to clear up confusion about a topic.
2. Confirm understanding of information presented orally or through media by restating key elements and asking and answering questions about key details.
3. Ask questions to get information, clarify something that is not understood, or gather additional information.
Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas
4. Describe familiar people, places, things, and events and with relevant details, expressing ideas and feelings clearly.
5. Begins in grade 4).
6. Produce complete sentences when appropriate to task and situation, using correct verb tenses to convey a sense of past, present, and future. (See "Conventions" in Language, for specific demands.)

Language Standards
By the end of grade 1, students will:

Conventions in Writing and Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar and usage.
a. Print all upper and lowercase letters.
b. Use singular and plural nouns with matching verbs in simple sentences (e.g., He hops; We hop).
c. Use subject, object, and possessive pronouns in speaking and writing (e.g., I, me, my; they, them, their).
d. Use verbs to convey a sense of past, present, an future in writing and speaking (e.g. Yesterday I walked home; Today I walk home; Tomorrow I will walk home).
e. Understand and use frequently occurring prepositions in English (e.g., during, beyond, toward). Produce and expand complete declarative, interrogative, imperative, and exclamatory sentences in response to questions and prompts.
g. Understand that, minimally, every sentence must be about something (the subject) and tell something (the predicate) about its subject.
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
a. Capitalize names, places, and dates.
b. Use end punctuation for sentences, including periods, question marks, and exclamation points.
c. Use commas in dates and to separate single words in a series.
d. Use conventional spelling for words with common spelling patterns and for common irregular words.
e. Use phonetic spellings for untaught words, drawing on phonemic awareness and spelling conventions.
f. Form new words through addition, deletion, and substitution of sound and letters (e.g., an→man→mat→mast→must→rust →crust).
3. (Begins in grade 3)

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine word meanings (based on grade 1 reading).
a. Sort words into categories (e.g. colors, clothing) to gain a sense of the concepts the categories represent.

Introduction (5 minutes) Goal = Connect The teacher will: - Establish, communicate, and maintain classroom routines to support student learning. - Use student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or communicate the purpose of the lesson. - Record and post focus of lesson. Whole Group, Explicit Instruction (20 minutes) Goal = Build The teacher will: - Reinforce the focus of the lesson; use visuals to enhance understanding. - Explain the goal and importance of the lesson (e.g., "Writers use sensory details to make their story interesting to their readers." Some examples include: using strategies to improve writing, writing to explain, using resources to learn, employing correct conventions in writing and speaking, and choosing appropriate vocabulary when writing and speaking. - Share examples, via mentor texts, to illustrate aspect of focus lesson in use. Write in front of students; think aloud to help them better understand the strategy or aspect of craft in action. "Share the pencil" by asking students to participate in interactive and shared writing activities. - Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer; connect to environment print. - Help students create a poster and/or record content of lesson in each student's writer's notebook. - Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the lesson in their writing (think individually then discuss via whole group or partner share). - Listen for evidence of understanding; clarify, redirect, restate, or provide additional examples as needed. - Provide oral and written directions to explain focus of work during literacy work stations, including clear procedures to execute transitions between and among	Best Practices in Writing (Zemelman, Daniels, and Hyde, 2005; Graham, MacArthur, and Fitzgerald (eds.), 2007; MPS and Milwaukee Writing Project, 2008) - Writers' Workshop - Writing Process - Writing Strategies - Six Traits of Effective Writing - Authentic Forms - Writing-Reading Connection - Effective Feedback - Teacher as Writer Modes (Cooper, 2003) - Dictated Writing (McGill-Franzen, 2006) - Write Aloud [Modeled] Writing - Interactive Writing (Tompkins, 2004) - Shared Writing - Interactive Writing (Tompkins and Collom, 2004) - Guided Writing - Collaborative/Cooperative Writing - Independent Writing In developmentally appropriate ways, students in grade one will work on the following skills that writers use: - Structuring Skills - Mechanical Skills - Language Skills - Reference Skills - Handwriting Skills - Computer Skills

Explicit Small Group Instruction; Application and Practice in Small and Independent Literacy Work Stations (25 minutes)
Goal = Reach

The teacher will:

- Arrange up classroom to foster effective and efficient small group instruction.
- Design meaningful activities to assist students as they apply and practice the focus of whole group lessons in small and independent literacy work stations.
- Integrate other language arts, including speaking, listening, and language, into literacy work station activities.
- Regularly meet with small flexible groups of students who exhibit similar needs; spend more time with students who demonstrate the need for extra assistance.
- Employ guided instruction by reviewing the focus of the lesson and coaching as students work.
- Use interactive, shared, cooperative/collaborative writing; ask students to share the pencil" as they apply strategies modeled during whole group instruction.
- Provide like-need students with effective, specific and timely feedback while rotating among groups.
- Explicitly connect aspects of student writing and speaking to use of the conventions of language and vocabulary development.
- Ask students to write for several smaller periods of time to practice the craft of writing and to apply the appropriate skills, strategies from modeled writing, mentor texts and/or lessons.
- Guide students as they write their own examples of a variety of types of writing, written for various purposes and audiences (e.g., lists, letters, stories, notes, charts, reports, speeches, learning logs, poems,
- Integrate technology into independent practice time so students can practice their writing skills as they access, plan, draft, and/or publish writing.
- Monitor and record each student's progress.
- When meeting one-on-one with students, provide each student with timely and appropriate feedback that supports their current stage of development and specific need (e.g., descriptive, effective, or motivational).

Whole Group –Reflecting and Sharing (10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Gather the entire class to meet and revisit the focus of the original lesson.
- Provide opportunities for students to share samples of work, and reflections on learning through oral discussion and presentation (in pairs, small groups, or whole

MILWAUKEE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Core Literacy Curriculum:
Grade 2

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 2
Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 2 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. daily schedule with times next to a clock, student helper assignments posted, homework basket labeled, etc.)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at eye level and easily accessible to students
- Environmental print documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals for ELL support and rubrics with exemplars
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room
- Visual cues for ELL support
- Word wall includes:
    o Difficult high frequency words (e. g. could, thought, their, etc.)
    o Vocabulary words with subject cues (e. g. blue cards indicate math words)
    o Support for vowel cluster sounds (e. g. meat and bread with "ea" part highlighted)
    o Multiple meaning words supported for ELL (e.g. bat/baseball and bat/animal)
    o Support for homophones (e. g. stair/stare, etc.)

- o Support for common prefixes/suffixes (e. g. re-, un-,- er, -ing, etc.)
- Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues for ELL support
- Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- The following five stations are present at minimum:
  - o Independent Reading with Classroom Library
    - Classroom Library
      - Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
      - Balance of fiction/nonfiction
      - Wide selection of multicultural literature
      - Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. family stories, friendship stories, nonfiction animals, nonfiction places, number books, etc.)
      - Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
      - Leveled book collection
      - Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g. books labeled with "bio" go in the "Biography" bin which is also labeled "bio")
      - Additional print materials (e. g. readers' theater scripts, magazines, print outs of online articles, etc.)
    - Books on tape or CD
  - o Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
    - Variety of graphic organizers related to comprehension
    - Writing prompts, comprehension task cards and/or question cards at variety of levels (e. g. create an ad for.., compare and contrast two characters, describe the most important event, etc.)
    - Examples of familiar writing forms (e. g. friendly letter, rhyming eight-line poem, song with verse/chorus, etc.)
    - Dictionaries and other word source books
    - Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper types) and resources
  - o Media/Technology
    - Display of program choices and online resources
    - Student recording/response sheets (e. g. write three facts after reading a nonfiction book on RAZ Kids, identify two gifts that the main character in this fiction story would enjoy and explain your choices)

- o Word Work/Phonics
  - ▪ Manipulative letters, words and/or word parts for word building
  - ▪ Phonics activities (e. g. word sorts, word cognate activities, vowel spelling activities)
  - ▪ Multi-syllabic word activities
  - ▪ Access to the word wall
- o Vocabulary
  - ▪ Activities involving discussion
  - ▪ Word and sentence sorting activities
  - ▪ Synonym and antonym activities
  - ▪ Sequencing sentences
  - ▪ Review activities and games

Phonics and Word Recognition
Know and apply grade-level phonics and word analysis skills in decoding words. a. Distinguish long and short vowels when reading regularly spelled one-syllable words (e.g., hop vs. hope, men vs. mean, fell vs. feel, bend vs. bead). b. Know spelling-sound correspondences for additional common vowel teams (e.g., loud, cow, look, loop, boy, boil). c. Decode regularly spelled two-syllable words with long vowels (e.g., surprise, remain, needle, baby, paper). d. Decode words with common prefixes and suffixes (e.g., unhappy, carefully, goodness, unbutton). e. Identify words with inconsistent but common spelling-sound correspondences (e.g., heat vs. head, roll vs. doll, hint vs. hind). f. Recognize and read grade-appropriate irregularly spelled words (e.g., through, eyes, busy, ocean, island, people).	Interactive Word Walls (Cunningham & Allington, 1999) Word/Object/Picture sorts (Bear, Invernizzzi, Templeton & Johnston, 2008) Making Words (Cunningham & Cunningham, 1992; Wagstaff, 1999; Cunningham, 2005; Lynch, 2005) Word Ladders (Rasinski, 2006) Dictation and Spelling (Core, 2000) Phonic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992) Decoding by Analogy (Cunningham, 2004) Syllabic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992) Morphemic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992)	Running records The Tile Test Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Checklist Student work CABS

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 2

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Read Aloud

The teacher:

• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension.
• Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text.
• Builds vocabulary.
• Supports oral language.
• Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud.
• Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Includes all students.
• Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.
• May infuse technology into the lesson.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983)
	• Explicit reading instruction
	• Models of fluent reading such as interactive read alouds with Transactional Strategy Instruction (think aloud)
	• Mini lessons with direct explanation
	• Interactive reading
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Collaboration and discussion
	• Developmental stages of reading
	   1. Pre-reading
	   2. initial Reading
	   3. Confirmation and Fluency
	   4. Reading for New Learning
	   5. Multiple Viewpoints

| Shared/Whole Group Reading with Explicit Instruction

The teacher:

• Models the use of instructional and strategic reading strategies. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Uses grade level text.
• Includes all students with a balance of fiction and non-fiction text.
• Differentiates the lesson as needed. | • Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
• Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

Modes (Tompkins, 2010; Cooper, 2003; Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
   • Modeled reading

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 2

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonemic awareness, phonics/alphabetic principle, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations)

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
• Holds students accountable for the learning.
• Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983)

	• Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	  1. Reading process
	  2. Phonics
	  3. Fluency
	  4. Vocabulary
	  5. Comprehension
	• Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups
	• Developmental stages of reading

	  2. initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to

| | practice identified instructional reading goals based on students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)
1. Independent Reading with Classroom Library
2. Independent Writing for responding to reading
3. Media/Technology
4. Word Work/Phonics
5. Vocabulary

Daily Grade 2 Reading Block	90-Minute Instructional Block
Focus Learning to Read	Instructional Grouping: Whole Group (10 minutes) Part 3: Sharing and Assessment NOTE: Teachers are expected to adhere to this time allotment; however, professional judgment can be used to deviate at times based on student need and how familiar students are with a skill or strategy (e.g. Additional time may be necessary when introducing a new concept).

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies for Grade 2
Sharing and Assessment The teacher: • Has the whole group meet to revisit the focus of the original skill lesson and share ideas and learning through oral discussion and presentation and/or through the use of technology. • Integrates listening, speaking, presentation and technology skills into the sharing session.	Approaches (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Collaboration and discussion • Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading • Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions Modes (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Interactive discussions/learning conversations Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010) • Whole group discussions • Paired or small group discussions

Daily Writing / ELA Block – Grade Two	60 Minutes of Uninterrupted Instructional Time
Foci: Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources

Common Core Standards	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Writing Standards By the end of Grade 2 students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Write opinions in which they introduce the topic or book(s) directly, state an opinion, provide reasons and details to support opinions, use words to link opinions and reason(s) (e.g., because, and, also), and provide a sense of closure. 2. Write informative and explanatory texts in which they introduce a topic, use facts and definitions to develop points, present similar information together using headers to signal groupings when appropriate, and provide a concluding sentence or section. 3. Write narratives in which they recount a well-elaborated event or series of events, use temporal words and phrases to signal event order, include details to tell what the narrator did, thought, and felt, and provide closure. Production and Distribution of Writing 4. (Begins in grade 4). 5. With guidance from adults, strengthen writing as needed by revising and editing. 6. With guidance from adults, use technology to produce writing. Research to Build Knowledge 7. Participate in shared research and writing projects (e.g., exploring a number of books on a given topic). 8. Gather information from experiences or provided text sources to answer a specific question. 9. (Begins in grade 4) Range of Writing 10. (Begins in grade 4) Speaking and Listening Standards By the end of Grade 2, Students will: Comprehension and Collaboration: 1. Engage in group discussions on grade 2 topics and texts being studied in class. a. Follow agreed-upon rules for discussions, such as listening to others, speaking one at a time, and gaining the floor in respectful ways. b. Stay on topic by linking their own additions to the conversation to the previous remarks of others.	Writing: • Writing sample – Diagnostic • Descriptive writing • Narrative writing • Creative writing • Expository writing • Persuasive writing • Writing sample (fall and spring) • Book review • Friendly letter/message • Research report • Multimedia presentation • Speech writing • Personal experience essay • Reflective writing MPS K-2 Writing Rubrics Other assessment evidence: • Student questions • Student comments • Illustrations and other visuals • Observations during whole group, small group, and conferences • Short-cycle assessments • Peer feedback - oral • Presentations	Writing, visuals, and illustrating tools (including electronic tools) Equipment/tools for engaging in modeled, interactive, and shared writing Models of writing from a variety of genres, including fiction and nonfiction A writing process Writing strategies based on best practices in writing Writing supplies Word walls, alphabet, and other resources such as picture/word dictionaries Rubrics Technology Reading A-Z/RAZ Kids Discovery Education Streaming MPS Virtual Library Write Source (Teacher edition) Writing Process pp. 8, 14, 18, 24, 32, 36 Traits of Writing pp. 18-31, 461-465, 477 Descriptive Writing pp. 50-61 Narrative Writing pp. 62-95 Expository Writing pp. 96-129 Persuasive Writing pp. 130-161 Practical Writing pp. 60-61, 98-121, 126-127, 138-152 Response to Literature pp. 162-205 Story Writing pp. 208-217 Report Writing pp.258-279

c. Ask for clarification and further explanation as needed. d. Extend their ideas and understanding in light of the discussions. 2. Retell key details or ideas presented orally or through media. 3. Ask and answer questions about information presented orally or visually in order to deepen their understanding or clarify comprehension. Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas 4. Recount stories or experiences with appropriate facts and descriptive details. 5. Begins in grade 4). 6. Produce complete sentences when appropriate to task and situation to provide requested detail or clarification, ensuring subject-verb agreement and correct use of irregular plural nouns. (See "Conventions" in Language for specific demands). Language Standards By the end of Grade 2, Students will: Conventions in Writing and Speaking 1. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling. a. Capitalize holidays, product names, geographic names, and important words in titles. b. Use commas in greetings and closings of letters. c. Use apostrophes to form contractions and common possessives. d. Generalize learned spelling patterns when writing words (e.g., cage→badge; boy→boil; paper→copper). e. Consult reference materials, including beginning dictionaries, as neeed to check and correct spellings. 3. (Begins in grade 3) Vocabulary Acquisition and Use 4. Determine word meanings (based on grade 2 reading). a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as understanding how the word is used in a sentence; analyzing the word's sounds, spelling, and meaningful parts; and consulting glossaries or beginning dictionaries, both print and digital. b. Explain the meaning of grade-appropriate compound words (e.g., birdhouse, lighthouse, housefly, bookshelf, notebook, bookmark). c. Use a known root word as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word with the same root (e.g., addition, additional). d. Determine the meaning of the new word formed when a known prefix is added to a known word (e.g., happy/unhappy, tell/retell). 5. Understand word relationships. a. Build real-life connections between words and their use (e.g., describe foods that are spicy or juicy). b. Distinguish shades of meaning among related verbs (e.g., toss, throw, hurl) and related adjectives (e.g., thin, slender, skinny, scrawny). 6. Use newly learned words acquired through conversations, reading, and responding to texts.	• Multimedia • Traditional and online publishing in various forms - (not independent) • Content in Writers' Notebooks • Contents of Portfolios (both process and showcase) • Progress logs • Student self-assessment • Student self-reflection • Student goals • Student's sharing in whole group work Speaking and Listening: • Oral presentations • Participation in class discussions • Summary of main discussion points • Notes • Evidence of listening • Collaborative group work • Integrated use of technology MPS Oral Rubrics MPS Listening Rubrics MPS Discussion Rubrics Language: Accurate use of conventions in writing and speaking MPS Writing Rubrics – Conventions	Creative Writing 206-241 Classroom portfolios pp. 40-41 Writer's notebook pp. 352-354 Friendly letters pp. 60-61, 535 Storyboard pp. 222, 282 Email message, pp. 60-61 Poems pp. 230-232, 237 Characters pp. 209, 221, 223 Plot p. 209 Setting pp. 75, 209, 221, 223 Multimedia presentation pp. 280-283 Viewing skills pp. 297-301 Viewing commercials p. 300 Viewing web sites pp. 256, 301 Topics for Speeches p. 288 Listening pp. 16, 302-303 Listening skills pp. 16, 302-303 Speaking skills pp. 286-291 Oral presentation pp. 280-283, 291 Working with partners pp. 14-17, 501 Write Source Skills Book Assessment Book Write Source Interactive Writing Skills CD-Rom Daily Language Workouts http://www.greatsource.com/iwrite/index.html ● Differentiation for Students Who Need Additional Practice (use Extra Support in Write Source) ● Differentiation for Students Who Are Advanced in This Skill (use Challenge resources in Write Source)

Block Structure and Instructional Methods Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Instruction, Literacy Work Stations, and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies
Introduction (5 minutes) Goal = Connect The teacher will: - Establish, communicate, and maintain classroom routines to support student learning. - Use student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or communicate the purpose of the lesson. - Record and post focus of lesson. Whole Group, Explicit Instruction (20 minutes) Goal = Build The teacher will: - Reinforce the focus of the lesson; use visuals to enhance understanding. - Explain the goal and importance of the lesson (e.g., "Writers use dialogue to help readers understand the characters of a story." Examples of focus lessons include: using strategies to revise writing, describing setting, writing to compare, prewriting strategies, using conventions in writing, and using vocabulary in writing and speaking. - Share example(s) to illustrate aspect of focus lesson in use, including using own writing to help students better understand the strategy or aspect of craft in action. - Invite students to participate in interactive and shared writing activities. - Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer; connect to environment print. - Help students create a poster and/or record content of lesson in each student's writer's notebook. - Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the lesson in their writing (think individually then discuss via whole group or partner share). - Listen for evidence of understanding; clarify, redirect, restate, or provide additional examples as needed. - Provide oral and written directions to explain focus of work during literacy work stations, including clear procedures to execute transitions between and among	Best Practices in Writing (Zemelman, Daniels, and Hyde, 2005; Graham, MacArthur, and Fitzgerald (eds.), 2007; MPS and Milwaukee Writing Project, 2008) - Writers' Workshop - Writing Process - Writing Strategies - Six Traits of Effective Writing - Authentic Forms - Writing-Reading Connection - Effective Feedback - Teacher as Writer Modes (Cooper, 2003) - Write Aloud [Modeled] Writing - Shared Writing - Guided Writing - Collaborative/Cooperative Writing - Independent Writing In developmentally appropriate ways, students in K5 will work on the following skills that writers use: - Structuring Skills - Mechanical Skills - Language Skills - Reference Skills - Handwriting Skills - Computer Skills Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Instruction (Hall, Strangman, and Meyer; 2003); Differentiation (Tomlinson, 1999) - Content - Process - Product - Writing Circles (Vopat, 2009) - Inquiry Circles (Harvey and Daniels, 2009)

stations.

Explicit Small Group Instruction; Application and Practice in Small and Independent Literacy Work Stations (25 minutes)
Goal = Reach

The teacher will:

- Set up classroom to foster effective and efficient small group instruction.
- Design meaningful activities to assist students as they apply and practice the focus of whole group lessons in small and independent literacy work stations.
- Integrate other language arts, including speaking, listening, and language, into literacy work station activities.
- Regularly meet with small flexible groups of students who exhibit similar needs; spend more time with students who demonstrate the need for extra assistance.
- Employ guided instruction by reviewing the focus of the lesson and coaching as students work.
- Use interactive, shared, cooperative/collaborative writing; ask students to share the pencil" as they apply strategies modeled during whole group instruction.
- Provide like-need students with effective, specific and timely feedback while rotating among groups.
- Explicitly connect aspects of student writing and speaking to use of the conventions of language and vocabulary development.
- Ask students to write for several smaller periods of time to practice the craft of writing and to apply the appropriate skills, strategies from modeled writing, mentor texts and/or lessons.
- Guide students as they write their own examples of a variety of types of writing, written for various purposes and audiences (e.g., how-to writing, persuasive letters, response prompts, plays, speeches, multimedia presentations, and descriptions of people).
- Integrate technology into independent practice time so students can practice their writing skills as they access, plan, draft, and/or publish writing.
- Monitor and record each student's progress.
- When meeting one-on-one with students, provide each student with timely and appropriate feedback that supports their current stage of development and specific need (e.g., descriptive, effective, or motivational).

Whole Group –Reflecting and Sharing (10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Gather the entire class to meet and revisit the focus of the original lesson.

Core Literacy Curriculum:
Grade 3

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 3
Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 3 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. daily schedule with times next to a clock, student job assignments posted, homework basket labeled, etc.)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at students' eye level and easily accessible
- Environmental print documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals for ELL support and rubrics with exemplars
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room
- Visual cues for ELL support
- Word wall includes:
    - Commonly misspelled words (e. g. because, calendar, separate, etc.)
    - Vocabulary words with subject cues (e. g. blue cards indicate math words)
    - Support for vowel cluster sounds (e. g. meat and bread with "ea" part highlighted)
    - Multiple meaning words supported for ELL (e.g. bat/baseball and bat/animal)
    - Support for homophones (e. g. stair/stare, etc.)

- o Support for prefixes/suffixes (e. g. pre-, -anti ,-tion, -ly, etc.)
  - o Support for Greek and Latin word parts (e. g. cycl = circular, photo = light, phono = sound, etc.)
- • Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- • Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- • Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- • Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues for ELL support
- • Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- • The following five stations are present at minimum:
  - o Independent Reading with Classroom Library
    - ▪ Classroom Library
      - • Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
      - • Balance of fiction/nonfiction
      - • Wide selection of multicultural literature
      - • Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. sports fiction, friendship fiction, animals nonfiction, countries and cultures nonfiction, resource books, etc.)
      - • Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
      - • Leveled book collection
      - • Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g. books labeled with "bio" go in the "Biography" bin which is also labeled "bio")
      - • Additional print materials (e. g. poetry cards, readers' theater scripts. magazines, print outs of online articles, etc.)
  - o Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
    - ▪ Variety of graphic organizers related to comprehension
    - ▪ Writing prompts, comprehension task cards and/or question cards at variety of levels (e. g. create an ad for.., compare and contrast two characters, describe the most important event, etc.)
    - ▪ Examples of familiar writing forms (e. g. friendly letter, Haiku, song with verse/chorus, etc.)
    - ▪ Dictionaries and other word source books
    - ▪ Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper types), and resources
  - o Media/Technology
    - ▪ Display of program choices and online resources

- Student recording/response sheets (e. g. write three facts after reading a nonfiction book on RAZ Kids, identify two gifts that the main character in this fiction story would enjoy and explain your choices)
  - Word Work/Phonics
    - Phonics activities (e. g. word sorts, word cognate activities, vowel spelling activities)
    - Multi-syllabic word activities
    - Access to the word wall
  - Vocabulary
    - Activities involving discussion
    - Word and sentence sorting activities
    - Synonym and antonym activities
    - Sequencing sentences or paragraphs
    - Review activities and games

Phonics and Word Recognition
Know and apply grade-level phonics and word analysis skills in decoding words. a. Identify and know the meaning of the most common prefixes and derivational suffixes (e.g., un-, re-, mis-, -ful, -less, -able). b. Decode words with common Latin suffixes (e.g., -tion/-sion, -ture, -tive/-sive, -ify, -ity, -ment). c. Decode multisyllable words (e.g., supper, chimpanzee, refrigerator, terrible, frightening). d. Read grade-appropriate irregularly spelled words (e.g., although, science, stomach, machine).	Interactive Word Walls (Cunningham & Allington, 1999) Word/Object/Picture sorts (Bear, Invernizzzi, Templeton & Johnston, 2008) Making Words (Cunningham & Cunningham, 1992; Wagstaff, 1999; Cunningham, 2005; Lynch, 2005) Word Ladders (Rasinski, 2006) Dictation and Spelling (Core, 2000) Phonic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992) Decoding by Analogy (Cunningham, 2004) Syllabic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992) Morphemic analysis (Gough, Juel & Griffith, 1992; Stanovich, 1992)	Running records The Names Test: A Quick Assessment of Decoding Ability Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Checklist Student work CABS

Fluency

Read with sufficient accuracy and fluency to support comprehension. a. Read on-level text with purpose and understanding. b. Read on-level text orally with accuracy, appropriate rate, and expression on successive readings c. Use context to confirm or self-correct word recognition and understanding, rereading as necessary.	Repeated Readings (Samuels, 1979; Dowhower, 1989) Chunking words into meaningful phrases/Prosody (Dowhower, 1989; Schreider, 1991) Context Clues (Putting Reading First, 2006) Choral Reading (Rasinski, 2003) Readers Theatre (Griffith & Rasinski, 2004; Martinez, Roser & Strecker, 1998/1999; Black & Stave, 2007) Independent reading (Allington, 2000 & Krashen, 2004) Reading While Listening/Tape assisted reading (Kuhn & Stahl, 2004) Buddy/Partner Reading (Griffith & Rasinski, 2004) Student-Adult Reading (Putting Reading First, 2006)	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes Reading record/log Fluency checks/One minute reads Running records Cloze passage

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 3

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Read Aloud

The teacher:

• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension.
• Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text.
• Builds vocabulary.
• Supports oral language.
• Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud.
• Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Includes all students.
• Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.
• May infuse technology into the lesson.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983)
	• Explicit reading instruction
	• Models of fluent reading such as interactive read alouds with Transactional Strategy Instruction (think aloud)
	• Mini lessons with direct explanation
	• Interactive reading
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Collaboration and discussion
	• Developmental stages of reading
	  1. Pre-reading
	  2. initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning

	• Differentiation

Shared/Whole Group Reading with Explicit Instruction

The teacher:

- Models the use of instructional and strategic reading strategies. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
- Uses grade level text.
- Includes all students with a balance of fiction and non-fiction text.
- Differentiates the lesson as needed.

- Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
- Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

Modes (Tompkins, 2010; Cooper, 2003; Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
- Modeled reading
- Shared reading
- Interactive reading
- Explicit small group reading instruction
- Independent reading

Components/Strategies (Putting Reading First, 2006; Tompkins, 2010)
- Phonics/word recognition
  1. Phonic analysis
  2. Decoding by Analogy
  3. Syllabic analysis
  4. Morphemic analysis
- Fluency

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 3

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonemic awareness, phonics/alphabetic principle, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations)

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
• Holds students accountable for the learning.
• Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983)

	• Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	  1. Reading process
	  2. Phonics
	  3. Fluency
	  4. Vocabulary
	  5. Comprehension
	• Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups
	• Developmental stages of reading
	  1. Pre-reading
	  2. Initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to practice identified instructional reading goals based on students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)

1. Independent Reading with Classroom Library
2. Independent Writing for responding to reading

Daily Writing / ELA Block - Grade 3	60 Minute Uninterrupted Instructional Block
Foci: Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources

Writing Standards By the end of grade 3 students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Write opinions in which they: a. Introduce the topic or book(s) directly, state and opinion relative to the topic, and create an organizing structure that lists reasons. b. Provide reasons that support the opinion. c. Use appropriate words to link opinions and reason(s) (e.g., because, therefore, in order to, since, for example). d. Provide a sense of closure. 2. Write informative/explanatory pieces in which they: a. Introduce a topic and create an organizational structure that presents similar information together. b. Provide some details to develop points. c. Use linking words (e.g., also, another, and, more) to connect ideas within categories of information. d. Include a concluding sentence or section. 3. Write narratives in which they: a. Establish a situation, introduce a narrator and/or characters, and organize an event sequence that unfolds naturally. b. Employ dialogue and descriptions of characters' actions, thoughts, and feelings. c. Use temporal words and phrases to signal event sequence. d. Provide a sense of closure. Production and Distribution of Writing 4. (Begins in grade 4) 5. With guidance and support from peers and adults, strengthen writing as needed by revising and editing. 6. With guidance and support from adults, use technology to produce and publish writing. Research to Build Knowledge 7. Perform short, focused research tasks that build knowledge about a topic. 8. Gather information from experience as well as print and digital resources, take simple	Writing: • Writing sample – Diagnostic • Descriptive writing • Narrative writing • Creative writing • Expository writing • Persuasive writing • Writing sample – (fall and spring) • Response to literature • Speech writing • Letters/messages • Research writing • Reflective writing Common assessment tools: • MPS Writing Rubrics • MPS Research Rubrics Other assessment evidence: • Student questions • Student comments • Illustrations and other visuals • Observations during whole group, small group, and conferences • Short-cycle assessments	• Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Keyboarding resources • Equipment/tools for modeling and sharing writing • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Word walls and other resources such as picture/word dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Technology • Visuals and other media • Reading A-Z/RAZ Kids • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • MY Access! • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources Write Source (student edition) Writing Process pp. 2-15, 53, 78, 94, and 108 Traits of Writing pp. Paragraphs pp. 42-57 Descriptive Writing pp. 60-65 Narrative Writing pp. 90-95

Speaking and Listening Standards
By the end of grade 3, students will:
Comprehension and Collaboration:
1. Initiate and engage in group discussions on grade 3 topics and texts being studied in class.
 a. Follow agreed-upon rules for discussions and carry out assigned roles in small-group discussions.
 b. Pose relevant questions and link their own additions to the conversation to the previous remarks of others.
 c. Extend their ideas and understanding in light of the discussions.
2. Identify the main ideas and supporting details of information presented graphically, visually, orally, or multimodally.
3. Ask and answer questions about presentations, offering appropriate elaboration and detail.
1. Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas
4. Report on a topic or recount stories or experiences with appropriate facts and descriptive details.
5. (Begins in grade 4)
6. Speak coherently, employing a variety of tenses and ensuring subject-verb and pronoun-antecedent agreement.
*(See Conventions in Language for specific demands.)

Language Standards
By the end of grade 3, students will:
Conventions in Writing and Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar and usage.
 a. Explain the function of nouns, pronouns, verbs, adjectives, and adverbs in general and their functions in specific sentences.
 b. Form and use the simple (e.g., I walked, I walk, I will walk) verb tenses.
 c. Ensure subject-verb and pronoun-antecedent agreement.*
 d. Produce simple, compound, and complex sentences.
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
 a. Use correct capitalization.
 b. Use quotation marks in dialogue.
 c. Use conventional spelling for high-frequency and other studied words and for adding suffixes to base words (e.g., sitting, smiled, cries, happiness).
 d. Use spelling patterns and generalizations (e.g., word families, position-based spellings, syllable patterns, ending rules, meaningful word parts, in writing words.
 e. Consult reference materials, including dictionaries, as needed to check and correct spelling.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine word meanings (based on grade 3 reading).
 a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as understanding how the word is used in a sentence; analyzing the word's sounds, spelling, and meaningful parts; and consulting glossaries or beginning dictionaries, both print and digital.
 b. Use a known root word as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word with the same root (e.g*., company, companion*)
c. Determine the meaning of a new word formed when a known affix is added to a known word (e.g., agreeable/disagreeable, comfortable/uncomfortable, care/careless, heat/preheat).
 d. Distinguish the literal and non-literal meanings of words and phrases in context (e.g., take steps).
5. Understand word relationships.
 a. Build real-life connections between words and their use (e.g., describe people who are friendly or helpful).
 b. Distinguish among related words that describe states of mind or degrees of certainty (e.g., knew, believed, suspected, heard, wondered).
6. Use words that are in common, conversational vocabulary as well as grade-appropriate academic vocabulary and domain-specific words (in English language arts, history/social studies, and science) taught directly and acquired through reading and responding to texts.

Block Structure and Instructional Methods	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies
Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction, Literacy Work Stations, and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up

Introduction (5 minutes)
Goal = Connect

The teacher will:

- Use student-friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or set the purpose of the lesson.

Whole Group Writing with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes)
Goal = Build

The teacher will:

- Introduce the topic of the mini-lesson.
- Explain the goal of lesson (apply aspects of workshop procedures, literary concepts, writing skills or writing strategies). Topics may include: writing enticing leads, sequencing, perspective, point of view, use of figurative language, memoir, pacing, sentence variety, stylistic effect of conventions, formal language)
- Use mentor texts to share example(s) to illustrate aspect of writers' craft in use.
- Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer.
- Ask students to discuss with a partner; teacher will listen for understanding.
- Help students create a poster and/or record content of lesson in writer's notebook.
- Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the mini lesson in their writing.
- Check status of the class: ask students to first think individually then discuss via whole group or partner share

Explicit Small Group Writing Instruction (35 minutes)
Goal = Reach

The teacher will:

- Set up writing/language arts work stations designed to practice writers' craft in small, purposefully selected groups.
- Integrate other language arts, including speaking, listening, discussing, using language, creating and evaluating media, and researching into design of activities.
- Meet with small flexible groups of students who exhibit similar needs.
- Employ guided writing by reviewing structured lesson and supervising as students write.
- Use interactive writing, asking students to share the pen while they apply the focus of the lesson and talk about elements of writers' craft, including conventions.
- Allow time for independent writing. Students write for an extended period of time to practice the craft of writing and to apply the appropriate skills, strategies from modeled writing, mentor texts, and/or mini-lessons.
- Arrange for topics to include a variety of self-selected and assigned. Students will write over different amounts of time and in a variety of genres, written for various purposes and audiences.
- Ensure students incorporate and practice research skills as they write.
- Integrate technology into independent practice time so students can practice their writing skills as they access, plan, draft, and/or publish writing.
- Conference with students. Document progress.
- Provide meaningful, accurate, timely, and specific feedback while rotating among students.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Gather all members of the class to meet. Revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

Students in grade three will work to enhance their abilities in the following writing skills (Tomkins, 2010)
- Structuring Skills
- Mechanical Skills
- Language Skills
- Reference Skills
- Handwriting Skills
- Computer Skills there will be an explicit focus on keyboarding in grade 3; first semester students will practice keyboarding skills as a component of literacy work stations; second semester students will begin to use MY Access!

Modes (Cooper, 2003)
- Write Aloud [Modeled] Writing
- Shared Writing

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 4

Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 4 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. daily schedule with times next to a clock, student job assignments posted, homework basket labeled, etc.)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at students' eye level and easily accessible
- Environmental print documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals for ELL support and rubrics with exemplars
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room
- Visual cues for ELL support
- Word wall includes:
  - Commonly misspelled words (e. g. because, calendar, separate, etc.)
  - Vocabulary words with subject cues (e. g. blue cards indicate math words)
  - Support for vowel cluster sounds (e. g. meat and bread with "ea" part highlighted)
  - Multiple meaning words supported for ELL (e.g. bat/baseball and bat/animal)
  - Support for homophones (e. g. stair/stare, etc.)

- Support for prefixes/suffixes (e. g. pre-, -anti ,-tion, -ly, etc.)
- Support for Greek and Latin word parts (e. g. cycl = circular, photo = light, phono = sound, etc.)
- Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues for ELL support
- Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- The following five stations are present at minimum:
  - Independent Reading with Classroom Library
    - Classroom Library
      - Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
      - Balance of fiction/nonfiction
      - Wide selection of multicultural literature
      - Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. sports fiction, friendship fiction, animals nonfiction, countries and cultures nonfiction, resource books, etc.)
      - General indicator of book level displayed on cover of book (e. g. red dot = difficult for the grade level, yellow dot = on grade level, green dot = easy for the grade level)
      - Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
      - Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g. books labeled with "bio" go in the "Biography" bin which is also labeled "bio")
      - Additional print materials (e. g. readers' theater scripts, magazines, print outs of online articles etc.)
  - Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
    - Variety of graphic organizers related to comprehension
    - Writing prompts, comprehension task cards and/or question cards at variety of levels (e. g. create an ad for.., compare and contrast two characters, describe the most important event, etc.)
    - Examples of familiar writing forms (e.g. friendly letter, rhyming, Haiku, song with verse/chorus, etc.)
    - Dictionaries and other word source books
    - Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper) and resources
  - Media/Technology
    - Display of program choices and online resources

- Student recording/response sheets (e. g. write three facts after reading a nonfiction book on RAZ Kids, identify two gifts that the main character in this fiction story would enjoy and explain your choices)
  - Word Work/Phonics
    - Phonics activities (e.g. word sorts, word cognate activities, vowel spelling activities)
    - Multi-syllabic word activities
    - Access to the word wall
  - Vocabulary
    - Activities involving discussion
    - Word and sentence sorting activities
    - Synonym and antonym activities
    - Sequencing sentences or paragraphs
    - Review activities and games

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 4

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Read Aloud

The teacher:

• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension.
• Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text.
• Builds vocabulary.
• Supports oral language.
• Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud.
• Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Includes all students.
• Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.
• May infuse technology into the lesson.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
	• Explicit reading instruction
	• Models of fluent reading such as interactive read alouds with Transactional Strategy Instruction (think aloud)
	• Mini lessons with direct explanation
	• Interactive reading
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Collaboration and discussion
	• Developmental stages of reading
	   1. Pre-reading
	   2. Initial Reading
	   3. Confirmation and Fluency
	   4. Reading for New Learning
	   5. Multiple Viewpoints
	   6. Construction and Reconstruction

Shared/Whole Group Reading with Explicit Instruction

The teacher:

• Models the use of instructional and strategic reading strategies. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Uses grade level text.
• Includes all students with a balance of fiction and non-fiction text.
• Differentiates the lesson as needed.
	• Differentiation
	• Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
	• Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

	Modes (Tompkins, 2010; Cooper, 2003; Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
	  • Modeled reading
	  • Shared reading
	  • Interactive reading
	  • Explicit small group reading instruction
	  • Independent reading

	Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
	  • Fluency
	    1. Repeated reading
	    2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
	    3. Listen to models of fluent reading
	  • Vocabulary
	    1. Context clues
	    2. Word parts/affixes
	    3. Vocabulary graphic organizers
	    4. Vocabulary flash cards
	    5. Dictionaries and other reference aids
	  • Comprehension
	    1. Activate background knowledge
	    2. Make connections to self, text, world
	    3. Answer and generate questions
	    4. Predict/Infer
	    5. Determine importance
	    6. Summarize
	    7. Monitor
	    8. Visualize

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 4

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonics/word recognition, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations)

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
• Holds students accountable for the learning.
• Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Putting Reading First, 2006; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)

	• Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	  1. Reading process
	  2. Phonics (Word Recognition)
	  3. Fluency
	  4. Vocabulary
	  5. Comprehension
	• Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups
	• Developmental stages of reading

	  2. Initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to practice identified instructional reading goals based on students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)

  1. Independent Reading with Classroom Library
  2. Independent Writing for responding to reading
  3. Media/Technology
  4. Word Work/Phonics
  5. Vocabulary
- Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
- Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

Modes (Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
- Explicit small group reading instruction
- Independent reading

Components/Strategies (Harvey and Goudvis, 2007; Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
- Phonics/word recognition
  1. Phonic analysis
  2. Decoding by Analogy
  3. Syllabic analysis
  4. Morphemic analysis
- Fluency
  1. Repeated reading
  2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
  3. Listen to models of fluent reading
- Vocabulary
  1. Context clues
  2. Word parts/affixes
  3. Vocabulary graphic organizers
  4. Vocabulary flash cards
  5. Dictionaries and other reference aids
- Comprehension
  1. Activate background knowledge
  2. Make connections to self, text, world
  3. Answer and generate questions
  4. Predict/Infer
  5. Determine importance

	6. Summarize 7. Monitor 8. Visualize

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies for Grade 4
Sharing and Assessment The teacher: • Has the whole group meet to revisit the focus of the original skill lesson and share ideas and learning through oral discussion and presentation and/or through the use of technology. • Integrates listening, speaking, presentation and technology skills into the sharing session.	Approaches (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Collaboration and discussion • Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading • Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions Modes (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Interactive discussions/learning conversations Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; Project CRISS, 2007) • Whole group discussions • Paired or small group discussions

Foci: Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources

Writing Standards	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Writing Standards By the end of grade 4 students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Write opinions in which they: a. Introduce an opinion about a concrete issue or topic and create an organizing structure where related ideas are grouped to support the writer's purpose. b. Provide reasons that are supported by facts and details. c. Link reasons and details together using words and phrases (e.g., so, then, for instance, in addition). d. Adopt an appropriate style for sharing and defending an opinion. e. Provide a concluding statement or section. 2. Write informative/expository pieces in which they: a. State the topic clearly and group related information in paragraphs and sections. b. Develop the topic using facts, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples. c. Use appropriate links to join ideas within categories of information. d. Employ domain-specific vocabulary when appropriate. e. Provide a conclusion related to the information or explanation offered. 3. Write narratives in which they: a. Orient the reader by establishing a situation, introduce a narrator and/or characters, and organize an event sequence that unfolds naturally. b. Use narrative techniques such as dialogue and description to develop events and show the characters' external behaviors and internal responses to events. c. Use a variety of temporal words and phrases to mange the sequence of events. d. Use concrete and sensory words and phrases to convey events and experiences precisely. e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from the narrative's events.	Writing: • Writing sample – Diagnostic • Descriptive writing • Narrative writing • Creative writing • Expository writing • Persuasive writing • Writing sample – Summative writing sample (fall and spring) • Writing about reading and/or media • Friendly letter/message • Exit paper • Writing to contribute to group research report Common assessment tools: • MPS Writing Rubrics • MPS Research Rubrics	• Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Equipment/tools for modeling and sharing writing • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Word walls and other resources such as picture/word dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Technology • Visuals and other media • Reading A-Z/RAZ Kids • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • MY Access! • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources

Production and Distribution of Writing 4. Produce coherent and clear writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience. (Grade-specific expectations for writing types are defined in Standards 1-3 above.) 5. With guidance and support from peers and adults, strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, and editing. 6. With guidance and support from adults, use technology to produce, publish, and interact with others about writing. Research to Build Knowledge 7. Perform short, focused research tasks that build knowledge through investigation of different aspects of a single topic. 8. Gather relevant information from experience as well as print and digital sources, take notes and categorize evidence, restate information in written text, and provide basic bibliographic information. 9. Write in response to literary informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned: a. Apply grade 4 reading standards to informational texts (e.g., "Explain how an author uses evidence to support his or her claims in a text"). b. Apply grade 4 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Describe in detail a character, event, or setting, drawing on specific details in the text (e.g., from a character's thoughts, words, deeds, and interactions with others"). Range of Writing 10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences. Speaking and Listening Standards By the end of grade 4, students will: Comprehension and Collaboration: 1. Initiate and engage in group discussions on grade 4 topics and texts being studied in class. a. Come to class discussions prepared, having read required material; in discussions, explicitly draw on that material and other information known about the topic. b. Pose and respond to questions as well as build on the ideas of previous speakers. c. Acknowledge new information provided by others and incorporate it into their own thinking as appropriate. Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas 4. Report on events, topics, or texts in an organized manner, using appropriate, specific facts and descriptive details to support main ideas. 5. Incorporate visual displays and digital media into presentations when appropriate.	Other assessment evidence: • Student questions • Student comments • Illustrations and other visuals • Observations during whole group, small group, and conferences • Short-cycle assessments • On-demand writing • Peer feedback (written and oral) • Presentations • Multimedia evidence • Traditional and online publishing in various forms • Content in Writers' Notebooks • Contents of Portfolios (both process and showcase) • Progress logs • Student self-assessment • Student self-reflection • Student goals Speaking, Listening, and Media • Oral Presentation • Informative Oral Presentation • Listening Assessment • Discussion Assessment • Design and Creation of Media Product (Presentation or Tangible Artifact) • Oral Rubrics • Listening Rubrics • Discussion Rubrics • Media Rubrics	Write Source (student edition) Writing Process pp. 3-20 Traits of Writing pp. 21-30 Descriptive Writing pp. 63-74 Narrative Writing pp. 63-74 Expository Writing pp. 143-175 Persuasive Writing pp. Practical Writing pp. 244-247 Response to Literature pp. 257-297 Creative Writing pp. 298-319 Story Writing pp. 299-306 Research Writing: Building Skills pp. 320-336 Research Report pp. 337-362 Presentations pp. 363-378 iSeek! ● Differentiation for Students Who Need Additional Practice (use Extra Support in Write Source) ● Differentiation for Students Who Are Advanced in This Skill (use Challenge resources in Write Source) Write Source (student edition) Speaking and Listening pp. 369-378; 393-398 Multimedia pp. 394-398; 195-233; 363-372; 395-398 Strategies and Approaches ● Think, Pair, Share (Lyman, 1981) ● Think, Ink, Pair, Share (Billmeyer, 2003) ● Looping (Elbow, 1998) ● Collaborative Learning (Johnson and Johnson, 1999) ● Reciprocal Teaching (Palincsar, 1994) ● Discussion Webs (Alvermann, 1991) ● Reflection Journal (Zemelman,

6. Differentiate between contexts that call for formal English (e.g., presenting ideas) and situations where informal discourse is appropriate (e.g., small-group discussion); use formal English when appropriate to task and situation.
*(See Conventions in Language for specific demands.)

Language Standards
By the end of grade 4, students will:

Conventions in Writing and Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar and usage.
a. Form and use the progressive (e.g. I was walking, I am walking, I will be walking) verb aspects.
b. Form and use adjectives and adverbs (including comparative and superlative forms), placing them appropriately within sentences* (Convention standards noted with an asterisk () need to be revisited by students in subsequent grades as their writing and speaking grows in sophistication.)
c. Produce complete sentences, avoiding rhetorically poor fragments and run-ons*
d. Correctly use frequently confused words (e.g., to, too, two, there, their).*
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
a. Use quotation marks to mark direct speech and quotations from a text.
b. Spell grade-appropriate words correctly, consulting references as needed.
3. Make effective language choices.
a. Use punctuation for effect.*
b. Maintain consistency in style and tone. *
c. Choose words and phrases to convey ideas precisely. *

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine word meanings (based on grade 4 reading).
a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., definitions, examples, or restatements in text); using syntactic clues (e.g., the word's sounds, spelling, and meaningful parts; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital.
b. Use a known root word as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word with the same root (e.g., telegraph, photograph, autograph).
c. Explain the meaning of simple similes and metaphors (e.g., as pretty as a picture).
d. Paraphrase common idioms, adages, and proverbs.
5. Understand word relationships.
a. Build real-life connections between words and their various uses and meanings.
b. Define relationships between words (e.g., how ask is like and unlike demand; what items are likely to be enormous).
c. Distinguish a word from other words with similar but not identical meanings (synonyms).
6. Use grade-appropriate general academic vocabulary and domain-specific words and phrases (in English language arts, history/social studies, and science) taught directly and acquired through reading and responding to texts.

Block Structure and Instructional Methods Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction, Literacy Work Stations, and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies
Introduction (5 minutes) Goal = Connect The teacher will: • Use student-friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or set the purpose of the lesson. Whole Group Writing with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes) Goal = Build The teacher will: • Introduce the topic of the mini-lesson. • Explain the goal of lesson (apply aspects of workshop procedures, literary concepts, writing skills or writing strategies). Topics may include: writing enticing leads, sequencing, perspective, point of view, use of figurative language, memoir, pacing, sentence variety, stylistic effect of conventions, formal language) • Use mentor texts to share example(s) to illustrate aspect of writers' craft in use. • Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer. • Ask students to discuss with a partner; teacher will listen for understanding. • Help students create a poster and/or record content of lesson in writer's notebook. • Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the mini lesson in their writing. • Check status of the class: ask students to first think individually then discuss via whole group or partner share	Best Practices in Writing (Zemelman, Daniels, and Hyde, 2005; Graham, MacArthur, and Fitzgerald (eds.), 2007; MPS and Milwaukee Writing Project, 2008) • Writers' Workshop • Writing Process • Writing Strategies • Six Traits of Effective Writing • Authentic Forms • Writing-Reading Connection • Effective Feedback • Teacher as Writer Approaches (Graham and Perin, 2007) • Writing Strategies • Summarization • Collaborative Writing • Specific Product Goals • Word Processing • Sentence Combining • Prewriting • Inquiry Activities • Process Writing Approach • Study of Models • Writing for Content Areas Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Instruction (Hall, Strangman, and Meyer; 2003); Differentiation (Tomlinson, 1999) • Content • Process • Product • Writing Circles (Vopat, 2009) • Inquiry Circles (Harvey and Daniels, 2009) Six Traits of Effective Writing (Spandel, 2009) ● Ideas, Organization, Voice, Word Choice, Sentence Fluency and Variety,

Explicit Small Group Writing Instruction (35 minutes)
Goal = Reach

The teacher will:

- Set up writing/language arts work stations designed to practice writers' craft in small, purposefully selected groups.
- Integrate other language arts, including speaking, listening, discussing, using language, creating and evaluating media, and researching into design of activities.
- Meet with small flexible groups of students who exhibit similar needs.
- Employ guided writing by reviewing structured lesson and supervising as students write.
- Use interactive writing, asking students to share the pen while they apply the focus of the lesson and talk about elements of writers' craft, including conventions.
- Allow time for independent writing. Students write for an extended period of time to practice the craft of writing and to apply the appropriate skills, strategies from modeled writing, mentor texts, and/or mini-lessons.
- Arrange for topics to include a variety of self-selected and assigned. Students will write over different amounts of time and in a variety of genres, written for various purposes and audiences.
- Ensure students incorporate and practice research skills as they write.
- Integrate technology into independent practice time so students can practice their writing skills as they access, plan, draft, and/or publish writing.
- Conference with students. Document progress.
- Provide meaningful, accurate, timely, and specific feedback while rotating among students.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Gather all members of the class to meet. Revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

and Conventions
Students in grade four will review and enhance the following skills that writers use (Tomkins, 2010)
● Structuring Skills
● Mechanical Skills
● Language Skills
● Reference Skills
● Handwriting Skills
● Computer Skills

Modes (Cooper, 2003)
● Write Aloud [Modeled] Writing
● Shared Writing
● Guided Writing
● Interactive Writing (Tompkins, 2008)
● Collaborative/Cooperative Writing
● Independent Writing

Categories of Strategies (Tompkins, 2010)
- Generating
- Organizing
- Visualizing
- Monitoring
- Playing with Language
- Revising
- Proofreading
- Evaluating

In grades 4 and above students will pay particular attention to the purposeful revision of sentences. Teachers will employ Killgallon's (1998) Four Types of Sentence Composing to help student create increasingly sophisticated and fluent sentences. The four types are:
● Sentence Unscrambling
● Sentence Imitating
● Sentence Combining
● Sentence Expanding

Writing Process (Graves, 1994)
- Prewriting
- Drafting
- Revising
- Editing
- Publishing
- Self assessment, goal setting, and use of portfolios (Stires, 1991)

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 5

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 5
Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 5 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. daily schedule with times next to a clock, student job assignments posted, homework basket labeled, etc.)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at students' eye level and easily accessible
- Environmental print documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals for ELL support and rubrics with exemplars
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room
- Visual cues for ELL support
- Word wall includes:
    - Commonly misspelled words (e. g. because, calendar, separate, etc.)
    - Vocabulary words with subject cues (e. g. blue cards indicate math words)
    - Support for vowel cluster sounds (e. g. meat and bread with "ea" part highlighted)
    - Multiple meaning words supported for ELL (e.g. bat/baseball and bat/animal)
    - Support for homophones (e. g. stair/stare, etc.)

- o Support for prefixes/suffixes (e. g. pre-, -anti ,-tion, -ly, etc.)
- o Support for Greek and Latin word parts (e. g. cycl = circular, photo = light, phono = sound, etc.)
- Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues for ELL support
- Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- The following five stations are present at minimum:
  - o Independent Reading with Classroom Library
    - ▪ Classroom Library
      - Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
      - Balance of fiction/nonfiction
      - Wide selection of multicultural literature
      - Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. sports fiction, friendship fiction, animals nonfiction, countries and cultures nonfiction, resource books, etc.)
      - General indicator of book level displayed on cover of book (e. g. red dot = difficult for the grade level, yellow dot = on grade level, green dot = easy for the grade level)
      - Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
      - Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g. books labeled with "bio" go in the "Biography" bin which is also labeled "bio")
      - Additional print materials (e. g. readers' theater scripts, magazines, print outs of online articles etc.)
  - o Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
    - ▪ Variety of graphic organizers related to comprehension
    - ▪ Writing prompts, comprehension task cards and/or question cards at variety of levels (e. g. create an ad for.., compare and contrast two characters, describe the most important event, etc.)
    - ▪ Examples of familiar writing forms (e.g. friendly letter, rhyming, Haiku, song with verse/chorus, etc.)
    - ▪ Dictionaries and other word source books
    - ▪ Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper type) and resources
  - o Media/Technology
    - ▪ Display of program choices and online resources

- Student recording/response sheets (e. g. write three facts after reading a nonfiction book on RAZ Kids, identify two gifts that the main character in this fiction story would enjoy and explain your choices)
  - Word Work/Phonics
    - Phonics activities (e.g. word sorts, word cognate activities, vowel spelling activities)
    - Multi-syllabic word activities
    - Access to the word wall
  - Vocabulary
    - Activities involving discussion
    - Word and sentence sorting activities
    - Synonym and antonym activities
    - Sequencing sentences or paragraphs
    - Review activities and games

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 5
Introduction The teacher: - Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, learning targets and/or purpose of the lesson. - Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary. - Activates and builds background knowledge. Read Aloud The teacher: - Models fluent reading. - Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension. - Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text. - Builds vocabulary. - Supports oral language. - Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud. - Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.) - Includes all students. - Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010) - Explicit reading instruction - Models of fluent reading such as interactive read alouds with Transactional Strategy Instruction (think aloud) - Mini lessons with direct explanation - Interactive reading - Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading - Collaboration and discussion - Developmental stages of reading - Pre-reading - initial Reading - Confirmation and Fluency - Reading for New Learning - Multiple Viewpoints - Construction and Reconstruction

The teacher:

• Models the use of instructional and strategic reading strategies. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Uses grade level text.
• Includes all students with a balance of fiction and non-fiction text.
• Differentiates the lesson as needed.

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 5

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonics/word recognition, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations)

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
• Holds students accountable for the learning.
• Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)

	• Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	  1. Reading process
	  2. Phonics (Word Recognition)
	  3. Fluency
	  4. Vocabulary
	  5. Comprehension
	• Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups

	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to practice identified instructional reading goals based on students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)

  1. Independent Reading with Classroom Library
  2. Independent Writing for responding to reading
  3. Media/Technology
  4. Word Work/Phonics
  5. Vocabulary
- Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
- Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

Modes (Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
- Explicit small group reading instruction
- Independent reading

Components/Strategies (Harvey and Goudvis, 2007; Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
- Phonics/word recognition
  1. Phonic analysis
  2. Decoding by Analogy
  3. Syllabic analysis
  4. Morphemic analysis
- Fluency
  1. Repeated reading
  2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies for Grade 5
Sharing and Assessment The teacher: • Has the whole group meet to revisit the focus of the original skill lesson and share ideas and learning through oral discussion and presentation and/or through the use of technology. • Integrates listening, speaking, presentation and technology skills into the sharing session.	Approaches (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Collaboration and discussion • Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading • Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions Modes (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Interactive discussions/learning conversations Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; Project CRISS, 2007) • Whole group discussions • Paired or small group discussions

Writing Standards	Writing:

Writing Standards

By the end of grade 5 students will:

Text Types and Purposes
1. Write opinions in which they:
a. Introduce an opinion about a concrete issue or topic and create an organizing structure where related ideas are grouped to support the writer's purpose.
b. Provide logically ordered reasons that are supported by facts and details.
c. Links reasons and details together using words, phrases, and clauses (e.g., consequently, generally, specifically).
d. Adopt an appropriate style for sharing and defending an opinion.
e. Provide a concluding statement or section.
2. Write informative/explanatory pieces in which they:
a. State the topic clearly, provide a general observation and focus, and group related information logically.
b. Develop the topic using relevant facts, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples.
c. Use appropriate links to join ideas within and across categories of information.
d. Employ domain-specific vocabulary and some technical terms when appropriate.
e. Provide a conclusion related to the information or explanation offered.
3. Write narratives in which they:
a. Engage and orient the reader by establishing a situation, introducing a narrator and/or characters, and creating an organization that sequences events naturally and logically.
b. Use narrative techniques such as dialogue, pacing, and description to develop events and show characters' external behaviors and internal responses.
c. Use a variety of temporal words, phrases, and clauses to manage the sequence of events.
d. Use well-chosen words and phrases to convey events and experiences precisely.
e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from the narrative's events.

Writing:
- Writing sample – Diagnostic Entrance Paper
- Descriptive writing
- Narrative writing
- Creative writing
- Expository writing
- Persuasive writing
- On-demand writing sample – Summative writing sample (fall and spring)
- Writing about reading and/or media
- Letter
- Writing to contribute to group research report
- Organize and communicate researched information
- Exit paper

Common assessment tools:
- MPS Writing Rubrics
- MPS Research Rubric

- Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts)
- Writing tools (including electronic tools)
- Equipment/tools for modeling and sharing writing

Production and Distribution of Writing

4. Produce coherent and clear writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.

5. With guidance and support from peers and adults, strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.

6. With guidance and support from adults, use technology, including the Internet, to produce, publish, and interact with others about writing.

Research to Build Knowledge

7. Perform short, focused research tasks that build knowledge through investigation of different aspects of a topic using several sources.

8. Gather relevant information from experiences as well as print and digital sources; summarize or paraphrase information in notes and finished work, and provide basic bibliographic information.

9. Write in response to literary or informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned:

a. Apply grade 5 reading standards to informational texts (e.g., "Explain how an author uses evidence to support his or her claims in a text, identifying what evidence supports which claim(s)").

b. Apply grade 5 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Compare and contrast two or more characters, events, or settings in a text, drawing on specific details").

Range of Writing

10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Speaking and Listening Standards
By the end of grade 5, students will:

Comprehension and Collaboration:

1. Initiate and engage in group discussion on grade 5 topics and texts being studied in class.

a. Come to discussions prepared, having read the required material; in discussions, explicitly draw on that material and other information known about the topic, and build on the ideas of previous speakers.

b. Respond to questions with elaboration, make comments that contribute to the topic, and build on the ideas of previous speakers.

c. Ask questions to clarify or follow up on ideas or information presented orally or through media.

d. Draw conclusions based on the ideas of others and incorporate them into their own thinking as appropriate.

2. Summarize the key ideas supporting details presented graphically, visually, orally, or multimodally.

3. Summarize the claims made by a speaker or presenter and explain how each claim is supported with evidence.

Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas

4. Report on events, topics, or texts in a focused, organized manner, sequencing ideas logically and using appropriate, specific facts, details, examples, or other information to develop main ideas.

5. Incorporate visual displays and digital media into presentations when appropriate.
6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, using formal English when appropriate to task and situation.

Language Standards
By the end of grade 5, students will:

Conventions in Writing and Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar and usage.
a. Form and use the perfect (e.g., I had walked, I have walked, I will have walked) verb aspects.
b. Recognize and correct inappropriate shifts in verb tense and aspect.*
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
a. Use punctuation to separate items in a series.*
b. Use a comma to separate an introductory element from the rest of the sentence.
c. Use underlining, quotation marks, or italics to indicate titles of works.
d. Spell grade-appropriate words correctly, consulting references as needed.
3. Make effective language choices.
a. Expand, combine, and reduce sentences for meaning, reader/listener interest, and style.*
Conventions standards noted with an asterisk (*) need to be revisited by students in subsequent grades as their writing and speaking grows in sophistication.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine word meanings (based on grade 5 reading).
a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., definitions, examples, or restatements in text); using syntactic clues (e.g., the word's position or function in the sentence); analyzing the word's sounds spelling, and meaningful parts; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital.
b. Use a known root word as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word with the same root (e.g., photograph, photosynthesis).
c. Interpret figurative language, including similes and metaphors.
d. Explain the meaning of common idioms adages, and proverbs.
5. Understand word relationships.
a. Build real-life connections between words and their various uses and meanings.
b. Define relationships between words (e.g., how smirk is like and unlike smile; what items are likely to be vast).
c. Distinguish a word from other words with similes but not identical meanings (synonyms).
6. Use grade-appropriate general academic vocabulary and domain-specific words and phrases (in English language arts, history/social studies, and science) taught directly and acquired through reading and responding to texts.

Block Structure and Instructional Methods	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies
Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction, Literacy Work Stations, and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up

Introduction (5 minutes)
Goal = Connect

The teacher will:

- Use student-friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or set the purpose of the lesson.

Whole Group Writing with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes)
Goal = Build

 The teacher will:

- Introduce the topic of the mini-lesson.
- Explain the goal of lesson (apply aspects of workshop procedures, literary concepts, writing skills or writing strategies). Topics may include: writing enticing leads, sequencing, perspective, point of view, use of figurative language, memoir, pacing, sentence variety, stylistic effect of conventions, formal language)
- Use mentor texts to share example(s) to illustrate aspect of writers' craft in use.
- Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer.
- Ask students to discuss with a partner; teacher will listen for understanding.
- Help students create a poster and/or record content of lesson in writer's notebook.
- Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the mini lesson in their writing.
- Check status of the class: ask students to first think individually then discuss via whole group or partner share

Explicit Small Group Writing Instruction (35 minutes)
Goal = Reach

The teacher will:

- Set up writing/language arts work stations designed to practice writers' craft in small, purposefully selected groups.
- Integrate other language arts, including speaking, listening, discussing, using language, creating and evaluating media, and researching into design of activities.
- Meet with small flexible groups of students who exhibit similar needs.
- Employ guided writing by reviewing structured lesson and supervising as students write.
- Use interactive writing, asking students to share the pen while they apply the focus of the lesson and talk about elements of writers' craft, including conventions.
- Allow time for independent writing. Students write for an extended period of time to practice the craft of writing and to apply the appropriate skills, strategies from modeled writing, mentor texts, and/or mini-lessons.
- Arrange for topics to include a variety of self-selected and assigned. Students will write over different amounts of time and in a variety of genres, written for various purposes and audiences.
- Ensure students incorporate and practice research skills as they write.
- Integrate technology into independent practice time so students can practice their writing skills as they access, plan, draft, and/or publish writing.
- Conference with students. Document progress.
- Provide meaningful, accurate, timely, and specific feedback while rotating among students.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Gather all members of the class to meet. Revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

Students in grade five will review and enhance the following skills that writers use (Tomkins, 2010)
● Structuring Skills
● Mechanical Skills
● Language Skills
● Reference Skills
● Computer Skills

Modes (Cooper, 2003)
● Write Aloud [Modeled] Writing
● Shared Writing
● Guided Writing
● Interactive Writing (Tompkins, 2008)
● Collaborative/Cooperative Writing
● Independent Writing

Categories of Strategies (Tompkins, 2010)
- Generating
- Organizing
- Visualizing
- Monitoring
- Playing with Language
- Revising
- Proofreading
- Evaluating

In grades 4 and above students will pay particular attention to the purposeful revision of sentences. Teachers will employ Killgallon's (1998) Four Types of Sentence Composing to help student create increasingly sophisticated and fluent sentences. The four types are:
● Sentence Unscrambling
● Sentence Imitating
● Sentence Combining
● Sentence Expanding

Writing Process (Graves, 1994)
- Prewriting
- Drafting
- Revising
- Editing
- Publishing
- Self assessment, goal setting, and use of portfolios (Stires, 1991)

Core Literacy Curriculum:
Grade 6

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 6
Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 6 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. daily schedule with times next to a clock, student job assignments posted, homework basket labeled, etc.)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at students' eye level and easily accessible
- Environmental print documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals for ELL support and rubrics with exemplars
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room

   NOTE: If room is used for multiple subjects or space is limited, have students use portable individualized word walls.

- Visual cues for ELL support
- Word wall includes:
  o Commonly misspelled words (e. g. because, calendar, separate, etc.)
  o Vocabulary words with subject cues (e. g. blue cards indicate math words)

- o Support for vowel cluster sounds (e. g. meat and bread with "ea" part highlighted)
- o Multiple meaning words supported for ELL (e.g. bat/baseball and bat/animal)
- o Support for homophones (e. g. stair/stare, etc.)
- o Support for prefixes/suffixes (e. g. pre-, -anti ,-tion, -ly, etc.)
- o Support for Greek and Latin word parts (e. g. cycl = circular, photo = light, phono = sound, etc.)
- Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues for ELL support
- Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- The following five stations are present at minimum:
  - o Independent Reading with Classroom Library
    - ▪ Classroom Library
      - Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
      - Balance of fiction/nonfiction
      - Wide selection of multicultural literature
      - Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. sports fiction, friendship fiction, animals nonfiction, countries and cultures nonfiction, resource books, etc.)
      - General indicator of book level displayed on cover of book (e. g. red dot = difficult for the grade level, yellow dot = on grade level, green dot = easy for the grade level)
      - Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
      - Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g. books labeled with "bio" go in the "Biography" bin which is also labeled "bio")
      - Additional print materials (e. g. readers' theater scripts, magazines, print outs of online articles etc.)
  - o Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
    - ▪ Variety of graphic organizers related to comprehension
    - ▪ Writing prompts, comprehension task cards and/or question cards at variety of levels (e. g. create an ad for.., compare and contrast two characters, describe the most important event, etc.)
    - ▪ Examples of familiar writing forms (e.g. friendly letter, rhyming, Haiku, song with verse/chorus, etc.)
    - ▪ Dictionaries and other word source books

- ▪ Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper type) and resources
- o Media/Technology
  - ▪ Display of program choices and online resources
  - ▪ Student recording/response sheets (e. g. write three facts after reading a digital nonfiction book, identify two gifts that the main character in this fiction story would enjoy and explain your choices)
- o Word Work/Phonics
  - ▪ Word work (e.g. word sorts, word cognate activities)
  - ▪ Multi-syllabic word activities (e.g. prefixes/suffixes, Greek and Latin word parts)
  - ▪ Access to the word wall
- o Vocabulary
  - ▪ Activities involving discussion
  - ▪ Word and sentence sorting activities
  - ▪ Synonym and antonym activities
  - ▪ Sequencing sentences or paragraphs
  - ▪ Review activities and games

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 6

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Read Aloud

The teacher:

• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension.
• Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text.
• Builds vocabulary.
• Supports oral language.
• Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud.
• Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Includes all students.
• Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
	• Explicit reading instruction
	• Models of fluent reading such as interactive read alouds with Transactional Strategy Instruction (think aloud)
	• Mini lessons with direct explanation
	• Interactive reading
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Collaboration and discussion
	• Developmental stages of reading
	   1. Pre-reading
	   2. Initial Reading
	   3. Confirmation and Fluency
	   4. Reading for New Learning
	   5. Multiple Viewpoints

• May infuse technology into the lesson.

Shared/Whole Group Reading with Explicit Instruction

The teacher:

• Models the use of instructional and strategic reading strategies. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Uses grade level text.
• Includes all students with a balance of fiction and non-fiction text.
• Differentiates the lesson as needed.
	6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation
	• Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
	• Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

	Modes (Tompkins, 2010; Cooper, 2003; Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
	• Modeled reading
	• Shared reading
	• Interactive reading
	• Explicit small group reading instruction
	• Independent reading

	Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
	• Fluency
	  1. Repeated reading
	  2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
	  3. Listen to models of fluent reading
	• Vocabulary
	  1. Context clues
	  2. Word parts/affixes
	  3. Vocabulary graphic organizers
	  4. Vocabulary flash cards
	  5. Dictionaries and other reference aids
	• Comprehension
	  1. Activate background knowledge
	  2. Make connections to self, text, world
	  3. Answer and generate questions
	  4. Predict/Infer
	  5. Determine importance
	  6. Summarize
	  7. Monitor
	  8. Visualize

Daily Grade 6 Reading Block	60-Minute Instructional Block
Focus Reading to Learn	Instructional Grouping: Small Group (45 minutes) Part 2: Small Group Reading and Literacy Work Stations NOTE: Teachers are expected to adhere to this time allotment; however, professional judgment can be used to deviate at times based on student need and how familiar students are with a skill or strategy (e.g. Additional time may be necessary when introducing a new concept).

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 6

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonics/word recognition, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations)

The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
• Holds students accountable for the learning.
• Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)

	• Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	  1. Reading process
	  2. Phonics (Word Recogniton)
	  3. Fluency
	  4. Vocabulary
	  5. Comprehension
	• Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups
	• Developmental stages of reading
	  1. Pre-reading
	  2. initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to practice identified instructional reading goals based on students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)

  1. Independent Reading with Classroom Library
  2. Independent Writing for responding to reading
  3. Media/Technology
  4. Word Work/Phonics
  5. Vocabulary
- Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
- Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

Modes (Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
- Explicit small group reading instruction
- Independent reading

Components/Strategies (Harvey and Goudvis, 2007; Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
- Phonics/word recognition
  1. Phonic analysis
  2. Decoding by Analogy
  3. Syllabic analysis
  4. Morphemic analysis
- Fluency
  1. Repeated reading
  2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
  3. Listen to models of fluent reading
- Vocabulary
  1. Context clues
  2. Word parts/affixes
  3. Vocabulary graphic organizers

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies for Grade 6
Sharing and Assessment The teacher: • Has the whole group meet to revisit the focus of the original skill lesson and share ideas and learning through oral discussion and presentation and/or through the use of technology. • Integrates listening, speaking, presentation and technology skills into the sharing session.	Approaches (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Collaboration and discussion • Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading • Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions Modes (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Interactive discussions/learning conversations Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; Project CRISS, 2007) • Whole group discussions • Paired or small group discussions

Foci: Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources

Common Core Standards	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Writing Standards By the end of grade 6 students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Write arguments in which they: a. Introduce a claim about a topic or issue and organize the reasons and evidence to support the claim. b. Support the claim with clear reasons and relevant evidence. c. Use words, phrases, and clauses to convey the relationships among claims and reasons. d. Sustain an objective style and tone. e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows from the argument. 2. Write informative/explanatory texts in which they: a. Introduce a topic and organize information appropriate to the purpose, using strategies such as definition, classification, comparison/contrast, and cause/effect. b. Develop the topic with relevant facts, definitions, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples. c. Use appropriate links and varied sentence structures to join and clarify ideas. d. Use straightforward language to create an objective style appropriate for a reader seeking information. e. Provide a conclusion that follows logically from the information or explanation presented. 3. Write narratives in which they: a. Engage and orient the reader by establishing a context and point of view, and organize a sequence of events or experiences. b. Develop narrative elements (e.g., setting, event sequence, characters) using relevant sensory details. c. Use a variety of transition words, phrases, and clauses to convey sequence, shift from one time frame or setting to another an/or show the relationships among events and experiences. d. Choose words and phrases to develop the events, experiences, and ideas precisely. e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from the events, experiences, or ideas.\	• Diagnostic Entrance Paper • Descriptive Writing • Narrative Writing • Expository Writing • Persuasive Writing • Timed, On-Demand Writing • Creative Writing • Real-world, Business Writing, including memos • Thank you letters • Individual Contribution (on a subtopic) to Group Research Paper (same topic) using primary and secondary sources • Exit Paper Common assessment tools: • MPS Writing Rubrics • MPS Research Rubrics	• Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Equipment/tools for modeling and sharing writing • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Word walls and other resources such as picture/word dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Technology • Visuals and other media • Reading A-Z/RAZ Kids • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • MY Access! • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources

Production and Distribution of Writing
4. Produce writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience. (Grade-specific expectations for writing types are defined in Standards 1-3 above.)
5. With some guidance and support from peers and adults, strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.
6. Use technology, including the Internet, to produce, publish, and interact with others about writing,, including linking to and citing online sources.

Research to Build Knowledge
7. Perform short, focused research projects in response to a question and refocus the inquiry in response to further research and investigation.
8. Gather relevant information from multiple print and digital sources, assess the credibility of each source, and quote or paraphrase the data and conclusions of others while avoiding plagiarism and documenting sources.
9. Write in response to literary or informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned.
a. Apply grade 6 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Analyze stories in the same genre (e.g., mysteries, adventure stories), comparing and contrasting their approaches to similar themes and topics.").
b. Apply grade 6 reading standards to literary nonfiction (e.g., "Distinguish among fact, opinion, and reasoned judgment presented in text").

Range of Writing
10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Speaking and Listening Standards
By the end of grade 6, students will:

Comprehension and Collaboration:
1. Initiate and engage in group discussion on grade 6 topics, texts, and issues being studied in class.
a. Prepare for discussions by completing reading or conducting research and explicitly draw on that material in discussions.
b. Cooperate with peers to set clear goals and deadlines.
c. Build on the ideas of others by asking relevant questions and contributing appropriate and essential information.
d. Review the key ideas expressed and extend their own thinking in light of new information learned.
2. Interpret information presented in visual or multimodal formats and explain how the information clarifies and contributes to a topic or issue under study.
3. Delineate the claims made by a speaker or presenter and detail what evidence supports which claims.

Other assessment evidence:
- Student questions
- Student comments
- Illustrations and other visuals
- Observations during whole group, small group, and conferences
- Short-cycle assessments

Language Standards By the end of grade 6, students will: Conventions in Writing and Speaking 1. Observe conventions of grammar and usage. a. Ensure that pronouns are in the proper case (subjective, objective, possessive). b. Recognize and correct inappropriate shifts in pronoun number and person.* c. Recognize and correct vague pronouns (i.e., ones with unclear or ambiguous antecedents).* 2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling. a. Use commas, parentheses, or dashes to set off nonrestrictive/parenthetical elements.* 3. Make effective language choices. a. Vary sentence patterns for meaning, reader/listener interest, and style.Conventions standards noted with an asterisk () need to be revisited by students in subsequent grades as their writing and speaking grows in sophistication.	Language: Accurate use of conventions in writing and speaking • MPS Writing Rubrics – Conventions	Write Source Skills Book Assessment Book Write Source Interactive Writing Skills CD-Rom Daily Language Workouts http://www.greatsource.com/iwrite/index.html Write Source (student edition) Conventions p. 12, 22-23, 44 Editing checklist pp. 44, 128, 192, 254, 316, 404 Pronouns pp. 474-479, 706-714 Commas pp. 582-590 Parentheses p. 612.4 Dashes p. 612 Sentences variety pp. 122-123. 248-249. 311. 511-522
Vocabulary Acquisition and Use 4. Determine word meanings (based on grade 6 reading). a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., sentence and paragraph context, the organizational pattern of he text); using syntactic clues (e.g., the word's position or function in the sentence); analyzing he word's sounds spelling, and meaningful parts; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital. b. Use a known root as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word (e.g., audience, auditory, audible). c. Verify the preliminary determination of a word's meaning (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or looking up the word in a dictionary). d. Interpret various figures of speech (e.g., personification) relevant to particular texts. 5. Understand word relationships. a. Trace the network of uses and meanings that different words have and the interrelationships among those meanings and uses. b. Distinguish a word from other words with similar denotations but different connotations. 6. Use grade-appropriate general academic vocabulary and English language arts-specific words and phrases taught directly and gained through reading and responding to texts.	Language: Appropriate use of on-level vocabulary • MPS Language Rubrics	Connotation pp. 485, 560 Vocabulary building techniques p. 562 Vocabulary in context pp. 564-569 Prefixes, suffixes, roots pp. 564-569 Figures of speech p. 560 ● MPS Vocabulary List for Grade Six – English language arts ● Marzano - Six Step Process (2004) ● Frayer Model (Frayer, Frederick, and Kausmeither, 1969; Buehl,

Block Structure and Instructional Methods Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction, Literacy Work Centers, and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies

Introduction (5 minutes)

Goal = Connect

The teacher will:

- Use student-friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or set the purpose of the lesson.

Whole Group Writing with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes)

Goal = Build

The teacher will:

- Introduce the topic of the mini-lesson.
- Explain the goal of lesson (apply aspects of workshop procedures, literary concepts, writing skills or writing strategies). Topics may include: writing enticing leads, sequencing, perspective, point of view, use of figurative language, memoir, pacing, sentence variety, stylistic effect of conventions, formal language)
- Use mentor texts to share example(s) to illustrate aspect of writers' craft in use.
- Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer.
- Ask students to discuss with a partner; teacher will listen for understanding.
- Help students create a poster and/or record content of lesson in writer's notebook.
- Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the mini lesson in their writing.
- Check status of the class: ask students to first think individually then discuss via whole group or partner share

Best Practices in Writing (Zemelman, Daniels, and Hyde, 2005; Graham, MacArthur, and Fitzgerald (eds.), 2007; MPS and Milwaukee Writing Project, 2008)

Approaches (Graham and Perin, 2007)

- Writing Strategies
- Summarization
- Collaborative Writing
- Specific Product Goals
- Word Processing
- Sentence Combining
- Prewriting
- Inquiry Activities
- Process Writing Approach
- Study of Models

Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Instruction (Hall, Strangman, and Meyer; 2003); Differentiation (Tomlinson, 1999)

- Content
- Process
- Product
- Writing Circles (Vopat, 2009)
- Inquiry Circles (Harvey and Daniels, 2009)

Six Traits of Effective Writing (Spandel, 2009)
- Ideas, Organization, Voice, Word Choice, Sentence Fluency and Variety, and Conventions

Explicit Small Group Writing Instruction (35 minutes)
Goal = Reach

The teacher will:

- Set up writing/language arts work stations designed to practice writers' craft in small, purposefully selected groups.
- Integrate other language arts, including speaking, listening, discussing, using language, creating and evaluating media, and researching into design of activities.
- Meet with small flexible groups of students who exhibit similar needs.
- Employ guided writing by reviewing structured lesson and supervising as students write.
- Use interactive writing, asking students to share the pen while they apply the focus of the lesson and talk about elements of writers' craft, including conventions.
- Allow time for independent writing. Students write for an extended period of time to practice the craft of writing and to apply the appropriate skills, strategies from modeled writing, mentor texts, and/or mini-lessons.
- Arrange for topics to include a variety of self-selected and assigned. Students will write over different amounts of time and in a variety of genres, written for various purposes and audiences.
- Ensure students incorporate and practice research skills as they write.
- Integrate technology into independent practice time so students can practice their writing skills as they access, plan, draft, and/or publish writing.
- Conference with students. Document progress.
- Provide meaningful, accurate, timely, and specific feedback while rotating among students.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Gather all members of the class to meet. Revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

Students in grade six will review and enhance the following skills that writers use (Tomkins, 2010)
- Structuring Skills
- Mechanical Skills
- Language Skills
- Reference Skills
- Computer Skills

Modes (Cooper, 2003)
- Write Aloud [Modeled] Writing
- Shared Writing
- Guided Writing
- Interactive Writing (Tompkins, 2008)
- Collaborative/Cooperative Writing
- Independent Writing

Categories of Strategies (Tompkins, 2010)
- Generating
- Organizing
- Visualizing
- Monitoring
- Playing with Language
- Revising
- Proofreading
- Evaluating

In grades 4 and above students will pay particular attention to the purposeful revision of sentences. Teachers will employ Killgallon's (1998) Four Types of Sentence Composing to help student create increasingly sophisticated and fluent sentences. The four types are:
- Sentence Unscrambling
- Sentence Imitating
- Sentence Combining
- Sentence Expanding

Writing Process (Graves, 1994)
- Prewriting
- Drafting
- Revising
- Editing
- Publishing
- Self assessment, goal setting, and use of portfolios (Stires, 1991)

Core Literacy Curriculum:
Grade 7

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 7
Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 7 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. daily schedule with times next to a clock, student job assignments posted, homework basket labeled, etc.)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at students' eye level and easily accessible
- Environmental print documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals for ELL support and rubrics with exemplars
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room

     NOTE: If room is used for multiple subjects or space is limited, have students use portable individualized word walls.

- Visual cues for ELL support
- Word wall includes:
  - Commonly misspelled words (e. g. because, calendar, separate, etc.)
  - Vocabulary words with subject cues (e. g. blue cards indicate math words)

- o Support for vowel cluster sounds (e. g. meat and bread with "ea" part highlighted)
- o Multiple meaning words supported for ELL (e.g. bat/baseball and bat/animal)
- o Support for homophones (e. g. stair/stare, etc.)
- o Support for prefixes/suffixes (e. g. pre-, -anti ,-tion, -ly, etc.)
- o Support for Greek and Latin word parts (e. g. cycl = circular, photo = light, phono = sound, etc.)
- Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues for ELL support
- Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- The following five stations are present at minimum:
  - o Independent Reading with Classroom Library
    - ▪ Classroom Library
      - Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
      - Balance of fiction/nonfiction
      - Wide selection of multicultural literature
      - Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. sports fiction, friendship fiction, animals nonfiction, countries and cultures nonfiction, resource books, etc.)
      - General indicator of book level displayed on cover of book (e. g. red dot = difficult for the grade level, yellow dot = on grade level, green dot = easy for the grade level)
      - Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
      - Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g. books labeled with "bio" go in the "Biography" bin which is also labeled "bio")
      - Additional print materials (e. g. readers' theater scripts, magazines, print outs of online articles etc.)
  - o Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
    - ▪ Variety of graphic organizers related to comprehension
    - ▪ Writing prompts, comprehension task cards and/or question cards at variety of levels (e. g. create an ad for.., compare and contrast two characters, describe the most important event, etc.)
    - ▪ Examples of familiar writing forms (e.g. friendly letter, rhyming, Haiku, song with verse/chorus, etc.)
    - ▪ Dictionaries and other word source books

- Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper type) and resources
- o Media/Technology
  - Display of program choices and online resources
  - Student recording/response sheets (e. g. write three facts after reading a digital nonfiction book, identify two gifts that the main character in this fiction story would enjoy and explain your choices)
- o Word Work/Phonics
  - Word work (e.g. word sorts, word cognate activities)
  - Multi-syllabic word activities (e.g. prefixes/suffixes, Greek and Latin word parts)
  - Access to the word wall
- o Vocabulary
  - Activities involving discussion
  - Word and sentence sorting activities
  - Synonym and antonym activities
  - Sequencing sentences or paragraphs
  - Review activities and games

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 7

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Read Aloud

The teacher:

• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension.
• Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text.
• Builds vocabulary.
• Supports oral language.
• Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud.
• Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Includes all students.
• Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.
• May infuse technology into the lesson.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
	• Explicit reading instruction
	• Models of fluent reading such as interactive read alouds with Transactional Strategy Instruction (think aloud)
	• Mini lessons with direct explanation
	• Interactive reading
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Collaboration and discussion
	• Developmental stages of reading
	  1. Pre-reading
	  2. initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction

Shared/Whole Group Reading with Explicit Instruction

The teacher:

- Models the use of instructional and strategic reading strategies. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
- Uses grade level text.
- Includes all students with a balance of fiction and non-fiction text.
- Differentiates the lesson as needed.
	- Differentiation
	- Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
	- Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

	Modes (Tompkins, 2010; Cooper, 2003; Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
	- Modeled reading
	- Shared reading
	- Interactive reading
	- Explicit small group reading instruction
	- Independent reading

	Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
	- Fluency
	  1. Repeated reading
	  2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
	  3. Listen to models of fluent reading
	- Vocabulary
	  1. Context clues
	  2. Word parts/affixes
	  3. Vocabulary graphic organizers
	  4. Vocabulary flash cards
	  5. Dictionaries and other reference aids
	- Comprehension
	  1. Activate background knowledge
	  2. Make connections to self, text, world
	  3. Answer and generate questions
	  4. Predict/Infer
	  5. Determine importance
	  6. Summarize
	  7. Monitor
	  8. Visualize

Daily Grade 7 Reading Block	60-Minute Instructional Block
Focus Reading to Learn	Instructional Grouping: Small Group (45 minutes) Part 2: Small Group Reading and Literacy Work Stations NOTE: Teachers are expected to adhere to this time allotment; however, professional judgment can be used to deviate at times based on student need and how familiar students are with a skill or strategy (e.g. Additional time may be necessary when introducing a new concept).

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 7

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction The teacher (including special education teachers):

 • Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
 • Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
 • Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonics/word recognition, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
 • Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
 • Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

 Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations) The teacher (including special education teachers):

 • Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
 • Holds students accountable for the learning.
 • Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)

	 • Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	    1. Reading process
	    2. Phonics (Word Recognition)
	    3. Fluency
	    4. Vocabulary
	    5. Comprehension
	 • Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups
	 • Developmental stages of reading
	    1. Pre-reading
	    2. Initial Reading
	    3. Confirmation and Fluency
	    4. Reading for New Learning
	    5. Multiple Viewpoints
	    6. Construction and Reconstruction
	 • Differentiation
	 • Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	 • Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to practice identified instructional reading goals based on

students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)

Modes (Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
- Explicit small group reading instruction
- Independent reading

Components/Strategies (Harvey and Goudvis, 2007; Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
- Phonics/word recognition
    1. Phonic analysis
    2. Decoding by Analogy
    3. Syllabic analysis
    4. Morphemic analysis
- Fluency
    1. Repeated reading
    2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
    3. Listen to models of fluent reading

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies for Grade 7
Sharing and Assessment The teacher: • Has the whole group meet to revisit the focus of the original skill lesson and share ideas and learning through oral discussion and presentation and/or through the use of technology. • Integrates listening, speaking, presentation and technology skills into the sharing session.	Approaches (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Collaboration and discussion • Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading • Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions Modes (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) • Interactive discussions/learning conversations Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; Project CRISS, 2007) • Whole group discussions • Paired or small group discussions

Foci: Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources

Writing Standards By the end of grade 7 students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Write arguments in which they: a. Introduce a claim about a topic or issue, acknowledge alternate or opposing claims, and organize the reasons and evidence logically to support the claim. b. Support the claim with logical reasoning and detailed, relevant evidence that demonstrates a comprehensive understanding of the topic. c. Use words, phrases, and clauses to convey the relationships among the claims, reasons, and evidence. d. Sustain an objective style and tone. e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows logically from the argument. 2. Write informative/explanatory texts in which they: a. Introduce and establish a topic that provides a sense of what is to follow and organize the information. b. Develop the topic with relevant and accurate facts, definitions, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples. c. Use appropriate links and varied sentence structures to create cohesion and clarify ideas. d. Use precise language and sustain an objective style appropriate for a reader seeking information. e. Provide a conclusion that follows logically from the information or explanation presented. 3. Write narratives in which they: a. Engage and orient the reader by establishing a context and point of view, and purposefully organize a sequence of events or experiences. b. Develop narrative elements (e.g., setting, conflict, complex characters) with relevant and specific sensory details. c. Use a variety of techniques to convey sequence, shift from one time frame or setting to another and/or show the relationships among events or experiences. d. Choose words and phrases to develop the events, experiences, and idea precisely and to create mood. e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from the events, experiences, or ideas. Production and Distribution of Writing	• Entrance Paper – Diagnostic • Descriptive Writing • Narrative Writing • Timed, On-Demand Writing (fall and spring) • Writing about reading/media • Creative Writing • Business/Real-world Writing • Letters – Formal and Informal, including • Research Writing with proper citation and use of appropriate visuals, including charts and graphs • Exit Paper Common assessment tools: • MPS Writing Rubrics • MPS Research Rubrics Other assessment evidence: • Student questions • Student comments • Illustrations and other visuals • Observations during whole group, small group,	• Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Equipment/tools for modeling and sharing writing • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Word walls and other resources such as picture/word dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Technology • Visuals and other media • Reading A-Z/RAZ Kids • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • MY Access! • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources Write Source (student edition) Writing Process pp. 5-69 Traits of Writing pp. 33-44, 49 Descriptive Writing pp. 71-91, p. 554 Narrative Writing pp. 93-155, p. 554

4. Produce writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience (Grade-specific expectations for writing types are defined in Standards 1-3 above.)

5. With some guidance and support from peers and adults, strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach after rethinking how well questions of purpose have been addressed.

6. Use technology, including the Internet, to produce, publish, and interact with others about writing, including presenting and citing information in a digital format.

Research to Build Knowledge

7. Perform short, focused research projects in response to a question and generate additional related and focused questions for further research and investigation.

8. Gather relevant information from multiple print and digital sources using search terms effectively; assess the creditability and accuracy of each source; and quote or paraphrase the data and conclusions of others, avoiding plagiarism and following a standard format for citation.

9. Write in response to literary or informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned.

a. Apply grade 7 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Analyze a specific case in which a modern work of fiction draws on patterns of events or character types found in traditional literature (e.g., the hero, the quest).

Range of Writing

10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Speaking and Listening Standards

By the end of grade 7, students will:

Comprehension and Collaboration:

1. Initiate and engage in group discussion on grade 7 topics, texts, and issues being studied in class.

a. Prepare for discussions by completing reading or conducting research and explicitly draw on that material in discussions.

b. Cooperate with peers to set clear goals and deadlines.

c. Advance a discussion by asking questions, responding precisely, and sharing factual knowledge and observations.

d. Ensure a hearing for the range of positions on an issue.

e. Take the views of others into account and, when warranted, modify their own views in light of the evidence presented.

2. Determine the main ideas and supporting elements presented in oral, visual, or multimodal formats and explain how the information clarifies and contributes to an understanding of a topic or issue under study.

3. Evaluate a speaker's or presenter's reasoning and claims as well as the degree to

Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas
4. Present claims and findings with relevant and specific descriptions, facts, and examples, and use appropriate eye contact, adequate volume, and clear pronunciation.
5. Incorporate digital media and visual displays of data when helpful and in a manner that strengthens the presentation.
6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating a command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.

Language Standards
By the end of grade 7, students will:

Conventions in Writing and Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar and usage.
a. Explain the function of phrases and clauses in general and their function in specific sentences.
b. Choose among simple, compound, complex, and compound-complex sentences to signal differing relationships among ideas.
c. Place phrases and clauses within a sentence, avoiding misplaced and dangling modifiers. *
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
a. Use a comma before a coordinating conjunction in a compound sentence.
b. Spell correctly.
3. Make effective language choices.
a. Choose words and phrase that express ideas concisely, eliminating wordiness and redundancy.*
Conventions standards noted with an asterisk () need to be revisited by students in subsequent grades as their writing and speaking grows in sophistication.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine word meanings (based on grade 7 reading).
a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., sentence and paragraph context, the organizational pattern of the text); using syntactic clues (e.g., the word's position or function in the sentence); analyzing the word's sounds, spelling, and meaningful parts; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital.
b. Use a known root as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word (e.g*., belligerent, bellicose, rebel*).
c. Verify the preliminary determination of a word's meaning (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or looking up the word in a dictionary).
d. Interpret various figures of speech (e.g., allegory) relevant to particular texts.
5. Understand word relationships.
a. Trace the network of uses and meanings different words have and the

Block Structure and Instructional Methods Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction, Literacy Work Stations, and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies
Introduction (5 minutes) Goal = Connect The teacher will: • Use student-friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions, and/or set the purpose of the lesson. Whole Group Writing with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes) Goal = Build The teacher will: • Introduce the topic of the mini-lesson. • Explain the goal of lesson (apply aspects of workshop procedures, literary concepts, writing skills or writing strategies). Topics may include: writing enticing leads, sequencing, perspective, point of view, use of figurative language, memoir, pacing, sentence variety, stylistic effect of conventions, formal language) • Use mentor texts to share example(s) to illustrate aspect of writers' craft in use. • Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer. • Ask students to discuss with a partner; teacher will listen for understanding. • Help students create a poster and/or record content of lesson in writer's notebook. • Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the mini lesson in their writing. • Check status of the class: ask students to first think individually then discuss via whole group or partner share	Best Practices in Writing (Zemelman, Daniels, and Hyde, 2005; Graham, MacArthur, and Fitzgerald (eds.), 2007; MPS and Milwaukee Writing Project, 2008) • Writers' Workshop • Writing Process • Writing Strategies • Six Traits of Effective Writing • Authentic Forms • Writing-Reading Connection • Effective Feedback • Teacher as Writer Approaches (Graham and Perin, 2007) • Writing Strategies • Summarization • Collaborative Writing • Specific Product Goals • Word Processing • Sentence Combining • Prewriting • Inquiry Activities • Process Writing Approach • Study of Models • Writing for Content Areas Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Instruction (Hall, Strangman, and Meyer; 2003); Differentiation (Tomlinson, 1999) • Content • Process • Product • Writing Circles (Vopat, 2009) • Inquiry Circles (Harvey and Daniels, 2009) Six Traits of Effective Writing (Spandel, 2009) ● Ideas, Organization, Voice, Word Choice, Sentence Fluency and Variety, and Conventions

Goal = Reach

The teacher will:

- Set up writing/language arts work stations designed to practice writers' craft in small, purposefully selected groups.
- Integrate other language arts, including speaking, listening, discussing, using language, creating and evaluating media, and researching into design of activities.
- Meet with small flexible groups of students who exhibit similar needs.
- Employ guided writing by reviewing structured lesson and supervising as students write.
- Use interactive writing, asking students to share the pen while they apply the focus of the lesson and talk about elements of writers' craft, including conventions.
- Allow time for independent writing. Students write for an extended period of time to practice the craft of writing and to apply the appropriate skills, strategies from modeled writing, mentor texts, and/or mini-lessons.
- Arrange for topics to include a variety of self-selected and assigned. Students will write over different amounts of time and in a variety of genres, written for various purposes and audiences.
- Ensure students incorporate and practice research skills as they write.
- Integrate technology into independent practice time so students can practice their writing skills as they access, plan, draft, and/or publish writing.
- Conference with students. Document progress.
- Provide meaningful, accurate, timely, and specific feedback while rotating among students.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Gather all members of the class to meet. Revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

Students in grade seven will review and enhance the following skills that writers use (Tomkins, 2010)
- Structuring Skills
- Mechanical Skills
- Language Skills
- Reference Skills
- Computer Skills

Modes (Cooper, 2003)
- Write Aloud [Modeled] Writing
- Shared Writing
- Guided Writing
- Interactive Writing (Tompkins, 2008)
- Collaborative/Cooperative Writing
- Independent Writing

Categories of Strategies (Tompkins, 2010)
- Generating
- Organizing
- Visualizing
- Monitoring
- Playing with Language
- Revising
- Proofreading
- Evaluating

In grades 4 and above students will pay particular attention to the purposeful revision of sentences. Teachers will employ Killgallon's (1998) Four Types of Sentence Composing to help student create increasingly sophisticated and fluent sentences. The four types are:
- Sentence Unscrambling
- Sentence Imitating
- Sentence Combining
- Sentence Expanding

Writing Process (Graves, 1994)
- Prewriting
- Drafting
- Revising
- Editing
- Publishing
- Self assessment, goal setting, and use of portfolios (Stires, 1991)

- Alternate curriculum (Unique Learning System by News-2-You) used by special education teachers daily for 90 minutes (cumulatively) for students with comprehensive disabilities. (Also see Appendix.)
- Replacement curriculum (Voyager/SoprisWest's Language!) used by special education teachers daily for 90 minutes for qualified students with disabilities. (Also see Appendix.)

NOTE: The International Newcomer Progam for non English speaking students will begin in 2010-2011. (Also, see Appendix.)

Core Literacy Curriculum:
Grade 8

MILWAUKEE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 8
Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 8 Classroom Environment

Organization of Classroom
- Classroom provides for large and small group instruction
- Classroom provides access to literacy material for all students
- Materials are easily accessible, stored on open shelves or other storage units, for independent selection
- Labeling is used to encourage students to return materials to their correct locations (e. g. matching word labels on both containers and shelves)
- Classroom is neat, organized and allows students to function with independence and confidence (e. g. daily schedule with times next to a clock, student job assignments posted, homework basket labeled, etc.)

Environmental Print
- Environmental print is displayed at students' eye level and easily accessible
- Environmental print documents the current instructional emphases in the classroom and is used daily (e. g. lists, graphic organizers, classroom rules/routines)
- Environmental print is of adequate size to be seen across the classroom
- Environmental print is culturally responsive (e. g. list of foods includes common foods for the students in the classroom, etc.)
- Includes student-friendly lesson objective(s) with visuals for ELL support and rubrics with exemplars
- Student work is displayed with feedback and provides evidence of differentiation

Word Wall
- Words are arranged from A to Z across a significant wall space
- Words are in full view of students (not covered or obstructed)
- Print is of adequate size to be seen across the room

  NOTE: If room is used for multiple subjects or space is limited, have students use portable individualized word walls.

- Visual cues for ELL support
- Word wall includes:
  o Commonly misspelled words (e. g. because, calendar, separate, etc.)
  o Vocabulary words with subject cues (e. g. blue cards indicate math words)

- o Support for vowel cluster sounds (e. g. meat and bread with "ea" part highlighted)
- o Multiple meaning words supported for ELL (e.g. bat/baseball and bat/animal)
- o Support for homophones (e. g. stair/stare, etc.)
- o Support for prefixes/suffixes (e. g. pre-, -anti ,-tion, -ly, etc.)
- o Support for Greek and Latin word parts (e. g. cycl = circular, photo = light, phono = sound, etc.)
- Word wall changes as new words are introduced and clearly supports the core curriculum

Literacy Work Stations
- Stations are clearly identified with signs (e. g. hanging signs, portable table tent signs)
- Station assignments are displayed for students each day (e. g. rotation chart)
- Expectations for the station are displayed with visual cues for ELL support
- Stations are well equipped with age-appropriate materials that are engaging
- The following five stations are present at minimum:
  - o Independent Reading with Classroom Library
    - Classroom Library
      - Adequate number of books (recommendation is a total of 15 – 20 for each student in the room)
      - Balance of fiction/nonfiction
      - Wide selection of multicultural literature
      - Books arranged in bins or open boxes by topics (e.g. sports fiction, friendship fiction, animals nonfiction, countries and cultures nonfiction, resource books, etc.)
      - General indicator of book level displayed on cover of book (e. g. red dot = difficult for the grade level, yellow dot = on grade level, green dot = easy for the grade level)
      - Books displayed facing forward with enough space to browse
      - Labeling method to return books to correct bins/boxes (e.g. books labeled with "bio" go in the "Biography" bin which is also labeled "bio")
      - Additional print materials (e. g. readers' theater scripts, magazines, print outs of online articles etc.)
  - o Independent Writing (to support writing instruction and for responding to reading)
    - Variety of graphic organizers related to comprehension
    - Writing prompts, comprehension task cards and/or question cards at variety of levels (e. g. create an ad for.., compare and contrast two characters, describe the most important event, etc.)
    - Examples of familiar writing forms (e.g. friendly letter, rhyming, Haiku, song with verse/chorus, etc.)
    - Dictionaries and other word source books

- Variety of writing/drawing tools, materials (paper type) and resources
  - o Media/Technology
    - Display of program choices and online resources
    - Student recording/response sheets (e. g. write three facts after reading a digital nonfiction book, identify two gifts that the main character in this fiction story would enjoy and explain your choices)
  - o Word Work/Phonics
    - Word work (e.g. word sorts, word cognate activities)
    - Multi-syllabic word activities (e.g. prefixes/suffixes, Greek and Latin word parts)
    - Access to the word wall
  - o Vocabulary
    - Activities involving discussion
    - Word and sentence sorting activities
    - Synonym and antonym activities
    - Sequencing sentences or paragraphs
    - Review activities and games

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 8

Introduction

The teacher:

• Uses student friendly language to communicate big ideas, essential questions and/or purpose of the lesson.
• Begins the day with a combination of shared reading and introduction of new theme vocabulary.
• Activates and builds background knowledge.

Read Aloud

The teacher:

• Models fluent reading.
• Uses interactive reading techniques through the Direct Explanation approach to explicitly explain the reasoning and mental processes involved in successful reading comprehension.
• Uses strategies that connect personal stories to engage all learners in the central idea of the text.
• Builds vocabulary.
• Supports oral language.
• Shares meta-cognitive strategies with students through the use of Transactional Strategy Instruction (think alouds) during the read aloud.
• Processes a piece of text with students. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
• Includes all students.
• Reads a balance of fiction and non-fiction texts that are above grade level.
• May infuse technology into the lesson.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000;; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
	• Explicit reading instruction
	• Models of fluent reading such as interactive read alouds with Transactional Strategy Instruction (think aloud)
	• Mini lessons with direct explanation
	• Interactive reading
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Collaboration and discussion
	• Developmental stages of reading
	  7. Pre-reading
	  8. Initial Reading
	  9. Confirmation and Fluency
	  10. Reading for New Learning
	  11. Multiple Viewpoints
	  12. Construction and Reconstruction

Shared/Whole Group Reading with Explicit Instruction

The teacher:

- Models the use of instructional and strategic reading strategies. (In time, students read and share their thinking.)
- Uses grade level text.
- Includes all students with a balance of fiction and non-fiction text.
- Differentiates the lesson as needed.
	- Differentiation
	- Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
	- Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

	Modes (Tompkins, 2010; Cooper, 2003; Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
	- Modeled reading
	- Shared reading
	- Interactive reading
	- Explicit small group reading instruction
	- Independent reading

	Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
	- Fluency
	  1. Repeated reading
	  2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
	  3. Listen to models of fluent reading
	- Vocabulary
	  1. Context clues
	  2. Word parts/affixes
	  3. Vocabulary graphic organizers
	  4. Vocabulary flash cards
	  5. Dictionaries and other reference aids
	- Comprehension
	  1. Activate background knowledge
	  2. Make connections to self, text, world
	  3. Answer and generate questions
	  4. Predict/Infer
	  5. Determine importance
	  6. Summarize
	  7. Monitor
	  8. Visualize

Daily Grade 8 Reading Block	60-Minute Instructional Block
Focus Reading to Learn	Instructional Grouping: Small Group (45 minutes) Part 2: Small Group Reading and Literacy Work Stations NOTE: Teachers are expected to adhere to this time allotment; however, professional judgment can be used to deviate at times based on student need and how familiar students are with a skill or strategy (e.g. Additional time may be necessary when introducing a new concept).

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Components, and Strategies for Grade 8

Explicit Small Group Reading Instruction The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Organizes students in small groups based upon instructional goals.
• Differentiates instruction based on ongoing assessment.
• Provides explicit instruction to address students' individual learning needs in the areas of phonics/word recognition, oral language development, vocabulary and comprehension.
• Groups and regroups students in small flexible groups, with varying intensity and frequency, based on students' learning needs in specific areas.
• Uses text at students' instructional reading levels to provide effective, specific and timely feedback.

Independent Practice (Literacy Work Stations) The teacher (including special education teachers):

• Has students work in literacy work stations to practice strategies and skills learned in small or whole group lessons in independent level texts.
• Holds students accountable for the learning.
• Integrates technology and library/media into independent practice time so students can practice their reading skills, research information, demonstrate an understanding of reading skills and concepts and/or reflect on their thinking.
	Approaches (CORE, 2000; Dorn, 2005; National Reading Panel, 2000; Tompkins, 2010; Chall, 1983; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)

	• Explicit small group reading instruction and practice based on instructional goals in identified areas of reading:
	  1. Reading process
	  2. Phonics (Word Recognition)
	  3. Fluency
	  4. Vocabulary
	  5. Comprehension
	• Collaboration and discussion in small flexible groups
	• Developmental stages of reading
	  1. Pre-reading
	  2. initial Reading
	  3. Confirmation and Fluency
	  4. Reading for New Learning
	  5. Multiple Viewpoints
	  6. Construction and Reconstruction
	• Differentiation
	• Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading
	• Literacy work stations or work spaces for independent and small group work that include opportunities to practice identified instructional reading goals based on

students needs; includes opportunities for oral language (fluency/performance), listening, discussion, comprehension, research and response to literature)

1. Independent Reading with Classroom Library
2. Independent Writing for responding to reading
3. Media/Technology
4. Word Work/Phonics
5. Vocabulary

- Diverse texts with a balance of literature and informational text
- Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions

Modes (Dorn, 2005; CORE, 2000)
- Explicit small group reading instruction
- Independent reading

Components/Strategies (Harvey and Goudvis, 2007; Tompkins, 2010; National Institute for Literacy, 2007; Time to Act, 2010)
- Phonics/word recognition
  1. Phonic analysis
  2. Decoding by Analogy
  3. Syllabic analysis
  4. Morphemic analysis
- Fluency
  1. Repeated reading
  2. Chunking words into meaningful phrases
  3. Listen to models of fluent reading
- Vocabulary
  1. Context clues
  2. Word parts/affixes
  3. Vocabulary graphic organizers
  4. Vocabulary flash cards
  5. Dictionaries and other reference aids
- Comprehension
  1. Activate background knowledge
  2. Make connections to self, text, world

Description of Instructional Best Practices	Universal Approaches, Modes, Skills, and Strategies for Grade 8
Sharing and Assessment The teacher: - Has the whole group meet to revisit the focus of the original skill lesson and share ideas and learning through oral discussion and presentation and/or through the use of technology. - Integrates listening, speaking, presentation and technology skills into the sharing session.	Approaches (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) - Collaboration and discussion - Integration of literacy skills: oral/spoken, written and visual language (including technology) used to interact with and respond to the reading - Assessment used to monitor student progress and make instructional decisions Modes (Gambrell, 1996; Raphel, et. al., 1996; Alvermann, Dillon and O'Brien, 1987) - Interactive discussions/learning conversations Components/Strategies (Tompkins, 2010; Project CRISS, 2007) - Whole group discussions - Paired or small group discussions

Foci: Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Writing Standards By the end of grade 8 students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Write arguments in which they: a. Introduce a claim about a topic or issue, distinguish it from alternate or opposing claims, and organize the reasons and evidence logically to support the claim. b. Support the claim with logical reasoning and detailed and relevant evidence from credible sources to demonstrate a comprehensive understanding of the topic. c. Use words, phrases, and clauses to make clear the relationships among claims, reasons, counterclaims, and evidence. d. Sustain an objective style and tone. e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows logically from the argument. 2. Write informative/explanatory texts in which they: a. Introduce and establish a topic and organize information under broader concepts or categories. b. Develop the topic with well-chosen, relevant, and accurate facts, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples. c. Use varied links and sentence structures to create cohesion and clarify information and ideas. d. Use precise language and domain-specific and technical wording (when appropriate) and sustain a formal, objective style appropriate for a reader seeking information. e. Provide a conclusion that follows logically from the information or explanation presented. 2. Write narratives in which they: a. Engage and orient the reader by establishing a context and point of view, and purposefully organize a progression of events or experiences. b. Develop narrative elements (e.g., setting, plot, event sequence, complex characters) with well-chosen, relevant, and specific sensory details. c. Use a variety of techniques to convey sequence in multiple storylines, shift from one time frame or setting to another, and/or show the relationships among events, experiences, and ideas precisely and to create mood. e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from the events, experiences, or ideas. Production and Distribution of Writing 4. Produce writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate	• Entrance Paper – Diagnostic • Descriptive Writing • Narrative Writing • Timed, On-Demand Writing (fall and spring) • Writing about reading/media • Creative Writing • Business/Real-world Writing • High School Entrance Paper with Goals related to high school • Letters – Formal and Informal, including letter/message of complaint • Research Project with appropriate use of visuals and technology • Exit Paper Common assessment tools: • MPS Writing Rubrics • MPS Research Rubrics	• Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Equipment/tools for modeling and sharing writing • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Word walls and other resources such as picture/word dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Technology • Visuals and other media • Reading A-Z/RAZ Kids • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • MY Access! • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources Write Source (student edition) Writing Process pp. 11-65

to task, purpose, and audience (Grade-specific expectations for writing types are defined in Standards 1-3 above.)

5. With some guidance and support from peers and adults, strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach after rethinking how well questions of purpose and context have been addressed.

6. Use technology, including the Internet, to present and cite information effectively in a digital format, including when publishing and responding to writing.

Research to Build Knowledge

7. Perform short, focused research projects in response to a question and generate additional related questions that allow for multiple avenues of exploration.

8. Gather relevant information from multiple print and digital sources using advanced search features; assess the credibility and accuracy of each source; and quote or paraphrase the evidence, avoiding plagiarism and following a standard format for citation.

9. Write in response to literary or informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned:

a. Apply grade 8 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Compare a fictional portrayal of a time from the same period as a means of understanding how authors use or alter history").

b. Apply grade 8 reading standards to literary nonfiction (e.g., "Evaluate an argument's claims and reasoning as well as the degree to which evidence supports each claim").

Range of Writing

10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Speaking and Listening Standards
By the end of grade 8, students will:

Comprehension and Collaboration:

1. Initiate and engage actively in group discussions on grade 8 topics, texts, and issues being studied in class.

a. Prepare for discussions by completing reading or conducting research and explicitly draw on that material in discussions.

b. Cooperate with peers to set clear goals and deadlines.

c. Advance a discussion by asking questions, responding precisely, and sharing factual knowledge and observations supported by credible evidence.

d. Ensure a hearing for the range of positions on an issue.

e. Qualify or justify, when warranted, their own thinking after listening to others' questions or accounts of the evidence.

2. Determine the purpose of and perspectives represented in oral, visual, or multimodal formats and evaluate whether the information is laden with social, commercial, or political motives.

3. Assess the truth of a speaker's or presenter's premises and the validity of his or her conclusions.

Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas

4. Present claims and findings with relevant evidence that is accessible and verifiable to listeners, and use appropriate eye contact, adequate volume, and clear pronunciation.

5. Incorporate digital media and visual displays of data when helpful and in a manner that strengthens the presentation. 6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating a command of formal English when indicated or appropriate. (See "Conventions" in Language for specific demands.) Language Standards By the end of grade 8, students will: Conventions in Writing and Speaking 1. Observe conventions of grammar and usage. a. Form and use verbs in active and passive voice. b. Form and use verbs in the indicative, imperative, interrogative, conditional, and subjunctive moods. c. Recognize and correct inappropriate shifts in verb voice and mood.* Conventions standards noted with an asterisk () need to be revisited by students in subsequent grades as their writing and speaking grows in sophistication. 2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling. a. Use a comma to separate coordinate adjectives (e.g., It was a fascinating, enjoyable movie but not he wore an old [,] green shirt). b. Use a comma, ellipses, or dash to indicate a pause or break. c. Spell correctly. 3. Make effective language choices. a. Use verbs in the active and passive voice and in the conditional and subjunctive moods to achieve effects (e.g., emphasizing the actor or the action; expressing uncertainty or describing a state contrary to fact). Vocabulary Acquisition and Use 4. Determine word meanings (based on grade 8 reading). a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., sentence and paragraph context, the organizational pattern of the text); using syntactic clues (e.g., the word's position or function in the sentence); analyzing the word's sounds, spelling, and meaningful parts; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital. b. Use a known root as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word (e.g., precede, recede, secede). c. Verify the preliminary determination of a word's meaning (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or looking up the word in a dictionary). d. Interpret various figures of speech (e.g., verbal irony, puns) relevant to particular texts. 5. Understand word relationships. a. Trace the network of uses and meanings different words have and the interrelationships among these meanings and uses. b. Distinguish a word from other words with similar denotations but different connotations. c. Use grade-appropriate academic vocabulary and English language arts-specific words and phrases taught directly and gained through reading and responding to texts.	• Technology Rubrics • Research Conventions Rubrics Language: Accurate use of conventions in writing and speaking • MPS Writing Rubrics – Conventions Language: Appropriate use of on-level vocabulary • MPS Language Rubrics	702-748 Sentences pp. 42-43, 122-123, 186-187, 248-249, 310-311, 499-522, 570, 571, 690-700 Capitalization pp. 372, 373, 618-626 Active Voice pp. 41, 726.1 Interrogative Pronoun p. 706.1 Spelling pp. 645-651 Shift in Verb Tense p. 482 Comma pp. 314, 582-590 Adjectives pp. 79, 486-489, 732, 734 Ellipses p. 614 Dash p. 612 Mood pp. 307, 351 Vocabulary Building Techniques pp. 562 Improving Vocabulary 562-569 Word Choice pp. 12, 20, 34, 41 Etymology pp. 372, 373 Word Order pp. 509, 570, 694.2 Roots pp. 562, 567-569 Reference Materials pp. 370-373 Dictionary Use pp. 372-373 Denotation p. 560 Connotation pp. 106, 121, 488, 560 Write Source Skills Book Assessment Book Write Source Interactive Writing Skills CD-Rom Daily Language Workouts http://www.greatsource.com/iwrite/index.html

Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 9 Classroom Environment

- Organized for whole and small group instruction and independent work
- Classroom arrangement emphasizes student interactions, in addition to teacher-directed interactions
- Teacher encourages productive, accountable talk by having areas and times available for students to work together
- Smooth efficient transitions between activities
- All students have access to district-adopted resources
- Classroom library is well-stocked with age-appropriate fiction and nonfiction materials written on a variety of reading levels
- Books are effectively sorted and labeled so students can explain, maintain, and use library independenttly. Books are arranged attractively and invitingly
- Display of recent student work/projects with accompanying written explanation
- Display of signs, labels for each item and quotations
- Posted directions for activities or use of equipment
- Materials/tools for recording language, including pencils, pens, markers, paper, charts, logs, writers' notebooks, books, computers, etc.
- Work stations or space for reading, writing, researching, and listening activities
- Reference materials related to literature or content area units/topics
- Audiovisual/technology equipment and materials available for student use

English Language Arts Instructional Block - Grade 9
Foci: Reading, Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.
Reading Standards By the end of grade 9 students will: Literature: Key Ideas and Details 1. Cite the evidence in the text that most strongly supports a specific analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text. 2. Analyze in detail the development and refinement of a theme or central idea in a text, including how it emerges and how it is shaped and refined by specific details. 3. Analyze how complex characters, including those with conflicting motivations or divided loyalties, develop over the course of a text, interact with other characters, and advance the plot or develop the theme. Literature: Craft and Structure 4. Evaluate how an author's use of language, including formality of diction, shapes meaning and tone in a text (e.g., how the language evokes a sense of time and place, how it sets a formal and informal tone). 5. Analyze how an author structures a text, orders events within it (e.g., parallel plots), and manipulates time (e.g., pacing) to create mystery, tension, or surprise. 6. Analyze a case in which the author's work takes a position or stance on a social issue or other topic and describe how the author carries out that purpose. Literature: Integration of Knowledge and Ideas 7. Compare and contrast the representation of a subject or a key scene in two different artistic mediums (e.g., Auden's "Musee de Beaux Arts" and Breughel's Landscape with the Fall of Icarus). 8. (Not applicable to literature) 9. Analyze a wide range nineteenth and early-twentieth-century foundational works of American literature, comparing and contrasting approaches to similar ideas or themes in two or more texts from the same period. Literature: Range and Level of Text Complexity 10. Read literature independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 9-10 complexity band; read texts at the high end of the range with scaffolding as needed.	Common Course Evidence By the end of Grade 9(two semesters) students will create a portfolio of proficient work, including: ➢ Letter/message of Request ➢ Letter/message of Complaint ➢ Research Project ➢ Evidence of Collaboration / Small Group Discussion ➢ Media Product ➢ Character Sketch ➢ Creative Product (writing or other media) ➢ Reading/Literature Analysis (using media) ➢ Narrative Writing ➢ Persuasive Writing ➢ Descriptive Writing ➢ Expository Writing ➢ Persuasive Writing ➢ Reflective Writing  Students will employ technology to access, organize, create, revise, and publish works*	• District-adopted resources (including Prentice Hall – Gold) • Selected variety of novels (see English 9 Common Course Plan for details) • Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Writing resources such as dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Visuals and other media • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources Reading Strategies/Approaches:

Informational Text: Key Ideas and Details	Criteria for Evidence of Effective Reading Abilities	● Question-Answer-Relationships (QAR) (Raphael & McKinney, 1983; Raphael & Wonnacott, 1985; Raphael, Highfield & Au, 2006)

Informational Text: Key Ideas and Details

1. Cite evidence in the text that most strongly supports a specific analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.

2. Analyze in detail the development and refinement of a central idea in a text, including how it emerges and is shaped and refined by specific details.

3. Analyze the interactions between and among ideas and events, including how ideas and events influence one another.

Informational Text: Craft and Structure

4. Evaluate how an author's use of language, including formality and type of diction, shapes meaning and tone in a text (e.g., the formality of a court opinion or a newspaper).

5. Evaluate the effectiveness of the structure an author uses in his or her exposition or argument, including whether the structure makes points clear, convincing, and engaging.

6. Analyze documents of historical and literary significance, including foundational U.S. documents (e.g., the Declaration of Independence, the Preamble to the Constitution, the Bill of Rights) for their premises, purposes, and structure.

Informational Text: Integration of Knowledge and Ideas

7. Synthesize information presented in different formats (e.g., text, video, multimedia) to generate a coherent understanding of an issue.

8. Assess the truth of an argument's explicit and implicit premises by determining whether the evidence presented in the text justifies the conclusions.

9. Analyze how authors argue with or otherwise respond to one another's ideas or accounts of key events, evaluating the strength of each author's interpretation.

Informational Text: Range of Level of Text Complexity

10. Read informational text independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 9-10 text complexity band; read texts at the high end of the range with scaffolding as needed.

Criteria for Evidence of Effective Reading Abilities
(Adapted from Burke, 1999)

- Demonstrates ability to fluently navigate all aspects of the text
- Shows a confident understanding of authorial intent
- Accurately and simultaneously processes multiple layers and different meanings of text
- Pays extra attention that allows attention to finer distinctions or larger context of the work (e.g., relation of this text to other writers or different eras)
- Monitors progress of understanding and employs effective strategies to fill in gaps
- Self-assesses and possesses the ability to accurately articulate a picture of current performance as a reader
- Knows what to do to improve

Other Reading Evidence:

- Independent reading record/ log
- Rubric (see criteria above)
- Checklist
- Teacher observation with anecdotal notes
- Cloze passages
- CABS
- Story map
- Response to reading
- Graphic organizer
- Independent reading log

Writing Standards	Writing:	Writing Approaches and Strategies (Graham and Perin, 2007)

Writing Standards
By the end of grade 9 students will:

Text Types and Purposes
1. Write arguments which they:
 a. Introduce a precise claim, distinguish it from alternate or opposing claims, and provide an organization that establishes clear relationships among the claim, reasons, and evidence.
 b. Develop a claim and counterclaim fairly, supplying evidence for each, while pointing out the strengths of their own claim and the weaknesses of the counterclaim.
 c. Use precise words, phrases, and clauses to make clear the relationship between claims and reasons, between reasons and evidence, and between claims and counterclaims.
 d. Sustain an objective style and tone while attending to the norms and conventions of the specific discipline as well as the audience's knowledge of the issue.
 e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows logically from the argument and offers a reflection or recommendation.
2. Write informative/explanatory texts in which they:
 a. Introduce a topic and organize information under broader concepts and categories to make clear the connections and distinctions between key ideas appropriate to the purposes; include formatting (e.g., headings) and graphics (e.g., figures, tables) when useful to clarify ideas.
 b. Develop a complex topic through well-chosen, relevant, and sufficient facts, concrete details, quotations, extended definitions, or other information and examples.
 c. Use varied transitions and sentence structures to create cohesion, clarify information and ideas, and link major sections in the text.
 d. Use precise language and domain-specific and technical wording (when appropriate) to manage the complexity of the topic in a style that responds to the specific disciplines and context as well as the expertise of likely readers.
 e. Provide a conclusion that follows logically form the information or explanation provided and articulates the implications or significance of the topic.
3. Write narratives in which they:
 a. Engage the reader by establishing a problem, situation, or observation and purposefully organize a progression of events or experiences.
 b. Develop narrative elements (e.g., setting, event sequence, complex characters) with well-chosen, revealing details.
 c. Use a variety of techniques to sequence events so that they build on one another to create coherent whole.
 d. Use precise language to develop a picture of how the events, experiences, and ideas emerge and unfold.
 e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from what is experienced, observed, or resolved over the course of the narrative.

Production and Distribution of Writing
4. Produce writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience. (Grade-specific expectations for this standard are defined in Standard 1-3 above).
5. Strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach, focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific task and context.

Students in grade nine will review and enhance the following skills that writers use (Tomkins, 2010)
● Structuring Skills
● Mechanical Skills
● Language Skills
● Reference Skills
● Computer Skills

Focus on Effective Sentence Construction and Revision
Students will pay particular attention to the purposeful revision of sentences. Teachers will employ Killgallon's (1998) Four Types of Sentence Composing to help student create increasingly sophisticated and fluent sentences. The four types are:
● Sentence Unscrambling
● Sentence Imitating
● Sentence Combining
● Sentence Expanding

6. Use technology, including the Internet, to produce, publish, and collaborate on a shared writing product, incorporating diverse and sometimes conflicting feedback.

Research to Build Knowledge
7. Perform short focused research projects and more sustained research; synthesize multiple sources on a subject to answer a question or solve a problem.
8. Assemble evidence gathered from authoritative print and digital sources; assess the credibility and accuracy of the information and its strength and limitations in terms of answering the research question; and integrate selected information into the text, avoiding overreliance on any one source and following a standard format for citation.
9. Write in response to literary or informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned.
 a. Apply grade 9-10 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Analyze a wide range of nineteenth and early-twentieth-century foundational words of American literature, comparing and contrasting approaches to similar ideas or themes in two or more texts from the same period.").
 b. Apply grade 9-10 reading standards to literary nonfiction (e.g., "Assess the truth of an argument's explicit and implicit premises by determining whether the evidence presented in the text justifies the conclusions").
Range of Writing
10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Speaking and Listening Standards
By the end of grade 9, students will:

Comprehension and Collaboration:
1. Initiate and participate effectively in group discussions on grade 10 topics, texts, and issues being studied in class.
 a. Prepare for discussions by reading and researching material under study and explicitly draw on that preparation in discussions.
 b. Cooperate with peers to set clear goals and deadlines and to establish roles.
 c. Build on essential information form others' input by asking questions and sharing comments that enrich discussions.
 d. Acknowledge the ideas and contributions of others in the group, reach decisions about the information and ideas under discussion, and complete the task.
 e. Evaluate whether the team has met its goal.
2. Synthesize information presented visually or multimodally with other information presented orally, noting any discrepancies between the data that emerge as a result.
3. Determine a speaker's or presenter's position or point of view by assessing the evidence, word choice, points of emphasis, and tone used.
Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas
4. Plan and deliver relevant and sufficient evidence in support of findings and claims such that listeners can follow the reasoning, adjusting presentation to particular audiences and purposes.
5. Make strategic use of digital media elements and visual displays of data to enhance understanding.
6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating a command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.

<table>
<tr><td colspan="3">

Language Standards
By the end of grade 9, students will:
Conventions in Writing an Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar in writing.
 a. Use parallel structure in writing. *
 b. Use various types of phrases (noun, verb, adjectival, adverbial, participial, prepositional, absolute) and clauses (independent, dependent; noun, relative, adverbial) to add variety and interest to writing or presentations.
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
 a. Use a semicolon (and perhaps a conjunctive adverb) to link two or more closely related independent clauses.
 b. Use a colon to introduce a list or quotation.
 c. Spell correctly.
3. Make effective language choices.
 a. Write and edit work so that it conforms to the guidelines in a style manual.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine the word meanings (based on grade 9 reading).
 a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., sentence, paragraph, and whole-text context; the organizational pattern of the text); using syntactic clues (e.g., the word's position or function in the sentence); analyzing the word's sounds, spelling, and meaningful parts; understanding the word's etymology; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital.
 b. Verify the preliminary determination of a word's meaning (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or looking up the word in a dictionary).
 c. Interpret various figures of speech (e.g., hyperbole, paradox) and analyze their role in a text.
5. Understand word relationships.
 a. Trace the network of uses and meanings different words have and the interrelationships among those meanings and uses.
 b. Distinguish a word from other words with similar denotations but different connotations.
6. Use grade-appropriate general academic vocabulary and English language arts-specific words and phrases taught directly and gained through reading and responding to texts.
*Conventions standards noted with an asterisk need to be revisited by students in subsequent grades as their writing and speaking grow in sophistication.

Block Structure and Instructional Methods Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up	Universal Approaches, Skills, and Strategies

Introduction (5 minutes)
Goal = Connect

The teacher will:

- Articulate clear learning objectives for the lesson and discuss purposes behind them (what we are doing and why).
- Ask students to demonstrate their understanding of the learning intention in written or oral form.

Whole Group Focus Lesson with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes)
Goal = Build

The teacher will:

- Introduce the topic of the lesson.
- Explain the goal of the lessons' reading or writing strategies or skills foci through direct instruction, active engagement, and shared reading.
- Co-create, with students, anchor charts with visuals to use as resources during independent work and as artifacts of learning. Topics include: close reading, Socratic Seminar, quickwrites, dialectical journals, marking texts, self-editing and peer editing, jigsaw, and role playing; reading and writing genre features; comprehension strategies; vocabulary, fluency, and word studies; grammar studies through mentor texts and student work to illustrate teaching points; grammar and language usage practice linked to authentic student writing.
- Ask students to record learning in learning logs.
- Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer by asking students to engage in accountable talk during lessons through Think-Pair-Share, Think-Write-Pair-Share, Turn and Talk, and other cooperative learning activities.
- Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the lesson.

Elements of Effective Adolescent Literacy Program (Biancarosa and Snow, 2004)

- Direct, explicit comprehension instruction
- Effective instructional principles embedded in content
- Motivation and self-directed learning
- Text-based collaborative learning
- Strategic tutoring
- Diverse texts
- Intensive writing
- A technology component
- Ongoing formative instruction
- Extended time for literacy
- Professional development
- Ongoing summative assessment of students and programs
- Teacher teams

Strategies for Assessment For Learning (Stiggins, Arter, Chappuis and Chappuis, 2004)

- Provide a clear and understandable vision of the learning target
- Use examples of strong and weak work
- Offer regular descriptive feedback
- Teach students to self-assess and set goals
- Design lessons to focus on one aspect of quality at a time
- Teach students focused revision
- Engage students in self-reflection, and let them keep track of and share their learning

Design Units to Focus on Understanding (Wiggins and McTighe, 2004)

- Communicate intended enduring understandings
- Articulate big ideas
- Design engaging and relevant essential questions
- Adopt, adapt, or create authentic performance tasks; strategically employ other balanced assessment evidence
- Construct engaging and effective aligned learning experiences

Whole Group Shared Reading (10 minutes)
Goals = Build and Enjoy

- Shared reading is used not only as reading for enjoyment, but to teach effective reading habits. Teacher routinely and explicitly will:
- Think aloud.
- Question for listening comprehension.
- Support vocabulary and work attack strategies.
- Model comprehension strategies.

Explicit Small Group and Independent Reading Work Period (15-25minutes; may alternate with writing or happen daily in double blocked class)
Goal = Reach and Practice

The teacher will:

- Confer with students or lead small collaborative groups of 4-6 students.
- In conferences, assist students as they reflect on their learning and set goals and monitor progress.
- In collaborative groups, meet with 3-4 students who are working together. Support may be offered in short, guided lessons (5-10 minutes) and should be clearly focused and scaffolded for students.
- Use reciprocal teaching instructional strategies.
- Use a variety of purposeful grouping formats for students who need more support (e.g., literature groups, Turn and Talk). Students participate in both homogeneous and heterogeneous groupings to meet different purposes.
- Offer frequent, multiple opportunities to interact with one another and use oral language purposefully during whole and small group and independent time.
- Strategically monitor time to ensure students are able to engage in both small group and independent work time each class period.
- Integrate speaking, listening, discussing, media, technology, and research.
- During independent work time, monitor and assist as students independently read, practicing whole and small group lesson strategies or skills. They may also partner read, use literature circles, and increase the volume of their reading.
- Help students carefully select independent reading materials, based on reading and language levels, concept knowledge, cultural backgrounds, interests, and support books offer, and consider these characteristics for small group reading materials.
- Monitor as students independently read "just-right" books and write responses to reading and literature in their learning logs.

Characteristics of Successful Teaching and Learning (Applebee, 2002)
- Engage students in higher-order talk and writing about the disciplines of English
- Ensure cohesiveness of curriculum and instruction
- Use diverse perspectives to deepen discussion and enhance learning
- Align curriculum with assessment
- Scaffold skills and strategies needed for new and difficult tasks
- Provide special help to struggling readers and writers

Key Classroom-Based Practices (Adler and Rougle, 2005)
- Dialogic instruction (Nystrand, 1997)
- Envisionment building (Langer, 1995)
- Curriculum as conversation (Applebee, 1996)

Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Instruction (Hall, Strangman, and Meyer; 2003); Differentiation (Tomlinson, 1999)
- Content
- Process
- Product

Comprehension Strategies (Burke, 1999)
- Self-monitoring
- Rereading
- Questioning texts
- Setting reading purpose
- Activating background knowledge

Reading Strategies
● Retelling (Morrow, 1985)
● Book Talks (Raphael, et. al., 1997, CORE, 2000)
● Comparison graphic organizers such as the story map, Venn diagram or semantic feature analysis (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002; Venn, 1880; Anders & Bos, 1986)
● Perspective Entries (Project CRISS, 2007)
● Point of View (Lukens, 2006)
● Picture Walk/Text Walk (Clay, 1985; Goldenberg, 1991; DeFord, Lyons & Pinnell, 1991; Hiebert & Taylor, 1994)
● Text factors including narrative genres, text structure and text features (Harvey & Goudvis, 2007)
● Comparison graphic organizers such as the story map, Venn diagram or semantic feature analysis (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002; Venn, 1880; Anders & Bos, 1986)
●Repeated readings (Samuels, 1979)
● Independent reading

- Make certain access to materials, including novels, short texts, chart paper, graphic organizers, learning logs, and sticky notes.

(Allington, 2000 & Krashen, 2004)

Explicit Small Group and Independent Writing Work Period (15-25minutes; may alternate with reading or happen daily in double blocked class)
Goal = Reach and Practice

The teacher will:

- Guide students as they engage in a writing process—independently, in writing circles with writing partners, or with the teacher.
- Assist and connect students to consult appropriate mentor texts aligned to the focus of their writing.
- Confer with individual students, asking questions to help them think through how to improve their writing. During frequent writing conferences the teacher will:
- Read some student writing and ask questions to encourage students to talk about their writing processes and language and grammar use.
- Based on students' questions, evidenced-based needs, and interests, decide what to teach students or what to reinforce from recent focus lessons.
- Help students reflect on their writing by talking with them about their writing processes and set goals for next steps.
- Reinforce one strategy or concept clearly by: Supporting students in using information from other focus lessons; connecting students to writing mentors; and/or providing guided practice, so students can try writing strategies with teacher assistance.
- Integrate speaking, listening, discussing, media, technology, and research.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (5-10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Reconvene whole group to include all members of the class.
- Briefly revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

Elements of the Mini-lesson (Tompkins, 2008)
- Introduce the topic
- Share examples [use mentor text]
- Provide information
- Guide practice
- Assess learning

Features of Effective [Literacy] Instruction (Langer, Close, Angelis, and Preller, 2000)
- Students learn skills and knowledge in multiple lesson types
- Teachers integrate test preparation into instruction
- Teachers make connections across instruction, curriculum, and life
- Students learn strategies for doing the work
- Students are expected to be generative thinkers

	• Classrooms foster cognitive collaboration

Current Interventions (09-10)

- Qualified non-proficient students receive reading instruction from a READ 180 teacher using Scholastic's READ 180 program for 90 minutes daily for 12-18 months or until exit criteria is met. (Also see Appendix.)
- Community Learning Center (CLC) Select 20 Academic Tutoring Program (ATP) for 3 hours/week for 25 weeks; ATP teacher uses Apex (online learning with credit recovery).

Current Interventions (09-10)
- Alternate curriculum (Unique Learning System by News-2-You) used by special education teachers daily for 90 minutes (cumulatively) for students with comprehensive disabilities; students may earn elective credits which count toward graduation requirements. (Also see Appendix.)
- Replacement curriculum (Voyager/SoprisWest's Language!) used by special education teachers daily for 90 minutes for qualified students with disabilities; students may earn elective credits which count toward graduation requirements; IEP teams determine if classes count toward English credit. (Also see Appendix.)

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 10

Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 10 Classroom Environment

- Organized for whole and small group instruction and independent work
- Classroom arrangement emphasizes student interactions, in addition to teacher-directed interactions
- Teacher encourages productive, accountable talk by having areas and times available for students to work together
- Smooth efficient transitions between activities
- All students have access to district-adopted resources
- Classroom library is well-stocked with age-appropriate fiction and nonfiction materials written on a variety of reading levels
- Books are effectively sorted and labeled so students can explain, maintain, and use library independenttly. Books are arranged attractively and invitingly
- Display of recent student work/projects with accompanying written explanation
- Display of signs, labels for each item and quotations
- Posted directions for activities or use of equipment
- Materials/tools for recording language, including pencils, pens, markers, paper, charts, logs, writers' notebooks, books, computers, etc.
- Work stations or space for reading, writing, researching, and listening activities
- Reference materials related to literature or content area units/topics
- Audiovisual/technology equipment and materials available for student use

English Language Arts Instructional Block - Grade 10

Foci: Reading, Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.

Reading Standards By the end of grade 10 students will: Literature: Key Ideas and Details 1. Cite the evidence in the text that most strongly supports a specific analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text. 2. Analyze in detail the development and refinement of a theme or central idea in a text, including how it emerges and how it is shaped and refined by specific details. 3. Analyze how complex characters, including those with conflicting motivations or divided loyalties, develop over the course of a text, interact with other characters, and advance the plot or develop the theme. Literature: Craft and Structure 4. Evaluate how an author's use of language, including formality of diction, shapes meaning and tone in a text (e.g., how the language evokes a sense of time and place, how it sets a formal and informal tone). 5. Analyze how an author structures a text, orders events within it (e.g., parallel plots), and manipulates time (e.g., pacing) to create mystery, tension, or surprise. 6. Analyze a case in which the author's work takes a position or stance on a social issue or other topic and describe how the author carries out that purpose. Literature: Integration of Knowledge and Ideas 7. Compare and contrast the representation of a subject or a key scene in two different artistic mediums (e.g., Auden's "Musee de Beaux Arts" and Breughel's Landscape with the Fall of Icarus). 8. (Not applicable to literature) 9. Analyze a wide range nineteenth and early-twentieth-century foundational works of American literature, comparing and contrasting approaches to similar ideas or themes in two or more texts from the same period. Literature: Range and Level of Text Complexity 10. Read literature independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 9-10 complexity band; read "stretch" texts in the grades 11-CCR text complexity band with scaffolding as needed.	Common Course Evidence By the end of Grade 10 (two semesters) students will create a portfolio of proficient work, including: ➢ Letter/message of Request ➢ Letter/message of Complaint ➢ Research Project ➢ Evidence of Collaboration / Small Group Discussion ➢ Media Product ➢ Character Analysis ➢ Creative Product (writing or other media) ➢ Reading/Literature Synthesis (using media) ➢ Narrative Writing ➢ Persuasive Writing ➢ Descriptive Writing ➢ Expository Writing ➢ Persuasive Writing ➢ Reflective Writing  Students will employ technology to access, organize, create, revise, and publish works* Criteria for Evidence of Effective Reading Abilities (Adapted from Burke, 1999) • Demonstrates ability to fluently navigate all aspects of the text	• District-adopted resources (including Prentice Hall – Platinum) • Selected variety of novels (see English 10 Common Course Plan for details) • Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Writing resources such as dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Visuals and other media • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources

Informational Text: Key Ideas and Details 1. Cite evidence in the text that most strongly supports a specific analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text. 2. Analyze in detail the development and refinement of a central idea in a text, including how it emerges and is shaped and refined by specific details. 3. Analyze the interactions between and among ideas and events, including how ideas and events influence one another. Informational Text: Craft and Structure 4. Evaluate how an author's use of language, including formality and type of diction, shapes meaning and tone in a text (e.g., the formality of a court opinion or a newspaper). 5. Evaluate the effectiveness of the structure an author uses in his or her exposition or argument, including whether the structure makes points clear, convincing, and engaging. 6. Analyze documents of historical and literary significance, including foundational U.S. documents (e.g., the Declaration of Independence, the Preamble to the Constitution, the Bill of Rights) for their premises, purposes, and structure. Informational Text: Integration of Knowledge and Ideas 7. Synthesize information presented in different formats (e.g., text, video, multimedia) to generate a coherent understanding of an issue. 8. Assess the truth of an argument's explicit and implicit premises by determining whether the evidence presented in the text justifies the conclusions. 9. Analyze how authors argue with or otherwise respond to one another's ideas or accounts of key events, evaluating the strength of each author's interpretation. Informational Text: Range of Level of Text Complexity 10. Read informational text independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 9-10 text complexity band; read "stretch" texts in the grades 11-CCR text complexity band with scaffolding as needed.	• Shows a confident understanding of authorial intent • Accurately and simultaneously processes multiple layers and different meanings of text • Pays extra attention that allows attention to finer distinctions or larger context of the work (e.g., relation of this text to other writers or different eras) • Monitors progress of understanding and employs effective strategies to fill in gaps • Self-assesses and possesses the ability to accurately articulate a picture of current performance as a reader • Knows what to do to improve Other Reading Evidence: • Independent reading record/ log • Rubric (see criteria above) • Checklist • Teacher observation with anecdotal notes • Cloze passages • CABS • Story map • Response to reading • Graphic organizer • Independent reading log • Learning log • Short-cycle assessments	Reading Strategies/Approaches: ● Question-Answer-Relationships (QAR) (Raphael & McKinney, 1983; Raphael & Wonnacott, 1985; Raphael, Highfield & Au, 2006) ● Student generated questions (Duke & Pearson, 2002; Harvey & Goudvis, 2007) ● Double-Entry Journals (Berthoff, 1981; Tovani, 2000) ● "I wonder" questions (Tovani, 2000) ● Three-Minute Pause (Buehl, 2001) ● Text factors including narrative genres, text structure and text features (Harvey & Goudvis, 2007) ● Story Plans (also called story grammars/maps) (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002) ● Story Weave Map (CORE, 2000) ● Character Map (Project CRISS, 2007) ● Figuring Out New Words From Context chart (Project CRISS, 2007) ● Context clues (Putting Reading First, 2006) ● Word parts/affixes (Putting Reading First, 2006) ● Dictionaries and other reference aids (Putting Reading First, 2006) ● Concept of Definition Map (Schwartz & Raphael, 1985, 1988) ● Vocabulary Map (Project CRISS, 2007) ● Vocabulary Flash Cards (Project CRISS, 2007) ● Frayer Model (Frayer, Fredrecik & Kausmeither, 1969; Buehl 2001) ● Semantic Feature Analysis (Anders & Bos, 1986) ● Text factors including narrative genres, text structure and text features (Harvey & Goudvis, 2007)

Writing Standards
By the end of grade 10 students will:

Text Types and Purposes
1. Write arguments which they:
 a. Introduce a precise claim, distinguish it from alternate or opposing claims, and provide an organization that establishes clear relationships among the claim, reasons, and evidence.
 b. Develop a claim and counterclaim fairly, supplying evidence for each, while pointing out the strengths of their own claim and the weaknesses of the counterclaim.
 c. Use precise words, phrases, and clauses to make clear the relationship between claims and reasons, between reasons and evidence, and between claims and counterclaims.
 d. Sustain an objective style and tone while attending to the norms and conventions of the specific discipline as well as the audience's knowledge of the issue.
 e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows logically from the argument and offers a reflection or recommendation.
2. Write informative/explanatory texts in which they:
 a. Introduce a topic and organize information under broader concepts and categories to make clear the connections and distinctions between key ideas appropriate to the purposes; include formatting (e.g., headings) and graphics (e.g., figures, tables) when useful to clarify ideas.
 b. Develop a complex topic through well-chosen, relevant, and sufficient facts, concrete details, quotations, extended definitions, or other information and examples.
 c. Use varied transitions and sentence structures to create cohesion, clarify information and ideas, and link major sections in the text.
 d. Use precise language and domain-specific and technical wording (when appropriate) to manage the complexity of the topic in a style that responds to the specific disciplines and context as well as the expertise of likely readers.
 e. Provide a conclusion that follows logically form the information or explanation provided and articulates the implications or significance of the topic.
3. Write narratives in which they:
 a. Engage the reader by establishing a problem, situation, or observation and purposefully organize a progression of events or experiences.
 b. Develop narrative elements (e.g., setting, event sequence, complex characters) with well-chosen, revealing details.
 c. Use a variety of techniques to sequence events so that they build on one another to create coherent whole.
 d. Use precise language to develop a picture of how the events, experiences, and ideas emerge and unfold.
 e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from what is experienced, observed, or resolved over the course of the narrative.

Production and Distribution of Writing
4. Produce writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience. (Grade-specific expectations for this standard are defined in Standard 1-3 above).
5. Strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach,

Six Traits of Effective Writing
(Spandel, 2009)
- Ideas
- Organization
- Voice
- Word Choice
- Sentence Fluency and Variety
- Conventions

Other assessment evidence:
- Student questions
- Student comments
- Illustrations and other visuals
- Observations during whole group, small group, and conferences
- Short-cycle assessments
- On-demand writing
- Peer feedback (written and oral)
- Presentations

Students in grade nine will review and enhance the following skills that writers use (Tomkins, 2010)
● Structuring Skills
● Mechanical Skills
● Language Skills
● Reference Skills
● Computer Skills

Focus on Effective Sentence Construction and Revision
Students will pay particular attention to the purposeful revision of sentences. Teachers will employ Killgallon's (1998) Four Types of Sentence Composing to help student create increasingly sophisticated and fluent sentences. The four types are:
● Sentence Unscrambling
● Sentence Imitating
● Sentence Combining
● Sentence Expanding

focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific task and context.

6. Use technology, including the Internet, to produce, publish, and collaborate on a shared writing product, incorporating diverse and sometimes conflicting feedback.

Research to Build Knowledge

7. Perform short focused research projects and more sustained research; synthesize multiple sources on a subject to answer a question or solve a problem.

8. Assemble evidence gathered from authoritative print and digital sources; assess the credibility and accuracy of the information and its strength and limitations in terms of answering the research question; and integrate selected information into the text, avoiding overreliance on any one source and following a standard format for citation.

9. Write in response to literary or informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned.

 a. Apply grade 9-10 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Analyze a wide range of nineteenth and early-twentieth-century foundational words of American literature, comparing and contrasting approaches to similar ideas or themes in two or more texts from the same period.").

 b. Apply grade 9-10 reading standards to literary nonfiction (e.g., "Assess the truth of an argument's explicit and implicit premises by determining whether the evidence presented in the text justifies the conclusions").

Range of Writing

10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Speaking and Listening Standards
By the end of grade 10, students will:

Comprehension and Collaboration:

1. Initiate and participate effectively in group discussions on grade 10 topics, texts, and issues being studied in class.

 a. Prepare for discussions by reading and researching material under study and explicitly draw on that preparation in discussions.

 b. Cooperate with peers to set clear goals and deadlines and to establish roles.

 c. Build on essential information form others' input by asking questions and sharing comments that enrich discussions.

 d. Acknowledge the ideas and contributions of others in the group, reach decisions about the information and ideas under discussion, and complete the task.

 e. Evaluate whether the team has met its goal.

2. Synthesize information presented visually or multimodally with other information presented orally, noting any discrepancies between the data that emerge as a result.

3. Determine a speaker's or presenter's position or point of view by assessing the evidence, word choice, points of emphasis, and tone used.

Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas

4. Plan and deliver relevant and sufficient evidence in support of findings and claims such that listeners can follow the reasoning, adjusting presentation to particular audiences and purposes.

5. Make strategic use of digital media elements and visual displays of data to enhance understanding.

6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating a command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.

Language Standards
By the end of grade 10, students will:
Conventions in Writing an Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar in writing.
 a. Use parallel structure in writing. *
 b. Use various types of phrases (noun, verb, adjectival, adverbial, participial, prepositional, absolute) and clauses (independent, dependent; noun, relative, adverbial) to add variety and interest to writing or presentations.
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
 a. Use a semicolon (and perhaps a conjunctive adverb) to link two or more closely related independent clauses.
 b. Use a colon to introduce a list or quotation.
 c. Spell correctly.
3. Make effective language choices.
 a. Write and edit work so that it conforms to the guidelines in a style manual.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine the word meanings (based on grade 10 reading).
 a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., sentence, paragraph, and whole-text context; the organizational pattern of the text); using syntactic clues (e.g., the word's position or function in the sentence); analyzing the word's sounds, spelling, and meaningful parts; understanding the word's etymology; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital.
 b. Verify the preliminary determination of a word's meaning (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or looking up the word in a dictionary).
 c. Interpret various figures of speech (e.g., hyperbole, paradox) and analyze their role in a text.
5. Understand word relationships.
 a. Trace the network of uses and meanings different words have and the interrelationships among those meanings and uses.
 b. Distinguish a word from other words with similar denotations but different connotations.
6. Use grade-appropriate general academic vocabulary and English language arts-specific words and phrases taught directly and gained through reading and responding to texts.
*Conventions standards noted with an asterisk need to be revisited by students in subsequent grades as their writing and speaking grow in sophistication.

Block Structure and Instructional Methods Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up	Universal Approaches, Skills, and Strategies

Introduction (5 minutes) Goal = Connect The teacher will: - Articulate clear learning objectives for the lesson and discuss purposes behind them (what we are doing and why). - Ask students to demonstrate their understanding of the learning intention in written or oral form. Whole Group Focus Lesson with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes) Goal = Build The teacher will: - Introduce the topic of the lesson. - Explain the goal of the lessons' reading or writing strategies or skills foci through direct instruction, active engagement, and shared reading. - Co-create, with students, anchor charts with visuals to use as resources during independent work and as artifacts of learning. Topics include: close reading, Socratic Seminar, quickwrites, dialectical journals, marking texts, self-editing and peer editing, jigsaw, and role playing; reading and writing genre features; comprehension strategies; vocabulary, fluency, and word studies; grammar studies through mentor texts and student work to illustrate teaching points; grammar and language usage practice linked to authentic student writing. - Ask students to record learning in learning logs. - Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer by asking students to engage in accountable talk during lessons through Think-Pair-Share, Think-Write-Pair-Share, Turn and Talk, and other cooperative learning activities. - Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the lesson.	Elements of Effective Adolescent Literacy Program (Biancarosa and Snow, 2004) - Direct, explicit comprehension instruction - Effective instructional principles embedded in content - Motivation and self-directed learning - Text-based collaborative learning - Strategic tutoring - Diverse texts - Intensive writing - A technology component - Ongoing formative instruction - Extended time for literacy - Professional development - Ongoing summative assessment of students and programs - Teacher teams Strategies for Assessment For Learning (Stiggins, Arter, Chappuis and Chappuis, 2004) - Provide a clear and understandable vision of the learning target - Use examples of strong and weak work - Offer regular descriptive feedback - Teach students to self-assess and set goals - Design lessons to focus on one aspect of quality at a time - Teach students focused revision - Engage students in self-reflection, and let them keep track of and share their learning Design Units to Focus on Understanding (Wiggins and McTighe, 2004) - Communicate intended enduring understandings - Articulate big ideas - Design engaging and relevant essential questions - Adopt, adapt, or create authentic performance tasks; strategically employ other balanced assessment evidence - Construct engaging and effective aligned learning experiences

Whole Group Shared Reading (10 minutes)
Goals = Build and Enjoy

- Shared reading is used not only as reading for enjoyment, but to teach effective reading habits. Teacher routinely and explicitly will:
- Think aloud.
- Question for listening comprehension.
- Support vocabulary and work attack strategies.
- Model comprehension strategies.

Explicit Small Group and Independent Reading Work Period (15-25minutes; may alternate with writing or happen daily in double blocked class)
Goal = Reach and Practice

The teacher will:

- Confer with students or lead small collaborative groups of 4-6 students.
- In conferences, assist students as they reflect on their learning and set goals and monitor progress.
- In collaborative groups, meet with 3-4 students who are working together. Support may be offered in short, guided lessons (5-10 minutes) and should be clearly focused and scaffolded for students.
- Use reciprocal teaching instructional strategies.
- Use a variety of purposeful grouping formats for students who need more support (e.g., literature groups, Turn and Talk). Students participate in both homogeneous and heterogeneous groupings to meet different purposes.
- Offer frequent, multiple opportunities to interact with one another and use oral language purposefully during whole and small group and independent time.
- Strategically monitor time to ensure students are able to engage in both small group and independent work time each class period.
- Integrate speaking, listening, discussing, media, technology, and research.
- During independent work time, monitor and assist as students independently read, practicing whole and small group lesson strategies or skills. They may also partner read, use literature circles, and increase the volume of their reading.
- Help students carefully select independent reading materials, based on reading and language levels, concept knowledge, cultural backgrounds, interests, and support books offer, and consider these characteristics for small group reading materials.
- Monitor as students independently read "just-right" books and write responses to reading and literature in their learning logs.

Characteristics of Successful Teaching and Learning (Applebee, 2002)
- Engage students in higher-order talk and writing about the disciplines of English
- Ensure cohesiveness of curriculum and instruction
- Use diverse perspectives to deepen discussion and enhance learning
- Align curriculum with assessment
- Scaffold skills and strategies needed for new and difficult tasks
- Provide special help to struggling readers and writers

Key Classroom-Based Practices (Adler and Rougle, 2005)
- Dialogic instruction (Nystrand, 1997)
- Envisionment building (Langer, 1995)
- Curriculum as conversation (Applebee, 1996)

Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Instruction (Hall, Strangman, and Meyer; 2003); Differentiation (Tomlinson, 1999)
- Content
- Process
- Product

Comprehension Strategies (Burke, 1999)
- Self-monitoring
- Rereading
- Questioning texts
- Setting reading purpose
- Activating background knowledge

Reading Strategies
● Retelling (Morrow, 1985)
● Book Talks (Raphael, et. al., 1997, CORE, 2000)
● Comparison graphic organizers such as the story map, Venn diagram or semantic feature analysis (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002; Venn, 1880; Anders & Bos, 1986)
● Perspective Entries (Project CRISS, 2007)
● Point of View (Lukens, 2006)
● Picture Walk/Text Walk (Clay, 1985; Goldenberg, 1991; DeFord, Lyons & Pinnell, 1991; Hiebert & Taylor, 1994)
● Text factors including narrative genres, text structure and text features (Harvey & Goudvis, 2007)
● Comparison graphic organizers such as the story map, Venn diagram or semantic feature analysis (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002; Venn, 1880; Anders & Bos, 1986)

Explicit Small Group and Independent Writing Work Period (15-25minutes; may alternate with reading or happen daily in double blocked class)
Goal = Reach and Practice

The teacher will:

- Guide students as they engage in a writing process—independently, in writing circles with writing partners, or with the teacher.
- Assist and connect students to consult appropriate mentor texts aligned to the focus of their writing.
- Confer with individual students, asking questions to help them think through how to improve their writing. During frequent writing conferences the teacher will:
- Read some student writing and ask questions to encourage students to talk about their writing processes and language and grammar use.
- Based on students' questions, evidenced-based needs, and interests, decide what to teach students or what to reinforce from recent focus lessons.
- Help students reflect on their writing by talking with them about their writing processes and set goals for next steps.
- Reinforce one strategy or concept clearly by: Supporting students in using information from other focus lessons; connecting students to writing mentors; and/or providing guided practice, so students can try writing strategies with teacher assistance.
- Integrate speaking, listening, discussing, media, technology, and research.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (5-10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Reconvene whole group to include all members of the class.
- Briefly revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

● Repeated readings (Samuels, 1979)
● Independent reading
(Allington, 2000 & Krashen, 2004)

Elements of the Mini-lesson (Tompkins, 2008)
- Introduce the topic
- Share examples [use mentor text]
- Provide information
- Guide practice
- Assess learning

Best Practices in Writing (Zemelman, Daniels, and Hyde, 2005; Graham, MacArthur, and Fitzgerald (eds.), 2007; MPS and Milwaukee Writing Project, 2008)
- Writers' Workshop
- Writing Process
- Writing Strategies
- Six Traits of Effective Writing
- Authentic Forms
- Writing-Reading Connection
- Effective Feedback
- Teacher as Writer

Writing Process (Graves, 1994)
- Prewriting
- Drafting
- Revising
- Editing
- Publishing / sharing with an audience (Elbow, 2002)
- Self assessment, goal setting, and use of portfolios (Stires, 1991)

Features of Effective [Literacy] Instruction (Langer, Close, Angelis, and Preller, 2000)
- Students learn skills and knowledge in multiple lesson types
- Teachers integrate test preparation into instruction
- Teachers make connections across instruction, curriculum, and life
- Students learn strategies for doing the work
- Students are expected to be generative thinkers
- Classrooms foster cognitive collaboration

Current Interventions (09-10)

- Alternate curriculum (Unique Learning System by News-2-You) used by special education teachers daily for 90 minutes (cumulatively) for students with comprehensive disabilities; students may earn elective credits which count toward graduation requirements. (Also see Appendix.)
- Replacement curriculum (Voyager/SoprisWest's Language!) used by special education teachers daily for 90 minutes for qualified students with disabilities; students may earn elective credits which count toward graduation requirements; IEP teams determine if classes count toward English credit. (Also see Appendix.)

Core Literacy Curriculum: Grade 11

Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 11 Classroom Environment

- Organized for whole and small group instruction and independent work
- Classroom arrangement emphasizes student interactions, in addition to teacher-directed interactions
- Teacher encourages productive, accountable talk by having areas and times available for students to work together
- Smooth efficient transitions between activities
- All students have access to district-adopted resources
- Classroom library is well-stocked with age-appropriate fiction and nonfiction materials written on a variety of reading levels
- Books are effectively sorted and labeled so students can explain, maintain, and use library independenttly. Books are arranged attractively and invitingly
- Display of recent student work/projects with accompanying written explanation
- Display of signs, labels for each item and quotations
- Posted directions for activities or use of equipment
- Materials/tools for recording language, including pencils, pens, markers, paper, charts, logs, writers' notebooks, books, computers, etc.
- Work stations or space for reading, writing, researching, and listening activities
- Reference materials related to literature or content area units/topics
- Audiovisual/technology equipment and materials available for student use

English Language Arts Instructional Block - Grade 11

Foci: Reading, Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.

Reading Standards By the end of grade 11 students will: Literature: Key Ideas and Details 1. Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text, including determining where the text leaves things uncertain. 2. Analyze how multiple themes or central ideas in a text interact, build on, and, in some cases, conflict with one another. 3. Analyze the impact of the author's choices regarding how to develop and relate elements of a story or drama (e.g., where a story is set, how the action is ordered, how the characters are introduced and developed). Literature: Craft and Structure 4. Analyze in detail the condensed language of poems (or particularly rich language use in a narrative or drama), determining how specific word choices and multiple meanings shape the impact and tone. 5. Analyze how an author's choices concerning how to structure a text (e.g., electing at what point to begin or end a story) shape the meaning of the text. 6. Analyze an author's use of satire sarcasm, irony, understatement, or other means that requires a reader to understand various layers of meaning of the text. Literature: Integration of Knowledge and Ideas 7. Compare and contrast multiple interpretations of a drama or story (e.g., recorded or live productions), distinguishing how each version interprets the source text. (This includes at least one play by Shakespeare as well as one play by an American dramatist.) 8. (Not applicable to literature). 9. Analyze how an author draws on and transforms fictional source material in a specific work (e.g., how Shakespeare draws on a story from Ovid or how a later author draws on a play by Shakespeare). Literature: Range and Level of Text Complexity 10. Read literature independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 11-12 complexity band; read texts at the high end of the range with scaffolding as needed.	Common Course Evidence By the end of Grade 11 (two semesters) students will create a portfolio of proficient work, including: ➢ Letter/message of Request ➢ Letter/message of Complaint ➢ Research Project ➢ Evidence of Collaboration / Small Group Discussion ➢ Media Product ➢ Character Analysis ➢ Creative Product (writing or other media) ➢ Reading/Literature Synthesis (using media) ➢ Narrative Writing ➢ Persuasive Writing ➢ Descriptive Writing ➢ Expository Writing ➢ Persuasive Writing ➢ Reflective Writing  Students will employ technology to access, organize, create, revise, and publish works* Criteria for Evidence of Effective Reading Abilities (Adapted from Burke, 1999) • Demonstrates ability to fluently navigate all aspects of the text	• District-adopted resources (including McDougal-Littell) • Selected variety of novels (see English 11 Common Course Plan for details) • Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Writing resources such as dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Visuals and other media • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources

1. Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences from the text, including determining where the text leaves things uncertain.
2. Analyze how multiple ideas in a text interact, build on, and, in some cases, conflict with one another.
3. Analyze in detail an author's ideas by describing how the ideas are developed and refined by specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of a text.

Informational Text: Craft and Structure
4. Interpret how an author uses and refines the meaning of a key term or terms over the course of a text (e.g., how Madison defines faction in Federalist No. 10 and No. 51).
5. Analyze how an author's choices concerning how to structure a text (e.g., how reasons, evidence, and information are organized and emphasized) shape the meaning of the text.
6. Analyze how various authors express different points of view on similar events or issues, assessing the authors' assumptions, use of evidence, and reasoning, including analyzing seminal U.S. documents (e.g., The Federalist, landmark U.S. Supreme Court majority opinions and dissents).

Informational Text: Integration of Knowledge and Ideas
7. Synthesize and apply multiple sources of information presented in different formats in order to address a question or solve a problem, including resolving conflicting information.
8. Evaluate the reasoning and rhetoric that supports an argument or explanation, including assessing the relevance and sufficiency of evidence and identifying false statements or fallacious reasoning.
9. Synthesize explanations and arguments from diverse sources to provide a coherent account of events or ideas, including resolving conflicting information.

Informational Text: Range of Level of Text Complexity
10. Read informational text independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 11-CCR text complexity band; read texts at the high end of the range with scaffolding as needed.

- Shows a confident understanding of authorial intent
- Accurately and simultaneously processes multiple layers and different meanings of text
- Pays extra attention that allows attention to finer distinctions or larger context of the work (e.g., relation of this text to other writers or different eras)
- Monitors progress of understanding and employs effective strategies to fill in gaps
- Self-assesses and possesses the ability to accurately articulate a picture of current performance as a reader
- Knows what to do to improve

Other Reading Evidence:
- Independent reading record/ log
- Rubric (see criteria above)
- Checklist
- Teacher observation with anecdotal notes
- Cloze passages
- CABS

Writing Standards	Writing:	Writing Approaches and
Writing Standards By the end of grade 11 students will: Text Types and Purposes 1. Write arguments which they: a. Introduce a substantive claim, establish its significance, distinguish it from alternate or opposing claims, and create an organization so that claims, reasons, and evidence are purposefully and logically sequenced. b. Develop a claim and counterclaim thoroughly and fairly, supplying the most relevant evidence, while point out the strengths of [his or her] own claim and the weaknesses of the counterclaim. c. Use precise words, phrases, and complex syntax to make explicit the relationships between claims and reasons, between reasons and evidence, and between claims and counterclaims. d. Sustain an objective style and tone while attending to the norms and conventions of the specific discipline as well as to the audience's knowledge, values, and possible biases. e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows logically from the argument and offers a reflection or recommendation. 2. Write informative/explanatory texts in which they: a. Introduce a complex topic and organize the information at multiple levels of the text so that each new piece of information builds on that which precedes it to create a unified whole; include formatting (e.g., headings) and graphics (e.g., figures, tables) when useful to clarify ideas. b. Thoroughly develop aspects of a complex topic through the purposeful selection of the most significant and relevant facts, concrete details, quotations, extended definitions, or other information and examples. c. Use varied transitional devices and sentence structures to create cohesion, clarify complex ideas, and link the major sections of the text. d. Use precise language, domain-specific and technical wording (when appropriate), and techniques such as metaphor, simile, and analogy to mange the complexity of the topic in a style that responds to the specific discipline and context as well as to the expertise of likely readers. e. Provide a well-developed conclusion that follows logically from the information or explanation provided and articulates the implications or significance of the topic. 3. Write narratives in which they: a. Engage the reader by establishing the significance of a problem, situation, or observation and purposefully organize events or experiences. b. Develop narrative elements (e.g., setting, stance, event sequence, complex characters) with purposefully selected details that call readers' attention to what is most distinctive or worth noticing. c. Use a variety of techniques to build toward a particular impact (e.g., a sense of mystery, suspense, growth, or resolution). d. Use precise language to develop the events, experiences, and ideas clearly and to reinforce the style. e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from what is experienced, observed, or resolved over the course of the narrative. Production and Distribution of Writing 4. Produce writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience. (Grade-specific expectations for this standard are defined in Standard	Writing: Common assessment tools: • MPS Writing Rubrics • MPS Research Rubrics Six Traits of Effective Writing (Spandel, 2009) • Ideas • Organization • Voice • Word Choice • Sentence Fluency and Variety • Conventions Other assessment evidence: • Student questions • Student comments • Illustrations and other visuals • Observations during whole group, small group, and conferences • Short-cycle assessments • On-demand writing • Peer feedback (written and oral) • Presentations • Multimedia evidence • Traditional and online publishing in various forms • Content in Writers' Notebooks • Contents of Portfolios (both process and showcase) • Progress logs • Student self-assessment • Student self-reflection • Student goals	Writing Approaches and Strategies (Graham and Perin, 2007) • Writing Strategies • Summarization • Collaborative Writing • Specific Product Goals • Word Processing • Sentence Combining • Prewriting • Inquiry Activities • Process Writing Approach • Study of Models • Writing for Content Areas Students in grade nine will review and enhance the following skills that writers use (Tomkins, 2010) ● Structuring Skills ● Mechanical Skills ● Language Skills ● Reference Skills ● Computer Skills Focus on Effective Sentence Construction and Revision Students will pay particular attention to the purposeful revision of sentences. Teachers will employ Killgallon's (1998) Four Types of Sentence Composing to help student create increasingly sophisticated and fluent sentences. The four types are: ● Sentence Unscrambling ● Sentence Imitating ● Sentence Combining ● Sentence Expanding

1-3 above).
5. Strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach, focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific purpose and audience.
6. Demonstrate command of technology, including the Internet, to produce, publish, and update work in response to ongoing feedback, including fresh arguments or new information.

Research to Build Knowledge
7. Perform short focused research projects and more sustained research; synthesize multiple authoritative sources on a subject to answer a question or solve a problem.
8. Analyze evidence gathered from multiple authoritative print and digital sources; assess the credibility and accuracy of the information and its usefulness and relevance for the specific task, purpose, and audience; and integrate selected information into the text, following a standard format for citation.
9. Write in response to literary or informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned.
 a. Apply grade 11-12 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Analyze how an author draws on and transforms fictional source material, such as how Shakespeare draws on a story form Ovid, or a later author draws on Shakespeare").
 b. Apply grades 11-12 reading standards to literary nonfiction (e.g., "Evaluate the reasoning and rhetoric that support an argument or explanation, including assessing the relevance and sufficiency of evidence and identifying false statements or fallacious reasoning").

Range of Writing
10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Speaking and Listening Standards	Speaking, Listening, and Media	Speaking, Listening, and Media Strategies/Approaches
Speaking and Listening Standards By the end of grade 11, students will: Comprehension and Collaboration: 1. Initiate and participate effectively in group discussions on grade 11-12 topics, texts, and issues being studied in class. a. Prepare for discussions by distilling the evidence or information about the material under study and explicitly draw on that preparation in discussions. b. Cooperate with peers to set clear goals and deadlines, establish roles, and determine ground rules for decision making (e.g., informal consensus, taking votes on key issues, presentation of alternate views). c. Propel conversations forward by asking questions that test the evidence and by sharing findings that clarify, verify, or challenge ideas and conclusions. d. Summarize accurately the comments and claims made on all sides of an issue and determine what additional information, research, and tasks are required for the team to complete the task. e. Evaluate whether the team has met its goals. Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas 4. Plan and deliver focused and coherent presentations that convey clear and distinct perspectives such that the line of reasoning and sources of support are clear and alternative perspectives are addressed, adjusting presentation to particular audiences and purposes. 5. Make strategic use of digital media elements and visual displays of data to enhance understanding. 6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating a command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.	• Informative, Persuasive, and Demonstrative Oral & Impromptu Presentations • Debates • Listening Assessments • Discussion Assessments • Design and Creation of Media Product (Presentation or Tangible Artifacts) • Oral Rubrics • Listening Rubrics • Discussion Rubrics • Media Rubrics • Technology Rubrics • Research Conventions Rubrics	• Literature Circles (Daniels, 2002) • Socratic Seminar (Metzger, 1998; Tredway, 1995) • Writing Circles (Vopat, 2009) • Inquiry Circles (Harvey and Daniels, 2009) • Authentic Forms (Zemelman, Daniels, and Hyde, 2005) • Fishbowl (Baloche, Mauger, Willis, Filinuk, and Michalsky, 1993) • Social Interaction (Spiegel, 2005) • Tapping Students' Understanding (Langer, 1992, Spiegel, 2005)

Language Standards	Language:	Language Strategies/Approaches:

By the end of grade 11, students will:

Conventions in Writing an Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar in writing.
 a. Apply the understanding that usage is a matter of convention, can change over time, and is sometimes contested.
 b. Resolve complex usage issues, particularly when the issue involves contested or changing usage; consult references (e.g., Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of English Usage) as needed for guidance.
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
 a. Observe the conventions concerning using hyphens to join words.
 b. Spell correctly.
3. Make effective language choices.
 a. Write and edit work so that it conforms to the guidelines in a style manual.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine word meaning (based on grades 11-12 reading).
 a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., sentence, paragraph, spelling, and meaningful parts; understanding the word's etymology; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital.
 b. Verify the preliminary determination of a word's meaning (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or looking up the word in a dictionary).
 c. Interpret various figures of speech (e.g., satire, sarcasm) and analyze their role in a text.
5. Understand word relationships.
 a. Trace the network of uses and meanings different words have and the interrelationships among those meanings and uses.
 b. Distinguish a word from other words with similar denotations but different connotations.
6. Use grade-appropriate general academic vocabulary and English language arts-specific words and phrases taught directly and gained through reading and responding to texts.

Block Structure and Instructional Methods Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up	Universal Approaches, Skills, and Strategies
Introduction (5 minutes) Goal = Connect The teacher will: - Articulate clear learning objectives for the lesson and discuss purposes behind them (what we are doing and why). - Ask students to demonstrate their understanding of the learning intention in written or oral form. Whole Group Focus Lesson with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes) Goal = Build The teacher will: - Introduce the topic of the lesson. - Explain the goal of the lessons' reading or writing strategies or skills foci through direct instruction, active engagement, and shared reading. - Co-create, with students, anchor charts with visuals to use as resources during independent work and as artifacts of learning. Topics include: close reading, Socratic Seminar, quickwrites, dialectical journals, marking texts, self-editing and peer editing, jigsaw, and role playing; reading and writing genre features; comprehension strategies; vocabulary, fluency, and word studies; grammar studies through mentor texts and student work to illustrate teaching points; grammar and language usage practice linked to authentic student writing. - Ask students to record learning in learning logs. - Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer by asking students to engage in accountable talk during lessons through Think-Pair-Share, Think-Write-Pair-Share, Turn and Talk, and other cooperative learning activities. - Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the lesson.	Elements of Effective Adolescent Literacy Program (Biancarosa and Snow, 2004) - Direct, explicit comprehension instruction - Effective instructional principles embedded in content - Motivation and self-directed learning - Text-based collaborative learning - Strategic tutoring - Diverse texts - Intensive writing - A technology component - Ongoing formative instruction - Extended time for literacy - Professional development - Ongoing summative assessment of students and programs - Teacher teams Strategies for Assessment For Learning (Stiggins, Arter, Chappuis and Chappuis, 2004) - Provide a clear and understandable vision of the learning target - Use examples of strong and weak work - Offer regular descriptive feedback - Teach students to self-assess and set goals - Design lessons to focus on one aspect of quality at a time - Teach students focused revision - Engage students in self-reflection, and let them keep track of and share their learning Design Units to Focus on Understanding (Wiggins and McTighe, 2004) - Communicate intended enduring understandings - Articulate big ideas - Design engaging and relevant essential questions - Adopt, adapt, or create authentic performance tasks; strategically employ other balanced assessment evidence - Construct engaging and effective aligned learning experiences

Whole Group Shared Reading (10 minutes)
Goals = Build and Enjoy

- Shared reading is used not only as reading for enjoyment, but to teach effective reading habits. Teacher routinely and explicitly will:
- Think aloud.
- Question for listening comprehension.
- Support vocabulary and work attack strategies.
- Model comprehension strategies.

Explicit Small Group and Independent Reading Work Period (15-25minutes; may alternate with writing or happen daily in double blocked class)
Goal = Reach and Practice

The teacher will:

- Confer with students or lead small collaborative groups of 4-6 students.
- In conferences, assist students as they reflect on their learning and set goals and monitor progress.
- In collaborative groups, meet with 3-4 students who are working together. Support may be offered in short, guided lessons (5-10 minutes) and should be clearly focused and scaffolded for students.
- Use reciprocal teaching instructional strategies.
- Use a variety of purposeful grouping formats for students who need more support (e.g., literature groups, Turn and Talk). Students participate in both homogeneous and heterogeneous groupings to meet different purposes.
- Offer frequent, multiple opportunities to interact with one another and use oral language purposefully during whole and small group and independent time.
- Strategically monitor time to ensure students are able to engage in both small group and independent work time each class period.
- Integrate speaking, listening, discussing, media, technology, and research.
- During independent work time, monitor and assist as students independently read, practicing whole and small group lesson strategies or skills. They may also partner read, use literature circles, and increase the volume of their reading.
- Help students carefully select independent reading materials, based on reading and language levels, concept knowledge, cultural backgrounds, interests, and support books offer, and consider these characteristics for small group reading materials.
- Monitor as students independently read "just-right" books and write responses to reading and literature in their learning logs.

Characteristics of Successful Teaching and Learning (Applebee, 2002)
- Engage students in higher-order talk and writing about the disciplines of English
- Ensure cohesiveness of curriculum and instruction
- Use diverse perspectives to deepen discussion and enhance learning
- Align curriculum with assessment
- Scaffold skills and strategies needed for new and difficult tasks
- Provide special help to struggling readers and writers

Key Classroom-Based Practices (Adler and Rougle, 2005)
- Dialogic instruction (Nystrand, 1997)
- Envisionment building (Langer, 1995)
- Curriculum as conversation (Applebee, 1996)

Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Instruction (Hall, Strangman, and Meyer; 2003); Differentiation (Tomlinson, 1999)
- Content
- Process
- Product

Comprehension Strategies (Burke, 1999)
- Self-monitoring
- Rereading
- Questioning texts
- Setting reading purpose
- Activating background knowledge

Reading Strategies
● Retelling (Morrow, 1985)
● Book Talks (Raphael, et. al., 1997, CORE, 2000)
● Comparison graphic organizers such as the story map, Venn diagram or semantic feature analysis (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002; Venn, 1880; Anders & Bos, 1986)
● Perspective Entries (Project CRISS, 2007)
● Point of View (Lukens, 2006)
● Picture Walk/Text Walk (Clay, 1985; Goldenberg, 1991; DeFord, Lyons & Pinnell, 1991; Hiebert & Taylor, 1994)
● Text factors including narrative genres, text structure and text features (Harvey & Goudvis, 2007)
● Comparison graphic organizers such as the story map, Venn diagram or semantic feature analysis (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002; Venn, 1880; Anders & Bos, 1986)

- Make certain access to materials, including novels, short texts, chart paper, graphic organizers, learning logs, and sticky notes.

Explicit Small Group and Independent Writing Work Period (15-25minutes; may alternate with reading or happen daily in double blocked class)
Goal = Reach and Practice

The teacher will:

- Guide students as they engage in a writing process—independently, in writing circles with writing partners, or with the teacher.
- Assist and connect students to consult appropriate mentor texts aligned to the focus of their writing.
- Confer with individual students, asking questions to help them think through how to improve their writing. During frequent writing conferences the teacher will:
- Read some student writing and ask questions to encourage students to talk about their writing processes and language and grammar use.
- Based on students' questions, evidenced-based needs, and interests, decide what to teach students or what to reinforce from recent focus lessons.
- Help students reflect on their writing by talking with them about their writing processes and set goals for next steps.
- Reinforce one strategy or concept clearly by: Supporting students in using information from other focus lessons; connecting students to writing mentors; and/or providing guided practice, so students can try writing strategies with teacher assistance.
- Integrate speaking, listening, discussing, media, technology, and research.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (5-10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Reconvene whole group to include all members of the class.
- Briefly revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

● Repeated readings (Samuels, 1979)
● Independent reading
(Allington, 2000 & Krashen, 2004)

Elements of the Mini-lesson (Tompkins, 2008)
- Introduce the topic
- Share examples [use mentor text]
- Provide information
- Guide practice
- Assess learning

- Editing
- Publishing / sharing with an audience (Elbow, 2002)
- Self assessment, goal setting, and use of portfolios (Stires, 1991)

Features of Effective [Literacy] Instruction (Langer, Close, Angelis, and Preller, 2000)
- Students learn skills and knowledge in multiple lesson types
- Teachers integrate test preparation into instruction
- Teachers make connections across instruction, curriculum, and life
- Students learn strategies for doing the work
- Students are expected to be generative thinkers
- Classrooms foster cognitive collaboration

Universal Expectations for the MPS Grade 12 Classroom Environment

- Organized for whole and small group instruction and independent work
- Classroom arrangement emphasizes student interactions, in addition to teacher-directed interactions
- Teacher encourages productive, accountable talk by having areas and times available for students to work together
- Smooth efficient transitions between activities
- All students have access to district-adopted resources
- Classroom library is well-stocked with age-appropriate fiction and nonfiction materials written on a variety of reading levels
- Books are effectively sorted and labeled so students can explain, maintain, and use library independenttly. Books are arranged attractively and invitingly
- Display of recent student work/projects with accompanying written explanation
- Display of signs, labels for each item and quotations
- Posted directions for activities or use of equipment
- Materials/tools for recording language, including pencils, pens, markers, paper, charts, logs, writers' notebooks, books, computers, etc.
- Work stations or space for reading, writing, researching, and listening activities
- Reference materials related to literature or content area units/topics
- Audiovisual/technology equipment and materials available for student use

English Language Arts Instructional Block - Grade 12

Foci: Reading, Writing, Speaking, Listening, and Using Language Common Core Standards for English Language Arts The standards listed here focus on what is essential but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Assessment Evidence	Aligned Resources
Reading Standards By the end of grade 12 students will: Literature: Key Ideas and Details 1. Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text, including determining where the text leaves things uncertain. 2. Analyze how multiple themes or central ideas in a text interact, build on, and, in some cases, conflict with one another. 3. Analyze the impact of the author's choices regarding how to develop and relate elements of a story or drama (e.g., where a story is set, how the action is ordered, how the characters are introduced and developed). Literature: Craft and Structure 4. Analyze in detail the condensed language of poems (or particularly rich language use in a narrative or drama), determining how specific word choices and multiple meanings shape the impact and tone. 5. Analyze how an author's choices concerning how to structure a text (e.g., electing at what point to begin or end a story) shape the meaning of the text. 6. Analyze an author's use of satire sarcasm, irony, understatement, or other means that requires a reader to understand various layers of meaning of the text. Literature: Integration of Knowledge and Ideas 7. Compare and contrast multiple interpretations of a drama or story (e.g., recorded or live productions), distinguishing how each version interprets the source text. (This includes at least one play by Shakespeare as well as one play by an American dramatist.) 8. (Not applicable to literature). 9. Analyze how an author draws on and transforms fictional source material in a specific work (e.g., how Shakespeare draws on a story from Ovid or how a later author draws on a play by Shakespeare). Literature: Range and Level of Text Complexity 10. Read literature independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 11-12 complexity band; read "stretch" texts in the Beyond CCR text complexity band with scaffolding as needed. Informational Text: Key Ideas and Details 1. Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences from the text, including determining where the text leaves things uncertain.	Common Course Evidence By the end of Grade 12 (two semesters) students will create a portfolio of proficient work, including: ➤ Letter/message of Request ➤ Letter/message of Complaint ➤ Research Project ➤ Evidence of Collaboration / Small Group Discussion ➤ Media Product ➤ Character Analysis ➤ Creative Product (writing or other media) ➤ Reading/Literature Synthesis (using media) ➤ Narrative Writing ➤ Persuasive Writing ➤ Descriptive Writing ➤ Expository Writing ➤ Persuasive Writing ➤ Reflective Writing  Students will employ technology to access, organize, create, revise, and publish works* Criteria for Evidence of Effective Reading Abilities (Adapted from Burke, 1999) • Demonstrates ability to fluently navigate all aspects of the text • Shows a confident	• District-adopted resources (including Holt) • Selected variety of novels (see English 12 Common Course Plan for details) • Models of writing from a variety of topics, authors, and genres, including fiction and nonfiction (mentor texts) • Writing tools (including electronic tools) • Writing process • Writing strategies based on best practices in writing • Elements of curriculum alignment • Writing supplies • Writing resources such as dictionaries and thesauruses • District-adopted rubrics • Visuals and other media • Discovery Education Streaming • MPS Virtual Library • Anchor papers and writing exemplars • MPS Writing Guides • MPS Portal Resources Reading Strategies/Approaches:

2. Analyze how multiple ideas in a text interact, build on, and, in some cases, conflict with one another.
3. Analyze in detail an author's ideas by describing how the ideas are developed and refined by specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of a text.

Informational Text: Craft and Structure
4. Interpret how an author uses and refines the meaning of a key term or terms over the course of a text (e.g., how Madison defines faction in Federalist No. 10 and No. 51).
5. Analyze how an author's choices concerning how to structure a text (e.g., how reasons, evidence, and information are organized and emphasized) shape the meaning of the text.
6. Analyze how various authors express different points of view on similar events or issues, assessing the authors' assumptions, use of evidence, and reasoning, including analyzing seminal U.S. documents (e.g., The Federalist, landmark U.S. Supreme Court majority opinions and dissents).

Informational Text: Integration of Knowledge and Ideas
7. Synthesize and apply multiple sources of information presented in different formats in order to address a question or solve a problem, including resolving conflicting information.
8. Evaluate the reasoning and rhetoric that supports an argument or explanation, including assessing the relevance and sufficiency of evidence and identifying false statements or fallacious reasoning.
9. Synthesize explanations and arguments from diverse sources to provide a coherent account of events or ideas, including resolving conflicting information.

Informational Text: Range of Level of Text Complexity
10. Read informational text independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 11-CCR text complexity band; read "stretch" texts in the Beyond CCR text complexity band with scaffolding as needed.

Writing Standards
By the end of grade 12 students will:
Text Types and Purposes
1. Write arguments which they:
 a. Introduce a substantive claim, establish its significance, distinguish it from alternate or opposing claims, and create an organization so that claims, reasons, and evidence are purposefully and logically sequenced.
 b. Develop a claim and counterclaim thoroughly and fairly, supplying the most relevant evidence, while point out the strengths of [his or her] own claim and the weaknesses of the counterclaim.
 c. Use precise words, phrases, and complex syntax to make explicit the relationships between claims and reasons, between reasons and evidence, and between claims and counterclaims.
 d. Sustain an objective style and tone while attending to the norms and conventions of the specific discipline as well as to the audience's knowledge, values, and possible biases.
 e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows logically from the argument and offers a reflection or recommendation.
2. Write informative/explanatory texts in which they:
 a. Introduce a complex topic and organize the information at multiple levels of the text so that each new piece of information builds on that which precedes it to create a unified whole; include understanding of authorial intent

• Accurately and simultaneously processes multiple layers and different meanings of text
• Pays extra attention that allows attention to finer distinctions or larger context of the work (e.g., relation of this text to other writers or different eras)
• Monitors progress of understanding and employs effective strategies to fill in gaps
• Self-assesses and possesses the ability to accurately articulate a picture of current performance as a reader
• Knows what to do to improve

Writing Approaches and formatting (e.g., headings) and graphics (e.g., figures, tables) when useful to clarify ideas.

 b. Thoroughly develop aspects of a complex topic through the purposeful selection of the most significant and relevant facts, concrete details, quotations, extended definitions, or other information and examples.
 c. Use varied transitional devices and sentence structures to create cohesion, clarify complex ideas, and link the major sections of the text.
 d. Use precise language, domain-specific and technical wording (when appropriate), and techniques such as metaphor, simile, and analogy to mange the complexity of the topic in a style that responds to the specific discipline and context as well as to the expertise of likely readers.
 e. Provide a well-developed conclusion that follows logically from the information or explanation provided and articulates the implications or significance of the topic.
3. Write narratives in which they:
 a. Engage the reader by establishing the significance of a problem, situation, or observation and purposefully organize events or experiences.
 b. Develop narrative elements (e.g., setting, stance, event sequence, complex characters) with purposefully selected details that call readers' attention to what is most distinctive or worth noticing.
 c. Use a variety of techniques to build toward a particular impact (e.g., a sense of mystery, suspense, growth, or resolution).
 d. Use precise language to develop the events, experiences, and ideas clearly and to reinforce the style.
 e. Provide a satisfying conclusion that follows from what is experienced, observed, or resolved over the course of the narrative.

Production and Distribution of Writing
4. Produce writing in which the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience. (Grade-specific expectations for this standard are defined in Standard 1-3 above).
5. Strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach, focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific purpose and audience.
6. Demonstrate command of technology, including the Internet, to produce, publish, and update work in response to ongoing feedback, including fresh arguments or new information.

Research to Build Knowledge
7. Perform short focused research projects and more sustained research; synthesize multiple authoritative sources on a subject to answer a question or solve a problem.
8. Analyze evidence gathered from multiple authoritative print and digital sources; assess the credibility and accuracy of the information and its usefulness and relevance for the specific task, purpose, and audience; and integrate selected information into the text, following a standard format for citation.
9. Write in response to literary or informational sources, drawing evidence from the text to support analysis and reflection as well as to describe what they have learned.
 a. Apply grade 11-12 reading standards to literature (e.g., "Analyze how an author draws on and transforms fictional source material, such as how Shakespeare draws on a story form Ovid, or a later author draws on Shakespeare").
 b. Apply grades 11-12 reading standards to literary nonfiction (e.g., "Evaluate the reasoning and

Students in grade nine will review and enhance the following skills that writers use (Tomkins, 2010)
● Structuring Skills
● Mechanical Skills
● Language Skills
● Reference Skills
● Computer Skills

Focus on Effective Sentence Construction and Revision
Students will pay particular attention to the purposeful revision of sentences. Teachers will employ Killgallon's (1998) Four Types of Sentence Composing to help student create increasingly sophisticated and fluent sentences. The four types are:
● Sentence Unscrambling
● Sentence Imitating
● Sentence Combining
● Sentence Expanding

rhetoric that support an argument or explanation, including assessing the relevance and sufficiency of evidence and identifying false statements or fallacious reasoning").

Range of Writing
10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Speaking and Listening Standards
By the end of grade 12, students will:

Comprehension and Collaboration:
1. Initiate and participate effectively in group discussions on grade 11-12 topics, texts, and issues being studied in class.
 a. Prepare for discussions by distilling the evidence or information about the material under study and explicitly draw on that preparation in discussions.
 b. Cooperate with peers to set clear goals and deadlines, establish roles, and determine ground rules for decision making (e.g., informal consensus, taking votes on key issues, presentation of alternate views).
 c. Propel conversations forward by asking questions that test the evidence and by sharing findings that clarify, verify, or challenge ideas and conclusions.
 d. Summarize accurately the comments and claims made on all sides of an issue and determine what additional information, research, and tasks are required for the team to complete the task.
 e. Evaluate whether the team has met its goals.

Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas
4. Plan and deliver focused and coherent presentations that convey clear and distinct perspectives such that the line of reasoning and sources of support are clear and alternative perspectives are addressed, adjusting presentation to particular audiences and purposes.
5. Make strategic use of digital media elements and visual displays of data to enhance understanding.
6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating a command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.

Language Standards By the end of grade 12, students will:	Language: Accurate use of conventions in writing and speaking	Speaking, Listening, and Media Strategies/Approaches

Language Standards
By the end of grade 12, students will:

Conventions in Writing an Speaking
1. Observe conventions of grammar in writing.
 a. Apply the understanding that usage is a matter of convention, can change over time, and is sometimes contested.
 b. Resolve complex usage issues, particularly when the issue involves contested or changing usage; consult references (e.g., Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of English Usage) as needed for guidance.
2. Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.
 a. Observe the conventions concerning using hyphens to join words.
 b. Spell correctly.
3. Make effective language choices.
 a. Write and edit work so that it conforms to the guidelines in a style manual.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use
4. Determine word meaning (based on grades 11-12 reading).
 a. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g., sentence, paragraph, spelling, and meaningful parts; understanding the word's etymology; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital.
 b. Verify the preliminary determination of a word's meaning (e.g., by checking the inferred meaning in context or looking up the word in a dictionary).
 c. Interpret various figures of speech (e.g., satire, sarcasm) and analyze their role in a text.
5. Understand word relationships.
 a. Trace the network of uses and meanings different words have and the interrelationships among those meanings and uses.
 b. Distinguish a word from other words with similar denotations but different connotations.
6. Use grade-appropriate general academic vocabulary and English language arts-specific words and phrases taught directly and gained through reading and responding to texts.

Block Structure and Instructional Methods Instructional Groupings: Whole Group – Strategic, Explicit Instruction Purposeful Small Group Instruction and Independent Work – Application and Practice Whole Group – Sharing and Wrap Up	Universal Approaches, Skills, and Strategies
Introduction (5 minutes) Goal = Connect The teacher will: • Articulate clear learning objectives for the lesson and discuss purposes behind them (what we are doing and why). • Ask students to demonstrate their understanding of the learning intention in written or oral form. Whole Group Focus Lesson with Explicit Instruction (10 minutes) Goal = Build The teacher will: • Introduce the topic of the lesson. • Explain the goal of the lessons' reading or writing strategies or skills foci through direct instruction, active engagement, and shared reading. • Co-create, with students, anchor charts with visuals to use as resources during independent work and as artifacts of learning. Topics include: close reading, Socratic Seminar, quickwrites, dialectical journals, marking texts, self-editing and peer editing, jigsaw, and role playing; reading and writing genre features; comprehension strategies; vocabulary, fluency, and word studies; grammar studies through mentor texts and student work to illustrate teaching points; grammar and language usage practice linked to authentic student writing. • Ask students to record learning in learning logs. • Provide additional information and/or clarification to enhance understanding and support transfer by asking students to engage in accountable talk during lessons through Think-Pair-Share, Think-Write-Pair-Share, Turn and Talk, and other cooperative learning activities. • Ask students to reflect on their learning and discuss how they will apply the content of the lesson.	Elements of Effective Adolescent Literacy Program (Biancarosa and Snow, 2004) • Direct, explicit comprehension instruction • Effective instructional principles embedded in content • Motivation and self-directed learning • Text-based collaborative learning • Strategic tutoring • Diverse texts • Intensive writing • A technology component • Ongoing formative instruction • Extended time for literacy • Professional development • Ongoing summative assessment of students and programs • Teacher teams Strategies for Assessment For Learning (Stiggins, Arter, Chappuis and Chappuis, 2004) • Provide a clear and understandable vision of the learning target • Use examples of strong and weak work • Offer regular descriptive feedback • Teach students to self-assess and set goals • Design lessons to focus on one aspect of quality at a time • Teach students focused revision • Engage students in self-reflection, and let them keep track of and share their learning Design Units to Focus on Understanding (Wiggins and McTighe, 2004) • Communicate intended enduring understandings • Articulate big ideas • Design engaging and relevant essential questions • Adopt, adapt, or create authentic performance tasks; strategically employ other balanced assessment evidence • Construct engaging and effective aligned learning experiences

Whole Group Shared Reading (10 minutes)
Goals = Build and Enjoy

- Shared reading is used not only as reading for enjoyment, but to teach effective reading habits. Teacher routinely and explicitly will:
- Think aloud.
- Question for listening comprehension.
- Support vocabulary and work attack strategies.
- Model comprehension strategies.

Explicit Small Group and Independent Reading Work Period (15-25minutes; may alternate with writing or happen daily in double blocked class)
Goal = Reach and Practice

The teacher will:

- Confer with students or lead small collaborative groups of 4-6 students.
- In conferences, assist students as they reflect on their learning and set goals and monitor progress.
- In collaborative groups, meet with 3-4 students who are working together. Support may be offered in short, guided lessons (5-10 minutes) and should be clearly focused and scaffolded for students.
- Use reciprocal teaching instructional strategies.
- Use a variety of purposeful grouping formats for students who need more support (e.g., literature groups, Turn and Talk). Students participate in both homogeneous and heterogeneous groupings to meet different purposes.
- Offer frequent, multiple opportunities to interact with one another and use oral language purposefully during whole and small group and independent time.
- Strategically monitor time to ensure students are able to engage in both small group and independent work time each class period.
- Integrate speaking, listening, discussing, media, technology, and research.
- During independent work time, monitor and assist as students independently read, practicing whole and small group lesson strategies or skills. They may also partner read, use literature circles, and increase the volume of their reading.
- Help students carefully select independent reading materials, based on reading and language levels, concept knowledge, cultural backgrounds, interests, and support books offer, and consider these characteristics for small group reading materials.
- Monitor as students independently read "just-right" books and write responses to reading and literature in their learning logs.

Characteristics of Successful Teaching and Learning (Applebee, 2002)
- Engage students in higher-order talk and writing about the disciplines of English
- Ensure cohesiveness of curriculum and instruction
- Use diverse perspectives to deepen discussion and enhance learning
- Align curriculum with assessment
- Scaffold skills and strategies needed for new and difficult tasks
- Provide special help to struggling readers and writers

Key Classroom-Based Practices (Adler and Rougle, 2005)
- Dialogic instruction (Nystrand, 1997)
- Envisionment building (Langer, 1995)
- Curriculum as conversation (Applebee, 1996)

Differentiated Instruction During Small Group Instruction (Hall, Strangman, and Meyer; 2003); Differentiation (Tomlinson, 1999)
- Content
- Process
- Product

Comprehension Strategies (Burke, 1999)
- Self-monitoring
- Rereading
- Questioning texts
- Setting reading purpose
- Activating background knowledge

Reading Strategies
● Retelling (Morrow, 1985)
● Book Talks (Raphael, et. al., 1997, CORE, 2000)
● Comparison graphic organizers such as the story map, Venn diagram or semantic feature analysis (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002; Venn, 1880; Anders & Bos, 1986)
● Perspective Entries (Project CRISS, 2007)
● Point of View (Lukens, 2006)
● Picture Walk/Text Walk (Clay, 1985; Goldenberg, 1991; DeFord, Lyons & Pinnell, 1991; Hiebert & Taylor, 1994)
● Text factors including narrative genres, text structure and text features (Harvey & Goudvis, 2007)
● Comparison graphic organizers such as the story map, Venn diagram or semantic feature analysis (Templeton, 1997; Trebasso, 2002; Venn, 1880; Anders & Bos, 1986)
●Repeated readings (Samuels, 1979)
● Independent reading

- Make certain access to materials, including novels, short texts, chart paper, graphic organizers, learning logs, and sticky notes.

Goal = Reach and Practice

The teacher will:

- Guide students as they engage in a writing process—independently, in writing circles with writing partners, or with the teacher.
- Assist and connect students to consult appropriate mentor texts aligned to the focus of their writing.
- Confer with individual students, asking questions to help them think through how to improve their writing. During frequent writing conferences the teacher will:
- Read some student writing and ask questions to encourage students to talk about their writing processes and language and grammar use.
- Based on students' questions, evidenced-based needs, and interests, decide what to teach students or what to reinforce from recent focus lessons.
- Help students reflect on their writing by talking with them about their writing processes and set goals for next steps.
- Reinforce one strategy or concept clearly by: Supporting students in using information from other focus lessons; connecting students to writing mentors; and/or providing guided practice, so students can try writing strategies with teacher assistance.
- Integrate speaking, listening, discussing, media, technology, and research.

Whole Group – Sharing and Reflection (5-10 minutes)
Goals = Reconnect and Wrap Up

The teacher will:

- Reconvene whole group to include all members of the class.
- Briefly revisit the focus of the original lesson. Class will share written pieces and articulate learning in written and oral forms (via formal and information and presentations).
- Integrate listening, speaking, presentation, media, and technology skills into the sharing session.

(Allington, 2000 & Krashen, 2004)

Elements of the Mini-lesson (Tompkins, 2008)
- Introduce the topic
- Share examples [use mentor text]
- Provide information
- Guide practice
- Assess learning

- Publishing / sharing with an audience (Elbow, 2002)
- Self assessment, goal setting, and use of portfolios (Stires, 1991)

Features of Effective [Literacy] Instruction (Langer, Close, Angelis, and Preller, 2000)
- Students learn skills and knowledge in multiple lesson types
- Teachers integrate test preparation into instruction
- Teachers make connections across instruction, curriculum, and life
- Students learn strategies for doing the work
- Students are expected to be generative thinkers
- Classrooms foster cognitive collaboration

Current Interventions (09-10)
- Alternate curriculum (Unique Learning System by News-2-You) used by special education teachers daily for 90 minutes (cumulatively) for students with comprehensive disabilities; students may earn elective credits which count toward graduation requirements. (Also see Appendix.)
- Replacement curriculum (Voyager/SoprisWest's Language!) used by special education teachers daily for 90 minutes for qualified students with disabilities; students may earn elective credits which count toward graduation requirements; IEP teams determine if classes count toward English credit. (Also see Appendix.)

Content Area/Disciplinary Literacy

The language arts are interactive and essential components of every discipline. Therefore, to enhance students' skills in content area literacy, district and site-based literacy leaders will collaborate with content area curriculum specialists to provide professional development to teachers and school leaders on best practices to enhance student learning and achievement in both language arts skills and discipline-based content area learning and achievement. Technology should be embedded in instructional practice.

Grades 6-8 – Content Area/Disciplinary Literacy (History/Social Studies)

Common Core Reading Standards The standards listed here focus on what is essential, but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Research-based Strategies	Formative Assessments
Key Ideas and Details
Cite specific textual evidence to support analysis of primary and secondary sources.	Questions and Higher Levels of Thinking	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS)
Determine the main ideas or information of a primary or secondary source; summarize the source, basing the summary on information in the text rather than on prior knowledge or opinions.	Main Idea – Detail Notes Summarizing Non-Fiction Text	Student work
Identify key steps in a text's description of a process related to history/social studies (e.g., how a bill becomes law, how interest rates are raised or lowered).	Sequence Organizers	Notes Graphic organizers Summaries
Craft and Structure
Determine the meaning of words and phrases in a text, including vocabulary specific to domains related to history/social studies.	Figuring Out New Words from Context	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS)
Identify how a history/social studies text presents information (e.g., sequentially, comparatively, causally).	Concept Maps Comparison Organizers Sequence Organizers	Student work
Identify aspects of a text that reveal an author's point of view or purpose (e.g., loaded language, inclusion or avoidance of particular facts).	Charting the Author's Style	Notes Graphic organizers
Integration of Knowledge and Ideas
Integrate graphical information (e.g., pictures, videos, maps, time lines)	Observation Entries	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes

Distinguish among fact, opinion, and reasoned judgment in a historical account.	Questions and Higher Levels of Thinking	Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes
Analyze the relationship between a primary and secondary source on the same topic.	Venn Diagram Concept Map	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS) Student work Notes Graphic organizers

Range and Level of Text Complexity
Read informational text independently, proficiently, and fluently in the grades 6–8 text complexity band; read "stretch" texts with scaffolding as needed.	Read-Recall-Check-Summarize	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes

Common Core Reading Standards The standards listed here focus on what is essential, but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Research-based Strategies	Formative Assessments
Key Ideas and Details
Cite specific textual evidence to support analysis of primary and secondary sources, attending to such features as the date and origin of the information.	Questions and Higher Levels of Thinking Anticipation Guides	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes
Determine the main ideas or information of a primary or secondary source; summarize how key events or ideas develop over the course of the text.	Main Idea Detail Notes Summarizing Non-Fiction Text	Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes
Analyze in detail a series of events described in a text and the causes that link the events; distinguish whether earlier events caused later ones or simply preceded them.	Sequence Organizers Problem Solution Notes Process Notes	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS) Student work Notes Graphic organizers Anticipation guides
Craft and Structure
Determine the meaning of words and phrases in a text, including vocabulary describing political, economic, or social aspects of history.	Figuring Out New Words from Context	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes
Explain how an author chooses to structure information or an explanation in a text to emphasize key points or advance a point of view.	Questioning the Author	Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes
Compare the point of view of two or more authors by comparing how they treat the same or similar historical topics, including which details they include and emphasize in their respective accounts.	Charting the Author's Style	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS) Student work Notes Graphic organizers

Integrate quantitative or technical information presented in maps, time lines, and videos with other information in a print or digital text.	Observation Entries	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes
Assess the extent to which the evidence in a text supports the author's claims.	Questions and Higher Levels of Thinking	Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes
Compare and contrast treatments of the same topic in several primary and secondary sources.	Venn Diagram Concept Map	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS) Student work Notes Graphic organizers

Common Core Reading Standards The standards listed here focus on what is essential, but do not describe all that can or should be taught.	Research-based Strategies	Formative Assessments
Key Ideas and Details
Cite specific textual evidence to support analysis of primary and secondary sources, connecting insights gained from specific details to an understanding of the text as a whole.	Questions and Higher Levels of Thinking Conclusion Support Notes	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes
Determine the main idea or information of a primary or secondary source; provide a summary that makes clear the relationships between the key details and ideas.	Main Idea-Detail Notes Summarizing Non- Fiction Texts	Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes
Analyze how ideas and beliefs emerge, develop, and influence events, based on evidence in the text.	Process Notes	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS) Student work Notes Graphic organizers
Craft and Structure
Interpret the meaning of words and phrases in a text, including how an author uses and refines the meaning of a key term over the course of the text (e.g., how Madison defines faction in Federalist No. 10 and No. 51).	Word Elaboration Concept of Definition Map	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes
Analyze in detail how a complex primary source is structured, including how key sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text contribute to the whole.	Conclusion –Support Notes Concept Maps	Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes
Evaluate the authors' differing points of view on the same historical event or issue by assessing the authors' claims, evidence, and reasoning.	Questioning the Author	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS) Student work Notes Graphic organizers

Integration of Knowledge and Ideas
Synthesize ideas and data presented graphically and determine their relationship to the rest of a print or digital text, noting discrepancies between graphics and other information in the text.	Observation Entries	Teacher observation with anecdotal notes
Evaluate an author's premises, claims, and evidence by corroborating or challenging them with other sources of information.	Questioning the Author Questions and Higher Levels of Thinking	Teacher-student conferences with anecdotal notes
Integrate information from diverse sources, both primary and secondary, into a coherent understanding of an idea or event, noting discrepancies among sources.	Pre- and Post- Reading Entries Perspective Entries	Classroom Assessments Based on Standards (CABS)

Grades 6-8	Grades 9 and 10	Grades 11 and 12
Text Types and Purposes
1. Write arguments focused on discipline-specific content in which they: a. Introduce a claim about a topic or issue, distinguish it form alternate or opposing claims, and organize the reasons, data, and evidence logically to support the claim. b. Support the claim with logical reasoning and detailed, accurate data and evidence (science) or information from credible primary, secondary, and tertiary sources (history). c. Use words and phrases as well as domain-specific vocabulary to make clear the relationships among claims, reasons, data, and evidence. d. Sustain an objective style and tone. e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows logically from the argument. 2. Write informative/explanatory text, including the narration of historical events or scientific procedures/experiments, in which they: a. Introduce and establish a topic and organize information under concepts or into categories. b. Develop a topic that has historical or scientific significance using well-chosen, relevant facts, data, details, quotations, examples, or other information. c. Use varied links and sentence structures to create cohesion and clarify information and ideas. d. Use precise language and domain-specific vocabulary and sustain a formal, objective style appropriate for a reader seeking information. e. Provide a conclusion that follows	1. Write arguments focused on discipline-specific content in which they: a. Introduce a precise claim, distinguish it from alternate or opposing claims, and provide an organization that establishes clear relationships among the claim, reasons, and evidence. b. Develop a claim fairly with logical reasoning, supplying detailed, accurate data and evidence acquired in a scientifically acceptable form (science) or gathered from credible primary, secondary, and tertiary sources (history). c. Use precise words and phrases as well as domain-specific vocabulary to make clear the relationships between claims and reasons and between reasons and the data and evidence. d. Sustain an objective style and tone while attending to the norms and conventions of the specific discipline. e. Provide a concluding statement or section that follows logically from the argument. 2. Write informative/explanatory texts, including the narration of historical events or scientific procedures/experiments, in which they: a. Introduce a topic and organize information under concepts and into categories, making clear the connections and distinctions between key ideas; use formatting and graphics (e.g., headings, figures, tables, graphs, illustrations) as useful to clarify ideas. b. Develop a topic that has historical or scientific significance using well-chosen, relevant, and sufficient facts, data, details, quotations, examples, extended definitions, or other information.	1. Write arguments focused on discipline-specific content in which they: a. Introduce a substantive claim, establish its significance, distinguish it from alternate or opposing claims, and create an organization so that claims, reasons, data, and evidence are purposefully and logically sequenced. b. Develop a claim thoroughly and fairly with logical reasoning, supplying the most relevant data and evidence acquired in a scientifically acceptable form (science) or gathered from credible primary, secondary, and tertiary sources (history). c. Use precise words and phrases as well as domain-specific vocabulary to make clear the relationships between claims and reasons and between reasons and the data and evidence. d. District Guidelines for Student Promotion (Grades 4 and 8)

According to the Administrative Policy 7.37 of the Milwaukee Public Schools (revised December 22, 2008):

Beginning in the year 2003 and thereafter, students who are promoted from fourth to fifth and eighth grade to ninth grade will be required to meet at least one of three criteria.

Criterion #1: Academic Performance is defined as proficiency levels in reading, writing, English/language arts, mathematics, science, and social studies that are measured and defined by classroom assessments based on district-adopted standards.

Criterion #2: Test results are a proficiency level of basic or above, which is measured and defined by the Wisconsin Knowledge and Concepts Exam, in reading, writing, English/language arts, mathematics, science, and social studies.

Criterion #3: Recommendations of Teachers shall be determined by a school-based team that includes the classroom teacher(s) and uses district guidelines. The criteria must be met in the following manner:

1. Criterion #1 shall be considered first.
2. When a student meets Criterion #1, Criterion #2 and Criterion #3 are not considered.
3. When a student does not meet Criterion #1, then either Criterion #2 or Criterion #3 must be met.

District Literacy Services and Supports for Families

MPS Parent Information Center Responsibilities and Priorities Related to Literacy

- Provides parents with access to a wide range of information, knowledge and skills, which will enable them to be collaborative partners in the education of their children.

- Facilitates parental involvement at the school community level. For example, schools that need to increase parental involvement and satisfaction may request the assistance of the center.

- Collaborates on parent involvement activities for ESEA Title I programs.
- Provide assistance and support to increase parent participation and collaboration about their children's education in the areas of special education and Title I, ESEA services, No Child Left Behind, and free tutoring.

- Increases parental satisfaction related to the delivery of educational services.

- Provides information related to ongoing MPS initiatives, including the Comprehensive Literacy Framework, such as Learning Targets, Literacy Coaches, and the Curriculum Alignment Process.

District Approved and Supported Parent & Family Involvement Strategies for Literacy

In order to empower parents and families, there are multiple opportunities, district and school based, for parents and families to receive information and participate interactively to support student achievement in the home environment.

These activities include but are not limited to:

- English and Bilingual parent literacy trainings on standards and assessments including beginning of the year/screening information
- English and Bilingual parent literacy classes and ESL classes
- Implementation of Home Instruction for Parents of Preschool Youngsters (HIPPY) and Having Involved Parents (HIP) at 35 MPS schools
- Take-home-literacy-kits for families by various MPS grants (Early Reading First, Reading First, PROPEL)
- Explanation and review of assessment data
- Communication about literacy through newsletters, websites, etc. in multiple languages
- Workshops for parents on various ways to read aloud with children
- Parent-teacher-student conferences on reading and writing goals and assessments
- Parent and community involvement as external assessors; providing effective feedback
- Weekly interactive reading activities/strategies to support school literacy focus
- PTA/PTO parent center/family room to provide information on children's reading, and to conduct book swaps, make book bags for read-at-home programs, cerate family books and sponsor other reading activities
- Partner with businesses for donations of books
- Access to the parent involvement calendar on the public page of MPS which includes various workshops and other trainings that extend classroom learning to the home environment
- Parent involvement specialist assigned to each cluster
- Parent coordinator assigned to each school
- Two (2) parent resource centers (Walker and Wheatley)
- Governance council at all schools

District Literacy Department Services

The district literacy department provides support to schools through the services of two administrators: an English Language Arts Curriculum Specialist and a Literacy Curriculum Specialist. Under the direction of the Literacy Curriculum Specialist and the English Language Arts Curriculum Specialist, District Literacy Specialists and English Language Arts Teaching Specialists provide support, assistance and training to site-based Literacy Coaches, Literacy Leaders, Learning Teams, classroom teachers and others. All district literacy personnel work collaboratively with members of the Department of Educational Services, including District Library Media Specialists. In addition, they work with other district level support staff and members of the Milwaukee Partnership Academy.

District Library Media Services

"Today's school library media program plays an integral role in educating children for the future. It is where students learn to find, analyze, evaluate, interpret and communicate information and ideas--skills they will need as adults to live and work in an information-based society. In addition to serving as independent learning centers, the programs of many centers are directly integrated into the curriculum."

ALA (American Library Association), Partner in Learning

In keeping with the spirit of the American Library Association the vision of the Milwaukee Public School District (MPS) Teaching and Learning, District Library Media Office is to promote quality library media programs that lead to high student academic achievement. We also believe that highly trained and qualified library media personnel are essential to providing meaningful library experiences to students, staff and families. Further, it is our belief that library media centers that are diverse and culturally relevant positively support the characteristics of high performing urban classrooms.

Preparing students to be successful in the 21st Century is going to take a collaborative effort. The library media center is the vehicle that supports staff and students as they strive to become effective users of information. Library media specialists must work in tandem with teachers to align their curriculum to MPS Targets, State Standards and the Information and Technology Strategic Plan. According to the Wisconsin Study on School Libraries, schools where library media specialists spent more time on instructionally related student and teacher activities and were successful in building collections that provided a wide range of quality resources had higher WKCE scores. High performing library media centers also use school data to assess the impact of the library on achievement and they continually evaluate and collect data that can be used to create lessons and inform their practice.

Our mission is to promote collaboration between Library Media Staff, classroom teachers and other specialists to enrich student learning experiences and ultimately close the achievement gaps. The Teaching and Learning District Library Media Specialists are committed to supporting and training highly qualified Library Media Personnel. In addition, it is our resolve to provide leadership to establish quality library media programs and to work toward developing 21st Century library media personnel, collections and facilities.

District Bilingual/English as a Second Language (ESL) Services

The Bilingual Bicultural Education Program offers a variety of options to all language minority students through various schools across the city. The program models used in the Milwaukee Public Schools District are the following: Developmental / Maintenance program, Dual-Language program (Dual Immersion or two-Way) and the English as a Second language (ESL) Stand Alone program.

The Bilingual Developmental program is for Spanish – speaking students in kindergarten through twelfth grade. This model assist students to achieve the skills of understanding, speaking, reading and writing in two languages, one of which is English. The premise is to foster continued development and retention of a child's literacy skills in their native language and to utilize the language as a vehicle for exploring and acquiring a second language.   Therefore, while the students are building the necessary academic skills in their native language, the students are able to naturally transition into the second language at their developmental level in 2nd grade, 2nd semester and therefore, transfer these literacy skills into the second language (English). The Classes are taught bilingually, utilizing the regular subject content textbooks and other supplementary instructional materials in Spanish and English. At the secondary level, the proficiency level of students in each classroom will dictate the required amount of second language instruction. The goal being that, students are instructed in their second language at least 60% of their class period.

The Dual Immersion model fosters a second language in minority students at the same time that it fosters a second language for the main population of a country, in this case, English speaking students learning Spanish as a second language. In this model, English and Spanish speaking students are enrolled in the same classroom.

English as a Second language (ESL) services are offered throughout the district as both a component of the Bilingual (Spanish/English) Program as well as to other language minority students that attend ESL stand alone schools. For both programs, classes are taught by certified ESL teachers at various schools in MPS at the K-12 level.

ESL is an integral component of the Bilingual Program; both ESL and classroom teachers are responsible for the student's English language instruction. The ESL classes are taught utilizing a content-based team teaching approach. The Instructional approaches for ESL in the bilingual classrooms parallels pedagogical methodology of mainstream classes in content areas and the State Standards are utilized for instruction and achievement. The ESL teachers derive language objectives using The WIDA® Consortium's English Language Proficiency Standards for English Language Learners (ELLs) in Pre-Kindergarten through Grade 12 to ensure that ELL students are receiving the appropriate English content vocabulary according to their individual English language proficiency (ELP) level and are typically grouped in ESL classes according to age.   A variety of service delivery models based on student needs are practiced including pullout, team teaching, push-in etc.

ELL students not enrolled in the Bilingual Program are placed into monolingual classrooms. Hmong, Somali and Arabic students receive native language support from bilingual teaching assistants and teachers when possible. Since students are immersed in a non-bilingual program, extra ESL support is helpful to the child's well being and academic growth and is encouraged. Integration of ESL and classroom instruction implemented through team-teaching is recommended where feasible, especially for students at the intermediate and advanced stages of English language acquisition.

Due to the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Educational Act (ESEA)
– Title III – No Child Left Behind (NCLB), the Bilingual Multicultural Education Division is requiring that teachers increase the percentage of second language instruction utilizing one of the previous described approaches.

Gradual Increase in English Language Instruction Approach
Table 1

Grade	%Spanish	% English	Sample of Informal Activities
Pre-K	90%	10% Informal	Songs, bathroom instructions household items, big book readings, etc.
K5	80%	20% Informal	Colors, clothing, animals, numbers, days of the week, months, etc.
First Grade	70%	30% Informal	Book walks, stories, story elements, commands, crafts, ethnic items, flowers, plants etc.
Second Grade	60%	40%
Third Grade	50%	50%
Fourth Grade	40%	60%
Fifth Grade	40%	60%

Note: Student skills, previous knowledge and group composition should be taken into consideration for the informal activities.

Gradual increases in the student's second language (English) and the appropriate transition of students to their second language will lead us to be in compliance with NCLB. NCLB is mandating that Limited English Proficient (LEP) students be tested in English after 1 year in U.S. schools. In Wisconsin the count starts in the 1st grade. In order to prepare students for this mandate, these language model approaches are implemented in Milwaukee Public Schools.

1. How are ELL students kept in the regular education classroom? What is being done to get them back to the regular classroom, if separate services are required?

   For ELL students, services are provided utilizing a team teaching push in approach whenever possible (especially in support of the bilingual program where the classrooms are for the most part all ELL). In the stand alone programs where there are children from multiple rooms, ESL specialists collaborate with the classroom teacher to provide services that support classroom instruction. ESL in all levels of the MPS program are content based which means that by utilizing the WIDA English Language Proficiency Standards, ESL specialist design an instructional program which supports ELLs in the classroom environment.

2. Does the ESL/ELL department provide separate help/support?

   Content-based ESL is a method that integrates English-as-a-second-language instruction with subject matter instruction. The technique focuses not only on learning a second language, but using that language as a medium to learn mathematics, science, social studies, or other academic subjects.

   Research shows that ELLs need comprehensive, high-quality English language instruction in order to "catch up" with their English-proficient peers. Immersion in English-medium classrooms is not sufficient to support the development of high academic levels of English language proficiency. Comprehensive, direct, and high-quality instruction about the English language, including speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing, is required to support an ELL's development of academic English. ESL instruction must be as carefully planned and delivered, as is any content area instruction.

   MPS has defined ESL as explicit, direct instruction about the English language intended to promote English language acquisition by LEP students and to help them "catch up" to their student peers who are proficient in English. It includes learning outcomes in speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing. ESL instruction should be based on an ESL curriculum and standards and appropriate ESL textbooks and other materials.

The use of topics and materials that ELLs encounter daily in their content classrooms can and should be productively used during ESL instruction. Reading research consistently shows that students need multiple exposures to vocabulary and multiple opportunities to use vocabulary before they can be said to have fully acquired it. Infusing the language and materials of content instruction into ESL instruction multiplies ELLs' exposures and opportunities to practice language of academic content. This approach, content-based ESL instruction, is productive as well as sensible. (Mass. Department of Ed)

As a department, the Division of Bilingual Multicultural Education works to disseminate information through workshops, fliers, readings, newsletters, etc. on all topics of English Language Acquisition and instructional techniques to use with ELLs. The department works with mainstream teachers, bilingual teachers, ESL specialists and central staff in an effort to improve the level of differentiated instruction for ELLs. The department is the LEA representative on the WIDA and WIABE Boards and has representation at the WIDA National Advisory Panel for English Language Proficiency Standards. The department's goal is to strive to create the best learning environment possible for ELLs in all MPS schools regardless of linguistic, academic, or background knowledge base.

3. How do ELL students access the general curriculum?

In addition to ESL stand alone support services, ELLs who are Spanish speaking have the opportunity to enroll in the MPS Developmental Bilingual Program. Through a gradual increase of English language instruction, students are able to stay on target academically while acquiring English without falling behind. The Bilingual program is also supported by ESL specialists who work on language objectives to match the content objectives of the general curriculum. To ensure accurate modeling and fluency in both Spanish and English, Bilingual teachers are not only fluent in their content area but also in Spanish and English as demonstrated in an assessment given to them prior to hiring.

Also, in schools where there is a significant population of a particular language group, every effort is made to ensure that a heritage speaking paraprofessional is on site to help the children comprehend what is being taught in the classroom. MPS currently has paraprofessionals in Hmong, Arabic and Somali which are our largest and growing language populations. We also work with community organizations such as PACA (Pan African Community Association) as an additional safety net and connection not only within school but also outside of the classrooms. A Refugee Parent Center has been established where there is tutoring nightly (ASPAIR) for our neediest refugee children new to the area. A grant-funded citywide Newcomer Summer School is provided to help close the academic gap and to give our newest students a jump start to the coming school year.

Additionally, we have developed a Board approved International Newcomer Center specifically developed for middle age refugee students with interrupted formal education (SIFE). This self contained center houses students for a limited amount of time and then works with sponsoring agencies, parents and receiving schools to ensure a smooth transition when moving to a mainstream site with ESL support services.

District Special Education Literacy Services

The principal/educational leader in each school is responsible to make sure all students, including students with disabilities, have access to the appropriate curriculum and appropriate curriculum materials. The Milwaukee Board of School Directors has recently amplified this requirement in its revision of MPS Administrative Policy and Procedure 7.26 Textbook Adoption, and Administrative Policy and Procedure 7.27 Maintenance and Control of Instructional Materials.

Central guidance and support regarding this requirement is provided by the Department of Educational Services and the Department of Special Services. The Department of Administrative Accountability holds school leaders accountable for this requirement. Each school has developed a School Improvement Plan (SIP) using appropriate student data to determine areas of instructional focus for the school. The System of Support Cluster Model (SOS) provides ongoing support to ensure that the school is following their SIP plan and implementing any other District directives relative to student achievement.

It is the responsibility of the IEP team to determine the extent to which an individual student with a disability will access the general curriculum, with or without modifications and accommodations or an alternate/replacement curriculum in whole or in part. In making this decision, IEP teams must consider all modifications, accommodations, interventions, and or individually designed instruction that has been implemented and the degree of success of implementation and the resulting outcomes for the student. All decisions regarding individual students with disabilities begin with the assumption that a student can be successful in the general curriculum. Accommodations, modifications, interventions etc. are only added if the child cannot be successful with a less restrictive model (general education). Additionally, as students make progress, IEP teams note progress and make decisions about moving towards increasing participation in the general curriculum in a less restrictive manner. Success and high outcomes for the student is always the goal.

Determination as to whether a student requires the Language replacement curriculum, which is aligned with the state standards, includes consideration of but is not limited to the following areas:

- Proficiency on the WKCE
- Progress without accommodations and modifications in the regular curriculum
- Progress with accommodations and modifications in the regular curriculum
- Progress with other intervention programs
- Progress with individually designed instruction in the regular curriculum
- Language! placement (screening) test recommendations

- Teacher recommendation

The team may identify other parts of the general curriculum to supplement instruction for any given student who participates in the replacement curriculum (Language!).

Determination as to whether a student requires an alternate curriculum (Unique!) based on Wisconsin Extended Grade Band Standards includes consideration of but is not limited the following:

- IEP Teams go through the same analysis as done to determine the use of a replacement curriculum. If the IEP team determines that the student needs are so significant that participation in the WKCE may not be appropriate, they complete the "Wisconsin Alternate Assessment Participation Checklist" (I-7A). The Wisconsin Alternate Assessment is based on Extended Grade Band Standards which guides future instruction.
- Once the IEP team has determined that an alternate curriculum based on Wisconsin Extended Grade Band Standards is required the classroom teacher develops individual student profiles to plan instruction accordingly.

The team may identify other parts of the general curriculum to supplement instruction for any given student who participates in the alternate curriculum (Unique).

 High school students may earn elective credits for both Language! and Unique courses. These credits count toward graduation requirements. High School students may earn credits towards English/Lang Arts graduation requirements if the IEP team makes individualized decisions based upon the guidance provided in the Milwaukee Public Schools IEP Policies and Procedures Handbook which was completed in collaboration with the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction. Guidance for these polices were found in the DPI Information Update, Bulletin 01.02.

As students make progress, IEP teams note progress and make decisions about moving towards increasing participation in the general curriculum in a less restrictive manner. Success and high outcomes for the student is always the goal.

The Milwaukee Public Schools has adopted the Model Policies and Procedures that have been developed by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction to ensure compliance with state and federal laws relative to students identified with special education needs. These policies and procedures include fundamental adherence to the individualized nature of all educational decisions for each student with a disability in the least restrictive environment.

The Milwaukee Public Schools has worked collaboratively with the Wisconsin Department of Instruction to update its IEP Policies and Procedures Handbook which sets forth specific directions to all district staff for the planning and decision making regarding students with disabilities. The Special Education Oversight Action Plan (SOAP) includes the establishment of nine accountability and support groups (SOS Clusters) which ensure adherence to state and federal laws and high quality outcomes for all students with disabilities. Special Education Leadership Liaisons, Special Services Administrators, Special Education Supervisors, Diagnostic/Program Support Teachers, Citywide Program Support Teachers, DIFI Supervisors, Curriculum Generalists, Literacy Specialists, and Literacy Coaches all support the school principal/educational leader to implement high quality programs that ensure success for each individual student. Central support and accountability monitoring is provided by the Department of Administrative Accountability, Department of Special Services, the Department of Educational Services, and the Department of District Improvement and Support.

District Summer School Services

Summer School offers students educational programs to help them better meet grade level standards, graduation requirements and yearly IEP goals. The following briefly describes the educational programs that are offered at the elementary, K8, middle and high school levels.

The Milwaukee Public School District's Summer School program continues to be a successful intervention for those students attending by:

- ✓ Providing credit recovery opportunities for high school students.
- ✓ Providing appropriate remedial activities for students in grades K5-8.
- ✓ Providing ESY programs for students in grades K5-12.

High School
High school courses are open to all high school students living in the city of Milwaukee and are offered at ten (10) MPS sites. The high school focus is to recover core subject area credits for 9-12 graders.

Elem K5-8
Part of the focus of Summer School is to improve the reading and language arts skills of our K-8 grade students who are currently performing at the minimal or basic level based on their Student Promotion System (SPS) scores and the State Test (WKCE) proficiency levels.

ESY
Extended School Year (ESY) services are not simply an extension of time in school, nor is it required for every student with special education needs. Determination must be done on an individualized basis.

CATP
The CATP-Community Assessment & Training program is offered during the summer session. The School to Work Transition Program prepares students with special education needs for the transition from school to the adult world of work and community living.

District Supplemental Educational Services (SES)

Supplemental educational services are additional academic instruction (free tutoring) designed to increase the academic achievement of students in low-performing schools. As identified in the federal No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, supplemental educational services must be provided outside of the regular school day and be high-quality, research-based, and specifically designed to increase student academic achievement. Under Title I of the ESEA: No Child Left Behind Act, the parents of students who are enrolled in schools that have been designated as a School Identified for Improvement (SIFI) and that have not made Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) for three or more years, have the option of accessing supplemental educational services for their children.

Appendix A: Access to Core Curriculum, Assistive Technology Tools and Resources

Many of the tools listed below can be used within the general education setting by all students. These tools become assistive technology for a special education or a 504 student when they are required for the student to access the general curriculum. At that point, the device or tool needs to be written into the IEP. Items available through MPS Assistive Technology are provided to special education and 504 students. Most items are available for check out from Assistive Technology.

Appendix C: Response to Intervention

Response to Intervention (RtI) is a scaffolded approach to instruction which uses progress monitoring to meet the academic, behavioral and social emotional needs of students using high quality differentiated, culturally responsive instruction.

Tier I: Universal core curriculum instruction and practices all students receive. At any given time 80% or more of the students demonstrate sufficient progress through core academic, behavioral and social emotional instruction and/or practices.

Qualities of Tier I Instruction
•Research-based curriculum
•High yield instructional, behavioral and/or social emotional high yield strategies
•High levels of student engagement apparent
•Positive Behavioral Intervention Supports (PBIS)
•Curriculum aligned to standards/strategic goals
•High expectations are communicated and monitored
•Feedback on performance relative to expectations provided •Differentiated instruction
•Ongoing summative, formative and benchmark assessment
•Effective integration of technology

Tier II: Intervention coupled with ongoing progress monitoring provided to students needing additional acceleration or enrichment in academic, behavioral or social emotional skills. At any given time up to 15% of students receive Tier II academic, behavioral and/or social emotional interventions.

Qualities of Tier II Intervention
•Identification of students needing intervention based on data
•Teacher teams provide support for intervention planning and analysis
•Offered in addition to not in place of Tier I curriculum, practices or instruction
•Progress monitored and graphed
•Short term
•Vetted with fidelity checks
•Aligned to core curriculum and standards •Monitored •Specialized

Tier III: Rigorous interventions, replacement or additional curriculum and/or instructional strategies provided to students requiring an individualized plan of action. Tier III interventions target both students gifted in specific areas and students with significant skill deficits in specific areas. At any give time up to 5% of students receive Tier III academic, behavioral and/or social emotional intervention.

Qualities of Tier III Intervention
•Identification, intervention and planning based on data
•Teacher teams, collaborative support team or IEP teams develop intervention plans
•Based on individual student need •Rigorous
•Progress monitored frequently and graphed

Appendix D: RtI Tier 2 - READ 180

Entrance Criteria

READ 180 helps struggling readers improve reading skills, experience success, and become more motivated to read. Student selection is important to the student, school, and program's success. It is recommended that you select students for enrollment in READ 180 who can benefit from READ 180 based on multiple measures, as listed below.

Each READ 180 classroom should have no more than 21 students enrolled. It is recommended that a waiting list be available in case a student leaves or does not attend in a regular manner. Some students currently enrolled may benefit from additional time in READ 180. These currently enrolled students would continue to take the course until exit criteria is met.

Use the following criteria when placing students in READ 180: Use Criterion 1 to fill your READ 180 spots. If you do not fill all available spots after implementing Criteria 1; then implement Criterion 2, then 3, etc. until all spots have been filled.

- Criteria #1 - WKCE scores. Consider selecting students in the bottom performance bands (i.e. Minimal & Basic).
    - ✪ Students with disabilities who test out of Language! and who have also scored in the Minimal/Basic range on the WKCE may be enrolled in READ 180.
    - ✪ ELL students at LAU level 3 or higher who have also scored within the Minimal/Basic Range on the WKCE.
    - ✪ Students receiving ESL services can take READ 180 in addition to ESL services but not in place of ESL services.
- Criteria #2 – Discovery Education (formerly ThinkLink) benchmark data that show a student has scored within the Minimal or Basic range in reading.
- Criteria #3 - Teacher observations and other reading assessment data that indicate the student is performing 2 years below grade level in reading.
- Criteria #4 - Review Scholastic Reading Inventory (SRI) results, if available. This would only apply to students who were in READ 180 during the previous school year or semester. Students that fall in the At-Risk or Basic range would make good candidates.

Students who are proficient on the WKCE or who are already proficient on the SRI are NOT appropriate for inclusion in READ 180.

Lexile Chart from Scholastic Reading Inventory (SRI)

Grade	At-Risk	Basic	Proficient	Advanced
1	N/A	99 and Below	100 to 400	401 and Above
2	99 and Below	100 to 299	300 to 600	601 and Above
3	249 and Below	250 to 499	500 to 800	801 and Above
4	349 and Below	350 to 599	600 to 900	901 and Above
5	449 and Below	450 to 699	700 to 1000	1001 and Above
6	449 and Below	500 to 799	800 to 1050	1051 and Above
7	549 and Below	550 to 849	850 to 1100	1101 and Above
8	599 and Below	600 to 899	900 to 1150	1151 and Above
9	649 and Below	650 to 999	1000 to 1200	1201 and Above
10	699 and Below	700 to 1024	1025 to 1250	1251 and Above
11	799 and Below	800 to 1049	1050 to 1300	1301 and Above

Exit Criteria

Establish a READ 180 Exit Team

Dismissing students from READ 180 is a team decision based on formal and informal assessment data regarding a student's reading skills. The READ 180 Exit Team should consist of the READ 180 teacher, an administrator, the DIFI Supervisor, and other relevant staff. Students typically exit the READ 180 program after being exposed to no less than 12 to 18 months of the intervention or until the exit criteria is met. The team should use the following guidelines for removing students from the READ 180 program.

Formal Measures of Performance (or Reading Proficiency)

In the area of formal assessment, the team should determine mastery and/or proficiency using formal or standardized assessment data. The student must demonstrate mastery on at least 3 out of 4 of the following:

- Proficient SRI Lexile Score at Level 4 (see chart below)

- Proficient Reading Scale Score – Benchmark assessment (most recent)
- Average score on the most recent grade-level READ 180 rSkills Tests
- Average score on the READ 180 Topic Software data (e.g. Student Diagnostic Report, Student Reading Report, and Comprehension Skills Report).

Discovery Education Benchmark Assessment Proficiency Target Scale Scores
Reading
Grade	Proficiency Target Scale Score
Grade 6	303
Grade 7	327
Grade 8	338
Grade 9	341

Informal Measures of Performance (or Reading Proficiency)

The READ 180 teacher will provide informal assessment data from his/her observations of the student and the student's self-report. The following data needs to be included in the determination of READ 180 dismissal:

- Observations of motivation, attitude, and behavior (+ or -)
- Scholastic Reading Counts! Quiz scores
- Final rBook writing samples (passing holistic score of 3 or 4)
- Number and levels of books read or Scholastic Reading Counts! (number of quizzes passed)
- Informal assessments of comprehension during independent reading (teacher observation and anecdotal notes)
- Teacher and student ratings of 3 or 4 on each of the 17 factors on the "Modeled and Independent Reading Center Form"
- Demonstration of sustained academic improvement and performance in at least one other grade level content area. Check if present.

Establish a Support System for Exited Student

Each student who meets READ 180 exit criteria should have an identified support system in place to ensure continued academic gains for the student.

Appendix E: RtI Tier 3 – Language!

The Language! comprehensive literacy curriculum is an intensive, research-based, Tier III intervention program for students with special education needs who require a replacement curriculum based on IEP Team determinations. The curriculum accelerates students to grade-level reading proficiency by using a sequential, cumulative, mastery and skill-based instructional format that addresses all learning styles.

The Language! curriculum is based on state standards and provides a minimum of 90 cumulative minutes of daily instruction in six literacy domains. These domains include phonemic awareness and phonics, word recognition and spelling, vocabulary and morphology, listening and reading comprehension, and speaking and writing. The instruction is delivered by special education teachers and includes differentiation tools and a mandatory individualization component that is based upon each student's performance data.

ENTRANCE CRITERIA

An IEP team may determine that an individual student with special education needs requires a replacement curriculum based on, but not limited to, the following considerations:

- Proficiency level on the WKCE in reading
- Progress without accommodations and modifications in the regular reading curriculum
- Progress with accommodations and modifications in the regular reading curriculum
- Progress with Tier II intervention programs
- Progress with individually designed instruction in the regular curriculum
- Language! placement testing recommendation
- Teacher recommendations, for example,
  - Reading delays are the result of skill deficits
  - Student would benefit from instruction in an accelerated curriculum
- Documented need for a replacement curriculum
- For students in 3rd – 12th grade
- Reading delays are significant and below the instructional level of the Language! curriculum

INSTRUCTIONAL READING LEVELS

Students should not be instructed in Language! levels that are beyond their actual grade. The following chart should be followed when making grouping determinations:

Level A 3rd grade
Level B 4th grade
Level C 5th grade
Level D 6th grade
Level E 7th grade
Level F 8th grade

Decodable text begins at P-3 and goes through 3rd grade. Independent text begins at a 4th grade reading level and goes through the 6th grade. Challenge text goes from 4th through the 10th grade level.

ELL STUDENTS AND LANGUAGE!

The following guidelines should be considered by IEP Teams when determining whether ELL/ESL students require a replacement curriculum. This decision should be guided by the general entrance criteria listed previously and these additional guidelines for individual students:

- ◆ Are identified as Special Needs via an IEP Team evaluation only
- ◆ Are in grades 3 – 12 only
- ◆ Score 3.0 or higher on the "ACCESS Oral Proficiency"
- ◆ Have lived in the United States for 3 or more years
- ◆ Have transitioned to English reading
- ◆ Have scored minimal or basic on the WKCE in reading
- ◆ Are currently not in a Bilingual/ESL program

Materials for the Language! curriculum are only available in English, however, daily supplementary ELL materials/lessons are provided with the curriculum.

PROGRESS MONITORING

Student progress is monitored via an online assessment system provided by the publisher. Students enter the curriculum at specific points based on Language! placement testing recommendations. This placement testing is based upon standardized, norm-referenced tests that establish baseline data. Formative content assessments are administered weekly and drive mandatory differentiation activities. Summative content assessments are administered at the end of each level. Progress Indicators, based on standardized, norm referenced assessments, are also administered at the end of each level and measure growth from the baseline data.

EXIT CRITERIA

An IEP Team may determine that individual students no longer require a replacement curriculum based on, but not limited to, the following considerations:

- ◆ Progress in the Language! curriculum
- ◆ Proficiency level on the WKCE in reading
- ◆ Ability to benefit from instruction in the regular reading curriculum without accommodations and modifications
- ◆ Ability to benefit from instruction in the regular reading curriculum with accommodations and modifications
- ◆ Ability to benefit from instruction in the regular reading curriculum with individually designed instruction
- ◆ Ability to benefit from instruction in the regular reading curriculum with Tier II intervention programs
- ◆ Teacher recommendations, for example,
  - o Reading delays are not the result of skill deficits
  - o Student does not benefit from instruction with an accelerated curriculum
- ◆ Reading delays are no longer significant and/or above the instructional level of the Language! Curriculum

Appendix F: RtI Tier 3 – Unique Learning System

The Unique comprehensive literacy curriculum is an alternate standards-based, Tier III intervention program for students with comprehensive disabilities who take or will take the Wisconsin Alternate Curriculum (WAA-SwD). The curriculum consists of topics built around science and social studies content that incorporates reading, writing and math.

The Unique curriculum is based on Extended Grade Band Standards and provides a minimum of 90 minutes of daily instruction. Due to the nature of the students that this program serves, the 90 minutes can be accomplished cumulatively. The instruction is delivered by special education teachers and includes three levels of differentiation, creating student profiles and a mandatory progress monitoring component based upon individual student performance data.

ENTRANCE CRITERIA
The IEP team may determine that an individual student with special education needs requires an alternate curriculum based on, but not limited to, the following considerations:

- Proficiency level on the WAA-SwD
- Need for an alternate curriculum based on Extended Grade Band Standards
- Reading delays are significant and no higher than a 3rd grade instructional level
- In 1st-12th grade

INSTRUCTIONAL READING LEVELS
Students should only be instructed in Unique if they are reading below a 3rd grade instructional level.

ELL STUDENTS AND UNIQUE
The following guidelines should be considered by IEP Teams when determining whether ELL/ESL students require an alternate curriculum. This decision should be guided by the general entrance criteria listed previously and these additional guidelines:

- Students are identified as Special Needs via an IEP Team evaluation only
- In 1st-12th grade
- Students take the WAA-SwD based on Extended Grade Band Standards

Materials for Unique are only available in English at this time.

PROGRESS MONITORING

Student progress is monitored via an online assessment system provided by the publisher. Students enter the curriculum based on IEP team determination. An online profile is required for each student. The completed profile will give the student a differentiation level that will guide the teacher in presenting lesson content. A pretest is completed at the beginning of the month. A post-test is completed at the end of the month.

EXIT CRITERIA

An IEP Team may determine that individual students no longer require an alternate curriculum based on, but not limited to, the following considerations:

- Progress in the Unique curriculum
- Achievement below a 3rd grade instructional reading level
- Scores on the WAA-SwD at the Advanced level across reading, math and science
- Ability to consistently earn the maximum points on Unique Pretests and Post-tests during the course of a semester
- Ability to benefit from instruction in the regular reading curriculum with accommodations and modifications
- Ability to benefit from instruction in the regular reading curriculum with individually designed instruction
- Exit from Unique does not automatically ensure eligibility for Language! Refer to the "Language!" section for more detailed information
- If student is involved in Extended Grade Band Standards after Grade 10, he/she will continue to receive the Unique curriculum until age 21 or sooner

Appendix G: Implementation Integrity

(Forthcoming, Implementation Fall 2010)

Appendix H: Glossary

Ability	An educational aim that involves the whole person; is an integration of skills, behaviors, knowledge, values, attitudes, motives or dispositions, and self perceptions; is developmental and can be learned; can be assessed; transfers across settings; is continually re-evaluated and re-defined; is important to personal and/or professional situations in life; is appropriate to the mission/aims and educational philosophy of the institution or program *(Alverno College)
Academic Prompt	A form of assessment between an authentic performance task and a short-answer test or quiz. Academic prompts are open-ended written performance tests *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Academic Standards	Standards that specify what students should know and be able to do, what they might be asked to give evidence of standards, and how well they must perform. They include content, performance, and proficiency standards *(Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction—WI DPI)
Accountability	The obligation of reporting, explaining, or justifying standards, making them responsible, explicable, and answerable *(Reeves, D.)
Active Learning	Any situation in which students learn by doing rather than by sitting at their desks reading, filling out worksheets, or listening to a teacher. Active learning is based on the premise that if students are active, they will be highly motivated and will thus learn more *(Ravitch, D.)
Active Literacy	The integration of critical language skills (i.e., listening, speaking, reading, and writing) into the daily curriculum in every class *(Jacobs, H. H. and Johnson, A.)
Alignment	The process of linking content and performance standards to assessment, instruction and learning in classrooms *(Department of Defense—DOD Schools)
Alternate Assessment	IEP-based (Individual Educational Plan) assessment used in place of the WKCE at grades 4, 8 and 10 for some special needs students *(WI DPI)
Alternative Assessment	Any types of assessment in which students create a response to a question, as opposed to assessments in which students choose a response from a given list, such as multiple-choice, true/false, or matching. Alternative assessments can include short answer questions, essays, performance assessments, oral presentations, demonstrations, exhibitions and portfolios *(Michigan Curriculum Framework)
Analytic Scoring	A scoring procedure in which a student's work is evaluated for a number of selected traits or dimensions, with each dimension receiving a separate score *(WI DPI)
Anecdotal Record	A short, written report of an individual's behavior in a specific situation or circumstance *(Airasian, P.W.)

Articulation	The attempt to create a seamless transition from one part of the education system to the next—for example, from middle school to high school or from high school to university—especially with regard to the curriculum *(Ravitch, D)
Assessment	Ongoing means of monitoring students' work and progress. Results are used to inform teaching decisions *(Fletcher, R. and J. Portalupi)
Assessment FOR Learning	Assessments that we conduct throughout teaching and learning to diagnose student needs, plan our next steps in instruction, provide students with feedback they can use to improve the quality of their work, and help students see and feel in control of their journey to success. Assessments for learning happen while learning is still underway. On these occasions, the grading function is laid aside. This is not about accountability…this is about getting better *(Stiggins, R.)
Assessment OF Learning	Those assessments that happen to make statements of student learning status at a point in time to those outside the classroom, as when making student referrals or making decisions about programs *(Stiggins, R.)
Assignment	A particular task or job given to a student for a specific purpose * (Reeves, D.)
Assistive Technology (AT)	Any item, piece of equipment, or product system, whether acquired commercially off the shelf, modified, or customized, that is used to increase, maintain, or improve functional capabilities of children with disabilities *(Reed, P. and Lahm, E.)
Audience	The reader or readers of a particular piece of writing *(Fletcher, R. and Portalupi, J.).
Authentic Assessment	Assessment that both mirrors and measures student performance in "real world" task and situations
Authentic Models/Text	Text materials representative of the real world (Harris, L. & Hodges, R.)
Backward Design	A process to designing curriculum by beginning with the end in mind and designing toward that end *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Balanced Approach to Literacy Instruction	The selection of theory and strategies to match learning styles of children. Constructivist and explicit strategies are used *(Morrow, L. M.)
Benchmark	The designated points at which a student's performance can be measured on the way to becoming proficient in a standard
Best Practice	Serious, thoughtful, informed, responsible, state-of-the art teaching *(Zemelman, S., Daniels, H., and Hyde, A.)
Big Idea	In Understanding by Design, the core concepts, principles, theories, and processes that should serve as the focal point of curricula, instruction, and assessment. Big ideas are important and enduring. Big ideas are transferable beyond the scope of a particular unit *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)

Bi-Level Analysis	The examination of student work and performance data on two levels—the subject matter concepts and skills, and the requisite language capacity (e.g., linguistic patterns, three types of distinctive vocabulary, and editing and revising strategies) *(Jacobs, H. H. and Johnson, A.)
Bi-lingual	Any use of two languages (National Association for Bilingual Education)
Bloom's Taxonomy	A hierarchical listing of learning levels, from basic to challenging (knowledge, comprehension, application, analysis, synthesis, evaluation) *(Anderson, L. and Krathwohl, D.)
CABS	(Classroom Assessments Based on Standards) Classroom assessments aligned to the Milwaukee Public Schools' Learning Targets; these assessments are developed, adopted, or adapted, then administered and assessed with the purpose of providing specific, meaningful, and timely feedback designed to improve student performance *(Milwaukee Public Schools)
Checklist	A written list of performance criteria associated with a particular activity or product on which an observer marks the pupil's performance on each criterion using a scale using a scale that has only two choices *(Airasian, P.W.)
Choral Reading	Group reading aloud to develop oral fluency or to make a presentation to an audience (Harris, L. & Hodges, R.)
Classroom-Based Assessment	Ongoing assessment by the teacher of student learning during the course of instruction in the school *(WI DPI)
Code-Switching	A person's change from one language or language variety to another during spoken or written communication, as from Spanish to English in a bilingual setting, or from a formal to a casual style of speech *(WI DPI)
Cognitive Demand	The type of cognition required of the student defined in Bloom's Taxonomy of the Cognitive Domain; reflects a classification of thinking rather than a sequential hierarchy *(Washington State)
Collaborative Writing	A part of the writing block in which students work together to plan, draft, revise, and edit their written work; the students work together on a single product *(Adapted from Ravitch, D.)
Common Core State Standards	Specific research and evidence based literacy skills and understandings required for college and career readiness in history, social studies, science and English Language Arts (Council of Chief State School Officers and the National Governors Association Center for Best Practices; www.corestandards.org)
Comprehension	The reconstruction of the intended meaning of a communication; accurately understanding what is written or said (Harris, L. & Hodges, R.)
Comprehensive Literacy	A conceptual framework utilized for the development of instructional design that integrates reading,

Framework	writing, listening, speaking, language, technology, and research across all content areas to promote critical thinking and learning *(Milwaukee Public Schools)
Concept	An abstract idea that points to a larger set of understandings, (e.g., peace, democracy, culture, power, nationalism, imperialism, war, etc.) *(Reeves, D.)
Concurrent Validity Tests	Comparison of district-wide tests (involving a sample of students) with the Standards Achievement Report for those students. If the teacher-designed assessments are based on the same standards of performance as the district assessments, the results should be consistent in a high percentage of cases. Any disparities should be investigated *(Reeves, D.)
Conference	A meeting between teacher and student or between students; teacher-student conferences may be held in order to share and discuss a book, discuss an aspect of writing, provide a mini-lesson, assess progress, or a combination of these purposes. A conference may be scheduled and structured or informal and unstructured *(J.D. Cooper)
Conference	A discussion that focuses on setting goals, solving problems and/or monitoring progress (Tompkins, G.)
Consensus Map	(also called a Core Map) Agreed-upon curriculum identified by teachers and administrators that determines which elements must be consistently taught by all teachers in a course or subject, and where flexibility will be critical *(Jacobs, H. H. and Johnson, A.)
Constructed Response	Test items on which students must provide an answer (short answer, explanation of the process for determining the answer, etc.) in contrast with items (known as selected response or multiple-choice) on which students choose from among answers provided. *(ASCD)
Content	Information or essential meaning students need to know in a given standard or component of a standard in a course of study *(Reeves, D.)
Content Standards	Statements that define what students should know and be able to do in various subject areas and at different points in their education
Context	Circumstances in which a particular event occurs; background information or structure to help make sense of new information *(Reeves, D.)
Convention	An accepted practice in spoken or written language; custom or rules of behavior in a community *(WI DPI)
Cooperative Learning	Classroom activities in which students work together to achieve their individual learning goals *(WI DPI)
Core, Supplement, Intensive	The three tiers of Response to Intervention (RtI) initiative that identify struggling students quickly, promote effective classroom instruction, provide interventions and increase the likelihood that students will be successful (Mellard & Johnson in Tompkins, G.)
Craft Lesson	A mini-lesson designed to focus on one specific quality of good writing *(Fletcher, R. and Portalupi, J.)

Criteria	A collection of qualitative descriptors of what is expected in a performance *(Alverno College)
Criterion-Referenced Grading	Determining the quality of a pupil's performance by comparing it to pre-established standards of mastery *(Airasian, P.W.)
Critical Literacy	Using literacy not only to communicate but as a means of understanding and expressing the power relationships undergirding communication; using literacy to participate in and influence the power structure of one's world *(WI DPI)
Critical Thinking	The thought processes characteristic of creativity, criticism, and logic in literature, the arts, science, and other disciplines; the analytic or scientific approach to knowledge; the thought processes of analysis and commentary on literature and other arts *(WI DPI)
Curriculum	The skills, performances, attitudes, and values pupils are expected to learn from schooling; includes statements of desired pupil outcomes, descriptions of materials, and the planned sequence that will be used to teach pupils *(Airasian, P.W.)
Curriculum Map	A systemic process that can improve student performance by sharpening the alignment of all aspects of the curriculum to reduce repetitions and gaps, and strengthen the articulation of skills *(Jacobs, H. H. and Johnson, A.)
Declarative Knowledge	Factual knowledge available to be used by a learner *(WI DPI)
Deep Understanding	The comprehension of what is taught in a meaningful way. Deep understanding is the goal of instruction; it is the opposite of superficial understanding, which often comes from studying materials for a unit test and then forgetting it as soon as the test is over. Deep understanding means that the student remembers what he or she learned long after the course is concluded, although it is difficult to assess this outcome *(Ravitch, D.)
Descriptive	A composition in writing or speech that gives a verbal picture of character and event, including the setting in which they occur *(Harris, T. and Hodges)
Diary Map	A map where data are entered on an ongoing basis. Periodically, whether every few weeks or trimester, you will stop and reflect on your work with learners and make an entry *(Jacobs, H. H. and Johnson, A.)
Differentiated Instruction	Procedures for assisting students in learning, providing options, challenging students and matching resources to students to maximize their learning (Tompkins, G.)
Differentiated	Modified professional development based on the level of understanding of the learners *(Jacobs, H. H.

Professional Development	and Johnson, A.)
Differentiation	Attending to the learning needs of a particular student or small group of students rather than the more typical pattern of teaching the class as though all individuals in it were basically the same. The goal of a differentiated classroom is maximum student growth and individual success *(Tomlinson, C.)
Directions	A set of instructions that tells students what to do to complete a specific task
Discovery Education	An educational video library that is a digital video-based learning resource used to enhance lessons and projects (Discovery Education)
Disposition	(Learning) targets that reflect attitudes and feeling states, such as "I like to write." They represent important affective goals we hold for students as a byproduct of their educational experience, and as such, are not assessed for the purposes of grading *(Stiggins, R.)
District Map	In curriculum mapping, the recommended curriculum--often written in the form of standards and benchmarks. District maps include content, skills, and assessments *(Adapted from Hayes Jacobs, H.)
DPI	Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction
Drafting	Putting ideas into writing, often revised and edited in successive stages of the writing process before being presented in a final or published form *(WI DPI)
Echo Reading	The teacher or other reader reads a sentence and a group of students reread or "echo" what was read (Tompkins, G.)
Edit	To prepare materials for publication or presentation *(Harris, T. and Hodges, J.)
Enduring Understanding	The specific inferences, important ideas, or core processes that are central to a discipline and transferable to new situations; enduring understandings have lasting value beyond the classroom *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Engaging Scenario	The "hook" in a performance assessment designed to attract and hold student interest that sets the context for the set of tasks *(Reeves, D.)
Entry Question	A simple, thought-provoking question that opens a lesson or unit. It often introduces a key idea or understanding in an accessible way. Effective entry questions spur discussion about a common experience, provocative issue, or perplexing problems, as a lead-in to the unit and essential questions *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
ESL/ELL (consistent usage)	ESL = English as a Second Language; ELL = English Language Learner
Essay	A relatively brief literary composition usually in prose, giving the author's views on a particular topic *(Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)

Essential Question	A question that lies at the heart of a subject or a curriculum (as opposed to being either trivial or leading), and promotes inquiry and uncoverage of a subject. Essential questions thus do not yield a single straightforward answer (as a leading question does) but produce different plausible responses, about which thoughtful and knowledgeable people may disagree *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Evaluation	Making judgments about the quality of student achievement over a period of time, primarily for the purpose of communicating about student achievement *(O'Connor, K.)
Exemplar	Typical or representative; worthy of being imitated; term used to represent proficient student work *(Adapted from Reeves, D.)
Exhibitions	Demanding projects designed and conducted by high school seniors in schools that are members of the Coalition of Essential Schools. Theodore Sizer, founder of the coalition, proposed the notion of exhibitions in his book Horace's Compromise. Noting that students in 19th century New England secondary schools were expected to present evidence of their learning as a requirement for graduation, he suggested that a similar procedure could make modern high school education more meaningful *(ASCD)
Explicit Instruction	The teacher names the strategy, tells how to use the strategy, models using the strategy, provides examples of when to use the strategy and when to make adjustments to the strategy for different tasks and indicates the usefulness of the strategy (National Institute for Literacy)
Expository	Writing in which the writer's primary purpose is to explain or analyze (*Adapted from Cooper, J.D.)
External Literacy Review	A December 2008 report that shared the findings of a review of MPS literacy program that was completed by outside, independent literacy experts.
Externality	Achievement of distance from classroom learning experiences by various degrees *(Alverno College)
Facet of Understanding	A way in which a person's understanding manifests itself. Understanding by Design identifies six kinds of understanding: self-knowledge, empathy, application, perspective, interpretation, and explanation *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Feedback	Information provided by a teacher, peer or other on a person's performance in relationship to criteria, with the purpose of improving future performance *(Alverno College)
Feedforward	To employ effective feedback to improve the teaching and learning process; feedback is not valuable until the learner uses it to improve the next performance, and the teacher uses it to guide future instructional decisions *(Adapted from Davies, A.)
Fluency	Reading smooth, quickly and with expression (Tompkins, G.)
Formative Assessment	Assessment for the purpose of learning

Genre	A particular type or category of writing. The variety of genres students in the Milwaukee Public Schools write to include: descriptive, narrative, expository, and persuasive; teachers should also include research writing, creative writing, business or work-world writing *(Adapted from Fletcher, R. and Portalupi, J.)
Grammar	A linguistic description of some language—a set of statements saying how a language works *(Langacker, R. in Harris, T. and Hodges R.)
Graphic Organizer	Diagrams that provide organized visual representations of information (Tompkins, G.)
GRASPS	In Understanding by Design, GRASPS are performance tasks found in Stage II. GRASPS is an acronym that stands for Goal, Role, Audience, Situation, Performance or Product, and Standards for Success. They are meant to be authentic, engaging experiences aligned to Stage I. (Identified Learning Goals) *(Adapted from G. Wiggins and J. McTighe).
Guided Practice	The part of a mini lesson in which students continue to use a strategy with teacher guidance, but without modeling *(Cooper, J.D.)
Guided Writing	A part of the writing block in which the teacher encourages students to write, to revise, and to think about how to improve their writing by walking them step-by-step through the requirements of the writing process; students write their own products; teacher prompts and guides *(Adapted from Ravitch, D.)
Holistic Scoring	In writing assessment, assigning a single general-impression score to writing samples based on the overall presentation and content rather than on an accumulation of points. Holistic scoring is criterion-referenced, using rubrics and a set of anchor papers selected from the entire population sample to represent the range of performance levels in the rubric *(WI DPI)
Independent Writing	A part of the daily writing block designed to provide students with needed practice time to become proficient writers; independent writing time establishes the habit of writing on a daily basis *(Adapted from Cooper, J.D.)
Information Literacy	The ability to access, evaluate and use information from a variety of sources *(WI DPI)
Instruction	Classroom techniques and strategies of teachers, both planned and spontaneous, which foster student learning *(WI DPI)
Instructional Reading Level	The level of reading material that a student can read with teacher support and instruction with 90-94% accuracy (Tompkins, G.)
Integrated Curriculum	A curricular organization intended to bring into close relationship the concepts, skills, and values of separately taught subjects to make them mutually reinforcing *(Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)
Interactive Writing	A writing technique in which the student writer works with another party—a teacher or facilitator, one or more classmates, or a computer program—to produce a piece of writing. The writing process generally proceeds according to some predetermined sequence of actions in which parts of the writing are provided by the prompter and other parts are provide, in response, by the student. For example, the teacher might generate the first line of a couplet, prompting the student to generate one *(Ravitch, D.)

Interdisciplinary   Involving the integration or joining together of two or more branches of learning, i.e., history and English; science and art; math, music and physical education, etc. *(Reeves, D.)

Interest Inventory   A series of statements to which students respond orally or in writing; meant to reveal a student's interests and or/attitudes *(Cooper, J.D.)

Inter-Rater Reliability   A term used to describe the relationship of the scores (ratings) between and among two or more judges (raters). This can be computed in a variety of ways from simple correlations to percentage of agreement. The larger numbers indicate a greater degree of agreement *(Reeves, D.)

Intervention

Iterative   Requiring continual revisiting of earlier work; an iterative approach is thus the opposite of linear or step-by-step processes *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)

Journals   Places where students record personal reflections *(Adapted from Cooper, J.D.)

Language!   Replacement curriculum for qualifying students with disabilities who are not proficient in reading (MPS Special Education)

Learning Centers   Spaces in the classroom filled with materials for independent student activity focusing on current topics of study within content areas and including literacy materials as well *(Morrow, L.M.)

Learning Logs   Daily records of what a student has learned; does not include a response. Logs can be focused on a particular area of learning *(Cooper, J.D.)

Learning Targets   Standards-based, grade-specific statements of what students should know and be able to do in various content areas *(Milwaukee Public Schools)

Learning Team   A team comprised of individuals at the school community who are selected and prepared to collect and interpret data to inform the school's educational plan, provide support to teachers, enable professional development embedded at the school site for all school personnel, and help create positive conditions in the school context for teachers' and students' learning *(Milwaukee Public Schools)

Lessons   Organized instructional plans aligned to assessment targets. The concept of backward design suggests that you start your design work with the assessment targets and tasks fully described. Once that is accomplished, you design our lessons so that students area fully instructed around that content and skills that will be called for in those assessments. It is a reverse of the model that asks for lesson plans and then later for assessment designs. "Backward design" provides a clear lens for examining your instructional time to make certain that it is purposeful toward benchmarks and standards *(Jacobs, H. H. and Johnson, A.)

Literacy Coach A highly trained, school-based teacher who engages colleagues in collaborative problem solving and inquiry-oriented conversations in order to change instructional practices that improve student achievement *(Lyons, C. and Pinnell, G.)

Literacy Readiness Preparedness to cope with the literacy learning task (Harris, T. & Hodges, R.)

Literacy Specialist A highly trained district support teacher who provides training and models coaching strategies for literacy coaches *(Milwaukee Public Schools)

Media Literacy Basic awareness and understanding of the ways in which the mass communication forms are used in society or culture; ability to apply critical thinking skills to the task of analyzing the appeals made to the mass audience by various forms of communication *(WI DPI)

Mentor Text A selection of writing chosen to act as a coach of purposeful technique in the elements of writers' craft; mentor texts help students and teachers continually reinvent themselves as writers *(Adapted from Dorfman, L.R. and Cappelli, R.)

Metacognition The ability to be conscious of and, to some degree, control over one's own thinking. Educators have come to use the prefix "meta" to refer to the application of a process to the process itself. (For example, meta-analysis is analysis of a large number of research studies on a particular topic.) In this case, cognition is thinking, so metacognition means thinking about one's own thinking. You are using metacognition when you can track your progress is solving a multi-step problem or when you realize that you have been looking at a page in a book without following the meaning and backtrack until you find the place where your mind began to wander *(ASCD)

Mini lesson A short, focused lesson, often at the beginning of the workshop [writing block] designed to address an issue or relevant to the community of writers in the classroom *(Fletcher, R. and Portalupi, J)

Model An assessment model using a variety of assessment methods and processes to determine student progress toward reaching predetermined outcomes *(Stiggins, R.)

Modeled Writing A mode of writing where the teacher writes and verbalizes thinking aloud; students read and listen. Also called write aloud *(Adapted from Cooper, J.D.)

Modeling Teaching methods and resources that serve as an example for imitation and comparison *(Reeves, D.)

Modes of Writing Different ways that writing can take place, moving from teacher-directed writing to student independence. Usually there are five modes of writing: write aloud/modeled writing, collaborative/interactive writing, shared writing, guided writing, and independent writing *(Adapted from Cooper, J.D.)

Multiple Measures	Assessment that measures student performance in a variety of ways. Multiple measures may include standardized tests, teacher observations, classroom performance assessments, and portfolios *(WI DPI)
Narrative	The mode of discourse that tells a story or creates a chronological account, actual or fictional, either orally or in writing *(WI DPI)
Needs Assessment	A broad-based appraisal of objectives and conditions in a particular situation as they interrelate; an attempt to relate goals to existing strengths, weaknesses, and feasible changes *(Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)
Non-negotiables	The core elements that must be taught in the curriculum *(Jacobs, H. H. and Johnson, A.)
Observation	Looking at student performance of literacy tasks in order to note achievement and draw inferences on which to base instruction *(Cooper, J.D.)
On-Demand Assessment	Measurement of learning, the timing of which is determined by the teacher, administrator, district, or state rather than as an ongoing component of the instructional process *(WI DPI)
Open-Ended	Question or task with no single "right" answer. Allows responses from multiple perspectives, understandings, and experiences *(Reeves, D.)
Outcome	Describes what a student will be able to do with what she knows in personal, professional, and/or academic contexts as a result of a set of learning experiences *(Alverno College)
Pedagogy	The art, science, or profession of teaching; instructional strategies and activities *(WI DPI)
Peer Conference	Conference between two students having to do with reading or writing *(Cooper, J.D.)
Performance Assessment	Direct, systematic observation of an actual student performance or examples of student performances and rating of that performance according to pre-established performance criteria
Performance Standards	Explicit definitions and concrete examples of how well students are expected to learn the material represented by content standards
Performance Task	An authentic, meaningful task that requires the students to synthesize knowledge and skills learned apply them to construct a response, create a product and/or performance that demonstrates understanding *(DOD Schools)
Personal Narrative	A story told from first-person perspective. Usually true *(Fletcher, R. and Portalupi, J.)
Persuasive	The goal of persuasive writing is to convince readers to accept a debatable, or even controversial, position *(L. Kirszer, and S. Mandell)
Phonemic Awareness	The ability to manipulate the sounds in words orally (Tompkins, G.)

Phonics/Alphabetic Principle	Sound-symbol relationships (Harris, T. & Hodges, R.)
Picture Writing	A stage in writing development; the child draws a picture to tell a story *(Cooper, J.D.)
Planning	Another term for "selecting the topic," this is the first step in process writing; during this step students decide what they want to write about *(Cooper, J.D.)
Portfolio	A well-defined, purposeful collection of pupil products or performances that shows pupil achievement of particular skills over time *(Adapted from Airasian, P.W.)
Prerequisite Knowledge and Skill	The knowledge and skill required to successfully perform a culminating performance task or achieve a targeted understanding *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Prewriting	The early and creative expressive stages of writing, prior to drafting, in which the writer questions, explores, and formulates ideas, gathers information, and considers organizational matters; planning *(WI DPI)
Process Interview	In literacy, a series of questions designed to elicit how a student thinks about reading or writing; used to plan future teacher support *(Cooper, J.D.)
Process Writing	A writing instruction model that views writing as an ongoing process and in which students follow a given set of procedures for planning, drafting, revising, editing, and publishing their writing *(Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)
Product	The tangible and stable result of a performance and the processes that led to it *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Professional Learning Community (PLC)	An organization whose membership strives to embody the following characteristics; a shared mission, vision, and values; collective inquiry; collaborative teams; action orientation and experimentation; continuous improvement; and results orientation *(Adapted from DuFour, R. and Eaker, R.)
Proficiency Standards	Standards that describe the quality of student work in relation to a content standard (i.e. minimal, basic, proficient or advanced) *(CESA #1)
Proficiency-Based Learning	A learning model in which student achievement is measured in relation to specific standards and outcomes *(CESA #1)
Proficient	The level of performance students must meet to demonstrate competency in a particular standard or set of standards *(Reeves, R.)
Projected Map	A map that has been created prior to teaching a course or subject and then revised on an ongoing basis as the school year progresses *(Jacobs, H. H. and Johnson, A.)
Prompt	An assignment that directs students to generate a particular kind of writing (usually Expository,

	Narrative, Expository, and/or Persuasive) *(Fletcher, R. and Portalupi, J
Quick Write	A strategy for activating prior knowledge by writing for three to five minutes about a topic *(Cooper, J.D.)
Recursive Processes	Characterized by moving back and forth through a document in either reading or creating it, as new ideas are developed or problems encountered. In creating a written composition, moving back and forth among the prewriting, drafting, revising, and editing phases of writing *(WI DPI)
Reflection	The process of thinking about one's practice and experiences, whether by internal musing, dialogue, or expressive writing, as in a journal *(WI DPI)
Reliability	The extent to which an assessment consistently assesses whatever it is assessing; if an assessment is reliable, it will yield the same or nearly the same information on reassessment *(Airasian, P.W.)
Resultant Knowledge and Skill	Knowledge and skill that are meant to result from a unit of study. In addition to the targeted understanding, teachers identify other desired outcomes (for example, "skill in listening") *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Revising	The third part of process writing, during which students examine their work in terms of such things as ideas, organization, word choice, (sentence) flow, and voice and make changes to improve each of these *(Cooper, J.D.)
RTI	Response to Intervention; the three tiers of Response to Intervention (RtI) initiative that identify struggling students quickly, promote effective classroom instruction, provide interventions and increase the likelihood that students will be successful (Mellard & Johnson in Tompkins, G.)
Rubric	An established set of criteria for scoring or rating students' performance on tests, portfolios, writing samples, or other performance tasks
Scaffolding	Instructional strategy used to offer students a system of support (e.g., a vocabulary list of definitions, a visual example showing how to design a word web, the use of both visual and verbal directions, etc.) for achieving competence in the learning task *(Reeves, D.)
SCANS (Secretary's Commission on Achieving Necessary Skills) Report	A report issued in 1991 by the Department of Labor identifying the knowledge, skills, and abilities that future workers would need to succeed in entry-level jobs. Competencies listed in the SCANS report included basic skills (reading, writing, mathematics, listening, and speaking), thinking skills (creative thinking, decision making, problem solving, visualizing symbols, reasoning, and knowing how to learn), and personal qualities (responsibility, self-esteem, sociability, self-management, and integrity). The SCANS 2000 Center at Johns Hopkins University continues to promote the teaching of these skills in elementary, middle, and secondary schools *(ASCD)
Scenario	An outline or dramatic plot or situation *(Reeves, D.)

Scribble Writing	A stage in literacy development; the child makes scribble marks on paper that are clearly attempts at writing and not a picture *(Cooper, J.D.)
Seed Idea	The main idea or theme in a piece of written work produced by a student. The pedagogical concept is part of the writing process and of the writing workshop model *(Ravitch, D.)
Selected Response	Preferred by some testing specialists over the more common term "multiple choice" because it is more specific and contrasts with "constructed response," meaning items that require the student to provide an answer *(ASCD)
Self-Assessment	The process of doing a systematic review of one's own performance, usually for the purpose of improving future performance
Semantics	The study of the meaning of language, generally by analysis of the literal and implied meanings of words, phrases, sentence, and whole texts *(WI DPI)
SEN/EEN/SWD	SEN = Special Education Needs/ EEN = Exceptional Education Needs/ SWD = Student With a Disability
Sentence Combining	A teaching technique designed to improve writing skills by means of manipulating basic sentences to build more complex sentences and paragraphs. Sentence combining is often used to replace the traditional diagramming or parsing of sentences, shown by research to be ineffective for improving writing *(WI DPI)
Shared Writing	A part of the writing block in which the class writes together, working with the teacher; shared writing is used to assist students when they need a large amount of support in their writing before they try the technique on their own *(Adapted from Cooper, J.D.)
Six Trait Writing	A research-based writing model that assesses student performance in each of the six main components (traits) of writing. Through the use of the Six Trait Model, teachers are able to assess specific strengths and weaknesses in students' writing, and plan instruction accordingly. Students are provided effective feedback that allows them to improve their writing by using purposeful revision and editing strategies. The six components of the model are: ideas, organization, voice, word choice, sentence fluency and variety, and conventions *(Adapted from Spandel, V.)
Sizing-up Assessments	Assessments used by teachers in the first weeks of school to get to know pupils so that they can be organized into a classroom society with rules, communication and control *(Airasian, P.W.)
Small Group Instruction	Students are organized in small groups based upon instructional goals rather than only on placement along a continuum of text levels. Participation in small group is flexible and determined by level of student need. *(Adapted from Honig, Diamond and Gutlohn)
Specifications for Learning Targets	Detailed information that describes what students are expected to know and do to achieve a Learning Target including the range of concepts, ideas, and skills; the size or quantity of number, words and elements; specification are the "teachable components" of the Learning Targets *(Milwaukee Public Schools)

Spiral Curriculum	A curriculum designed to present important concepts, skills, topics, etc., for additional, more complex study at successive levels of student maturity *(Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)
Standard	Defines the level of skill students must demonstrate on the learning outcome
Standard American English	That variety of American English in which most educational texts, government, and media publications are written in the United States *(Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)
Standardized Tests	Assessments that are administered and assessed in exactly the same ways for all students. Traditional standardized tests are typically mass-produced and machine-assessed and are designed to measure skills and knowledge that are thought to be taught to all students in a fairly standardized way. Performance assessments can also be standardized if they are administered and assessed in the same way for all students. Standardization is an important consideration if comparisons are to be made between scores of different individuals or groups *(Michigan Curriculum Framework)
Standards Achievement Report (SAR)	One type of scoring guide designed to replace the traditional report card, consisting of the rubric (e.g., for English Language Arts, "read and recognize literature as an expression of human experience"), a description of the Performance Standard (e.g., 4=exemplary, 3=proficient, 2=progressing, 1= not meeting the standards), teacher and parent comments and a plan for meeting the standard *(Reeves, D.)
Story Frame	A basic outline for a story with key information omitted; the student fills in the empty slots. A frame may focus on a particular story element or on the while story *(Cooper, J.D.)
Strategy	A practiced but flexible way of responding to recognizable contexts, situations, or demands. Because no single study technique or writing process is best for all students, effective teachers design tasks to help every student to acquire a range of strategies and to learn how to choose and apply those that best fit their needs and the literacy situation at hand *(WI DPI)
Students Share
Study Techniques	Techniques taught to students to help them study, think about, and remember information; common techniques are underlining, note taking, outlining, and using mapping or graphic organizers *(Cooper, J.D.)
Summary	Based on something read, an oral or written statement of key story elements, theme or main ideas *(Cooper, J.D.)
Summative Evaluation	The final evaluation, usually quantitative in practice, of the degree to which the goals and objectives of a program have been attained *(Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)

Syntax	The study of sentence formation; the pattern of word order in sentences, phrases, and clauses *(WI DPI)
Teacher Self-Assessment	The process of making decisions about one's own teaching performance based on evidence and reflection *(Airasian, P.W.)
Test	A formal, systemic procedure for obtaining a sample of pupils' behavior; the results of a test are used to make generalizations about how pupils would perform on similar but untested behaviors *(Airasian, P.W)
Theme	The major focus of a unit that crosses curricular areas; usually a concept or understanding and may involve more than one topic *(J.D. Cooper)
Think Aloud	A kind of explicit modeling in which the teacher shares his or her own thinking processes when performing a task *(J.D. Cooper)
Transferability	The ability to use knowledge appropriately and fruitfully in a new or different context from that in which it was initially learned *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Transitions
Uncoverage	A teaching approach that is required for all matters of understanding. To "uncover" a subject is to do the opposite of "covering" it, namely to go into depth *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Understanding	An insight into ideas, people, situations, and processes manifested in various appropriate performances. To understand is to be able to make sense of what one knows, to be able to know why it's so, and to have the ability to use it in various situations and contexts *(Wiggins, G. and McTighe, J.)
Usage	The linguistic forms and expressions considered to be correct by a discourse community *(WI DPI)
Validity	A reflection of the intended measure. Validity means that we are assessing what we think we are assessing *(Adapted from Reeves, D.)
WKCE-CRT	Wisconsin Knowledge and Concepts Examination Criterion-Referenced Test *(WI DPI)
Workplace Literacy	Literacy that "focuses attention on individuals in relation to the societal and economic concerns of a nation" *(Newman & Beverstock in Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)
Writers' Notebook	A blank book used specifically to think about developing one's skills as a writer. A writer's notebook is typically used to collect ideas for writing and about writing and to experiment with writing techniques in a risk-free manner; a writer's notebook has two sections: a expressive journal and area to record notes on writers' craft *(Adapted from Fletcher, R. and Portalupi, J)
Writers' Workshop	A curricular unit of school time during which students plan, draft, revise, edit, and collect their written work, often involving peer collaboration and teacher conferences *(WI DPI)

Writing Acquisition	Natural, developmental progression in writing to communicate, starting with the young child's use of scribbles and drawings and developing as the student gains control of the processes and products of writing *(WI DPI)
Writing Center	A classroom area designed to provide students with a comfortable setting with appropriate tools for writing, illustrating, editing, and sharing written communication *(WI DPI)
Writing Circles	Small groups of students [who] meet regularly to share drafts [of writing], choose common writing topics, practice positive response, and, in general, help each other become better writers *(Vopat, 2009)
Writing Strategies	Techniques that help students plan, write, revise and edit their compositions *(Ravitch, D.)
Writing to Learn	Using writing as a means of exploring, clarifying, and expressing knowledge and concepts as students read, view, and listen; writing across the curriculum *(WI DPI)
WSAS	Wisconsin Student Assessment System *(WI DPI)
Zone of Proximal Development	The distance between a child's actual development level as determined through independent problem solving and (his or her) potential development (level) as determined through problem solving under adult guidance or a collaboration with more capable peers *(Vygotsky, L. in Harris, T. and Hodges, R.)
